An Eye 100 Feet Wide.
Foolish, FOOLISH Russia.
No More Family?

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THERE IS GOOD news, bad news, dull news, criminal news. The best news tells of improving conditions in many directions. The price of wheat going up, the South is encouraged by good crops, better demand for cotton and tobacco, better prices for oil in the West, accompanied by street celebrations; pronounced industrial upturn in New England.

Wheat went up, came down. Now it is the turn of that which came down to go up again.

THE OBSERVATORY at Mount Wilson will have a telescope with an eye or lens 200 inches wide. Twice as big as any other telescope, this wonderful cosmic eye will carry man's sight into space three times as far as it has ever gone before, revealing new nebulae, new marvels, hundreds of millions of "light years" away.

The eye of man, not the telescope, SEES. The telescope only supplies to the human eye a wider pupil. The pupil of your eye, not much bigger than the head of a black pin, is NINE FEET WIDE when you look into that new telescope, and, being wider, absorbs more light and penetrates space to a greater depth.

THINK OF AN EYE with a pupil nine feet wide. The eye itself would be 100 feet in width, requiring a face as big as the faces of angels that Mohammed saw in Paradise. And such an eye science gives to feeble man, feeble physically but not feeble mentally.

THE OTHER DAY the Russian government owed $6,000,000 to American business men. What do you suppose those Bolsheviks did? They actually paid the money, paid it in genuine American dollars.

Russia has learned nothing from her neighbors in Europe, not even learned that the correct procedure, when you owe money to the United States, is to send a commission, instead of cash, propose a moratorium, or at least "freeze" your debts.

How can Russia hope to succeed if she cannot adopt businesslike methods?

SOLEMN GENTLEMEN, including the really learned Bertrand Russell, discuss "abolition of the family, and rearing children by the state."

Russell thinks such a plan would give greater freedom and prevent emotional strain.

He should look on the inside of an incubator when the first egg is hatched "by the state" and watch the little chicken as it emerges and wanders, disconsolate, over the vast expanse of white shells.

WHAT WOULD that chicken give for a real mother to cluck, and spread her warm feathers?

How miserable would children be without the mother and father, the mother especially, to give affection that no "state rearing" could ever give.

Drummond in his "Ascent of Man," says civilization began when the first gorilla sat up all night, club in hand, at the foot of a tree, to protect the baby gorilla in the nest above.

Such civilization as we have is the work of children, influencing the father through the mother.

If Bertrand Russell's idea were carried out, and his own children taken to some institution for rearing, he would go the next day to get them out, because he is a man, not a machine.

DID YOU BUY any power stocks during the "Alice in Wonderland" boom period that died suddenly in October, 1929? If you bought stocks, did they drop, even as Lucifer dropped from his celestial abode?

Did you get any part of the company that put out SIXTY THREE MILLION SHARES OF STOCK FOR THE LAMBS TO DIGEST?

It will interest you to read three lines of what Gov. Pinchot wrote for The Nation.

"CAROLINA LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY: book value, $23,810,500.00; actual investment, $4,710,021.77."

A NEW YORK policeman, Howard L. Petersen, was kicked to death by half a dozen gangsters Sunday night. His comrades say Petersen, dealing with gangsters, especially those that insulted women, used his nightstick in the belief that when taken to court they escape too easily.

The gangsters got him as he was about to make an arrest, kicked in his skull and broke most of his ribs.

This will prove an unwise revenge for the gangsters, since it will impel other policemen to adopt Petersen's "nightstick" methods.

Our civilization, justice and politics reach an interesting stage when a policeman decides that he must punish gangsters with a club because the courts won't do it.

AS THIS IS written, looking out on the East River in New York, the giant Akron is sailing high above the old Brooklyn Bridge, with the Los Angeles sailing behind like a dejected, deposed empress of the air, small as a young calf beside its mother.

Small airplanes are flying around the giant dirigible, upon which the sun shines brightly. It is some satisfaction to know that we have the BIGGEST AIRSHIP in the world, even though we have a comparatively insignificant air force.

OUR BEST MINDS agree that Russia can't do any thing well, certainly can never become an

EXPERTS HAIL WHEAT RALLY

International News Service.

The attention of the world's economists was centered today upon the rise in wheat prices, which may prove the harbinger of prosperity's return in the United States.

Generally, wheat was again higher today on North American markets. Profit-taking was responsible for slight drops at some centers.

At Minneapolis, in a cash transaction, one carload of amber durum wheat was purchased by the Pillsbury company for $1 a bushel.

Farm Board officials, veteran traders and experi observers were agreed that the higher wheat levels were justified by the foreign situation, reduction in sur-

Connie and Marquis May Wed December 1

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Hollywood today was interested in an unverified report that Constance Bennett, screen star, would be "married in Arizona about December 1" to the Marquis de la Falaise, whose final divorce decree from Gloria Swanson will be granted in Paris within the next two weeks.

Employes Flee Fire In Downtown Store

Ten employes of the Joseph Woodwell Company, Wood street and Boulevard of the Allies, were forced from the building when fire was discovered at the base of an elevator shaft this morning. Firemen extinguished the flames and estimated the damage at $50. Traffic was tied up for 20 minutes.

Tom Moore, Veteran Star, Weds Actress

TIJUANA, Mexico, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Tom Moore, veteran motion picture star, and Eleanor Merry, film actress, were married here October 27, it was disclosed today. They went to Laguna Beach, Cal., film and artists' colony, for a honeymoon.

MAN KILLED, BABY SAVED IN BLASTS

Washington, Pa., Store Razed By Explosion; Mother Hurls Rankin Child to Safety

One man was burned to death and three others injured, one seriously, in two mysterious explosions—one in Washington, Pa., and the other in Rankin—last night and early today.

The blast in a store at Washington, the third in Western Pennsylvania within 24 hours and which resulted fatally to James Spragg, 27, was attributed by County Detective Chief William Dinsmore, of Washington, to a revenge plot.

Five empty five-gallon cans which had contained gasoline were found in the ruins, according to Chief Dinsmore.

RESCUES BABY

County detectives were investigating the cause of the explosion and fire which destroyed one house and damaged two others in Rankin a few hours earlier.

Escape cut off when flames enveloped the stairway of their home at 38 Chartiers avenue, Rankin, adjoining the blast-wrecked house.

MOTHER KILLS 3 CHILDREN, SELF

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Anna Nathan, 21, shot and killed her three small children and then committed suicide in the kitchen of her home today. Police said she was despondent over inability of her husband to find employment.

The children were Charles, Jr., 5; Herbert, 4, and Eva, 2. Their father had left home two hours before the shooting to continue his search for work.

To make certain of theier deaths, Mrs. Nathan had stuffed cloths and papers in the cracks of windows and doors and turned on the gas in the range. The house was filled with gas when a policeman broke in the front door. He had been summoned by a neighbor who heard the shots.

One bullet had been fired into the head of each child at close range.

About two hours after the shooting Nathan, ignorant of the tragedy, appeared with a package of food under his arm and was startled when he saw a crowd in front of his home.

Edison Daughter Not to Fight Will

NORWALK, Conn., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Marion Oser said today she will not join her brother, William L. 7Edison, in contesting the will of their father, Thomas A. Edison. Mrs. Oser said:

"I think the will is very, very unjust, but I will not fight it. The fight probably would run for years, and I do not think I could stand."

DENIES RULE FAVORS NAN

U. S. Judge Meets Reporters, Issues Statement to Clear Stand in $50,000 Suit

International News Service.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 3.—Aroused over the publication of newspaper stories interpreting the status of the trial of Nan Britton's $50,000 libel suit against C. A. Klunk, of Marion, O., Judge John M. Killits adjourned court today and held a lengthy conference with newspaper reporters.

The session with the newspapermen, which began shortly after 9 o'clock, came to an end at noon, at which time Judge Killits released a statement for publication denying the published story. He said in part:

"The court at no time in any ruling or comment it has made has said that the case had established a situation in which there was nothing left for the plaintiff to show under the right to recover damages except proof to the extent of the publication to affect the quantity of damages to be awarded, and nothing the court said justified the conclusion that a verdict was framed in the court's mind against the defendant.

COMMENTS QUALIFIED

"Comments of the court on that proposition were qualified as to the position the case was in before any defense was heard and the comments, but partially reported, were offered to advise counsel of what was necessary to be shown by way of defense if available.

"Our complaint of the publication as carried in certain newspapers rests, therefore, upon the fact that the court's position was not only not made clear, but was misstated in this particular; also because the court took pains to make known that the hotel deposition referred to in previous publications which itself carried no weight whatever, was to be met by combatting evidence on behalf of the defense.

NO VERDICT HINT

"All of the court's ruling was a comment on the situation when the plaintiff rested and what might have been the result had the defense introduced no testimony. It did not rise to the dignity of even an informal verdict in the controversy.

"The court did not say it was libelous per se to impute to the plaintiff the crime of criminal libel and that the book known as 'The President's Daughter' was not criminally libelous for the only reason that it was published of a dead person."

The jury hearing the damage suit was excused until afternoon when the trial was expected to continue in secret, with press representatives and spectators barred.

Anna Q. Nilsson Plans Comeback

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Fully recovered from injuries that interrupted her screen career four years ago, Anna Q. Nilsson, Swedish actress, will make several film tests within the next 10 days in an effort to make a "comeback in pictures."

Miss Nilsson suffered a broken hip when she fell from a horse, and for several weeks was near death.

STATE POLICEMEN LEAVING COURTHOUSE TO PATROL THE POLLS THROUGHOUT COUNTY

RAM RUM SHIP, RESCUE CREW

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—The Sophie E an 80-foot power boat of British registry out of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, was rammed and sunk by the Coast Guard patrol boat Harriet Lane, 20 miles east of Gloucester last night. The power boat's crew of nine men were taken aboard the Harriet Lane and brought here today.

Coast Guard officials said that the Sophie E, long suspected by them of being a rum runner, had been picketed by the Harriet Lane for four hours before the collision and that she was running without lights. The power boat sank three hours after it was rammed.

A Coast Guard court of inquiry convened here to receive information in the case. The British consul at Boston engaged counsel to represent Capt. James Bellman who, with his crew, were regarded as distressed seamen by the immigration authorities.

London 'Deb' Nears New Plane Record

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Flying over some of the wildest and most desolate country in the world, Miss Peggy Salaman, 19-year-old London debutante, was making good progress today in her attempt to establish a new flight record between England and Cape Town.

A Nairobi dispatch to the Central News said that Miss Salaman reached Entebbe, on Lake Victoria, at 6:45 a. m., ate a hurried breakfast, refueled her small plane and took off for Tabora, Tanganyika. She left Tympne, England, Friday, and was believed to be well within her schedule today.

Ellen Terry's Son Scores Bernard Shaw

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Because he published his romantic correspondence with Ellen Terry, George Bernard Shaw was likened today to a "poke-nosed old woman" by Gordon Craig, son of the famous actress.

Craig used the epithet in a book called "Ellen Terry and Her Secret Self." He said Shaw was "no gentleman," and declared that he published the Terry letters in order to have a "post-mortem kick at Sir Henry Irving, of whom he was jealous."

Kline and Coyne Lose Battle to Revoke Vote Ban

Efforts of the Kline-Coyne organization to have restored 11,600 names stricken off the registration lists failed in court today when a blanket order reinstating the names was refused.

Judges Elder W. Marshall, Frank P. Patterson and H. H. Rowand ruled, however, that individual applications for reinstatement would be heard.

Five had been reinstated two hours after the decision, with prospect that several hundred would appear late today.

Judge Marshall, after the hearing was concluded, announced:

"We are not going to make any blanket order. We are, however, preparing an order for individual hearings."

SCORES DECISION

Attorney B. Robert Averbach, sheriff's solicitor, representing the Kline organization, declared:

"You want nearly 12,000 voters to come in here and find

Guards Rush to Foil Rum-for-Vote Trade

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Deputies were sent to the mining town of Powhatan, 25 miles south of here today, to prevent disorders at the village election polls.

Sheriff Haward Duff, of Belmont County, ordered the deputies to the village when reports were received that moonshine liquor would be passed out to voters for votes, it was said.

Be Sure to Vote Today

Polls open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m.

For the office of County Commissioner you can vote for only two candidates.

You can vote only for seven candidates for Common Pleas Court.

You can vote for four candidates for County Court.

City voters can vote for four members of Council.

LACK OF BOXES DELAYS VOTING

Shortly before the polls opened this morning, the Sheriff's office was flooded with calls from election boards, which reported that ballot boxes confiscated during court actions had not been returned.

Chief Deputy Sheriff B. V. Coffey turned the calls over to the County Commissioners' office, where it was said that boxes were being rushed into the districts as rapidly as reports were received. The absence of ballot boxes temporarily held up the voting in some districts.

American Divorcee To Marry Count

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Helen, duchess of Croy, has formally announced her engagement to Count Anthony de Bosdari, of Italy. They will be married in the spring.

The duchess is the former Miss Helen Lewis, of Albany, daughter of Mrs. Lindsay Lewis, now in Europe, and the late Thompson H. Lewis. Count de Bosdari, a son of the late Count Anthony de Bosdari, of Italy, is a second cousin of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

Earth Shocks Rock California Towns

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 3.—(INS.)—A slight earth shock rocked Maywood, a suburb of Los Angeles, at 8:08 a. m. today, police reported.

Small houses were shaken and dishes were rattled, but there was no damage.

At Huntington Park the quake was sufficiently strong to rattle the windows and shake the City Hall and smaller buildings. Downey, Compton and Bell also noticed the shock.

TROOPERS ON GUARD FOR FRAUD

McKees Rocks Chief Faces Arrest After Battle; Heavy Voting Reported

Chief of Police Edward Kieder, of McKees Rocks, was ordered arrested on a charge of violating the election laws today while an army of Allegheny County voters marched to the polls, guarded by state police to prevent fraud.

A warrant for Reider's arrest was issued by Justice of the Peace William Thompson, of Bellevue, from the Independent party headquarters, Fourth avenue. Independents charged that Reider had thrown out of a polling place in the First Ward, McKees Rocks, Frank Demel, an overseer on duty. A constable was detailed to arrest Reider.

HEAVY VOTING

Heavy voting was reported from virtually all city wards, the Registration Board announced.

At the Independent headquarters, reports were received that the vote cast in Mt. Lebanon and Wilkinsburg was heavier than at the primaries. In Dormont it was about the same. An outpouring of voters in the North Boroughs, strong Independent territory, was reported.

With party lines in a snarl and the Republican city and county machines battling with their backs to the walls, today's general election promised to be as bitterly contested as was the primary six weeks ago, when an aroused citizenry toppled gang rule into the dust and voted County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, stormy petrel Independent, one of the Republican candidates for re-election.

ARMY OF WATCHERS

The Independents' elaborate preparations to prevent the repetition of primary fraud included a small army of investigators and watchers scattered through the county, with particular precautions taken at polling places of districts where thievery and irregularity were most noticeable in September.

Thirty state police from the Greensburg and Butler barracks, commanded by Capt. Albert Carlson, of Troop A, were on duty

Ex-Kaiser Drops Ax For Electric Saw

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—William Hohenzollern, long the "imperial woodchopper of Doorn," has dropped his ax for an electric saw and almost worked himself out of a job.

The former kaiser made the change partly because of his advancing age—he is nearly 73—but mostly because he has chopped down every superfluous tree on the estate. He now busies himself in reducing to stove size with the mechanical saw lumber imported to Doorn Manor.

Lindy's Birthplace Free Lodging House

DETROIT, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's birthplace, a house at 1120 Forest avenue West, today became a free lodging house operated by the Detroit Gospel Tabernacle for needy persons. The home is being maintained by contributions from the congregation of the Rev. Walter Dye.

Pangborn Plane Tattered In Freak Accident

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Clyde Pangborn came into Floyd Bennett Field today from Albany with great holes in fuselage and wing and tattered fabric streaming out behind the famous plane in which he and Hugh Herndon flew around the world.

He explained he had a freak accident while passing over Yonkers. His right hand window fell out.

When the window went out the wind came in, and holes about three feet across were ripped in the side of the fuselage and the under surface of the wing.

Pangborn turned the ship over to repair men. He said that it seemed to fly just about as well with holes in it as any other way.

Pangborn and Herndon were in Titusville, Pa., last week and were fog-bound there. Herndon came on home by automobile to be with his wife over the week-end, leaving Pangborn to bring the plane by way of Albany when the weather cleared.

They are flying to Hartford tomorrow and on Sunday go to Chicago to take part in an air meet for the unemployed.

Peanut Lodged in Throat; Surgery Fails, Child Dies

Joseph Andrew Puskat, Jr., 3, of Pleasant Unity, Westmoreland County, is dead today of bronchial pneumonia after a delicate throat operation performed to remove a peanut in his throat.

A peanut lodged in Joseph's throat while he was at play Sunday. At Mt. Pleasant Hospital, they told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Puskat, his lone hope was a delicate throat operation, performed in Pittsburgh only by Dr. E. J. Patterson, at Presbyterian Hospital. The operation was first done by Dr. Chavalier Jackson, of Philadelphia.

A high-powered motor car brought Joseph to Pittsburgh, Sunday evening. The operation was performed, the obstruction removed successfully, but the child contracted bronchial pneumonia from which he died last night.

HOUSE CONTROL AT STAKE AS VOTERS FILL VACANCIES

PARTY LEADERS ON ALERT FOR 1932 SIGNS

Five Congressmen, Three Governors Being Named In Off-Year Elections

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—As a sort of prelude to the great test a year hence, voters in many states went to the polls today to register their opinions and their prejudices in the election of five members of Congress, three governors and thousands of candidates for minor local offices, scattered throughout the country.

It is an off-year election of no especial national significance except as the congressional elections may affect numerical control of the new Congress, yet political leaders here have their eyes open and their ears attuned to catch the first indication of possible "trends" for 1932.

AUGURY FOR NEXT YEAR

If the elections reveal a Democratic trend, it will be accepted as augurING something of the same sort for next year when the two great parties come to grips in the great presidential contest.

If, on the other hand, the trend is the other way, Republicans will congratulate themselves that the worst effects of the depression are over, and that the forthcoming year will witness a rejuvenation of Republican fortunes.

Most interest naturally centers in the congressional elections, of which there are two in Ohio and one each in Michigan, New York and Pennsylvania.

Gubernatorial contests are being decided in New Jersey, Kentucky and Mississippi, while a score of other states have elections of local character.

SMITH-ROOSEVELT TEST

New York, in addition, furnishes an interesting test of strength between Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Ex-Gov. Al Smith on a local issue. It concerns Gov. Roosevelt's reforestation program, which Smith has criticized as useless and inadvisable.

The expectation in Washington is that the Democrats will organize the next House. The results today may clinch numerical superiority for them.

The existing lineup of the House is 214 Democrats, 213 Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite, with seven vacancies. Five of these vacancies will be filled in today's balloting.

CONTEST SCENES

The districts and the candidates are:

First, Ohio (Cincinnati)—John B. Hollister (Rep.) vs. David Lohrbach (Dem.).

Twentieth, Ohio (Cleveland)—D. H. Parry (Rep.) vs. M. L. Sweeney (Dem.).

Eighth, Michigan (Saginaw)—Foss O. Eldred (Rep.) vs. M. J. Hart (Dem.).

Second, Pennsylvania (Philadelphia)—Edward L. Stokes (Rep.) vs. Charles S. Hill (Dem.).

Seventh, New York (Brooklyn)—William L. Padgett (Rep.) vs. Joseph Delaney (Dem.).

The Democrats are expected to have comparatively easy victories in Brooklyn and Cleveland. The Republicans are expected to have little trouble in retaining the Philadelphia district.

FIGHT IN CINCINNATI

The other two, however, in Cincinnati and in the Saginaw district of Michigan, are expected to provide a sterner test. The Cincinnati district is the late Nick Longworth's old district, and the Democrats have put forth unusual efforts to capture it, not only because of the seat itself, but for psychological reasons as well.

The Eighth Michigan is normal Republican territory, yet the prohibition issue has been injected into the campaign with some heat, the Republican being dry and the Democrat anti-dry. Party leaders here consider the outcome in doubt. In all the other contests both candidates are anti-dry.

Should the Democrats win these two districts, they would boost their membership in the new House to 218, an actual majority, and thus remove all doubt as to their ability to organize.

Kerry Football Star Held in Safety Drive

CORK, Ireland, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—John Joseph Sheey, captain of the Kerry football team, which toured America last year, was arrested today at Tralee under the new public safety act. Police have been active throughout Kerry and County Clare searching for arms and seditious literature.

1 DEAD, 3 HURT IN BLASTS

Mrs. Mary Hardy tossed her small son, Edward, 6, through a window into the arms of a passerby.

Spragg received fatal injuries as he started into the general store operated by his grandfather, T. W. Beatty, 77, at Broad street and Canton avenue, Washington, to investigate the blast. As he entered the store, followed closely by Beatty, a second explosion occurred, killing Spragg and hurling Beatty across the street.

According to Chief Dinsmore, Spragg was a deputy sheriff during the coal mine strike last spring and several months ago was a guard in a steel mill at Canonsburg during labor trouble. Dinsmore believes he may have made enemies during his police work, who wrecked the store out of revenge.

Two neighbors of Beatty, John Polan, 57, and his son Wilson, 23, of Broad street, were burned when hit by flying debris.

Miss Ann Gillespie, who lives across the street from the store, told police the two explosions were about five or 10 minutes apart.

Windows in Miss Gillespie's home and several houses in the vicinity were shattered by the two explosions.

DAMAGE $10,000

Damage estimated at $10,000 by Fire Chief Hubert McKay was caused by the explosion and resultant fire in Rankin, which destroyed the house occupied by Samuel Chine and his family at 40 Chartiers avenue. They were absent at the time.

After throwing her child to safety, Mrs. Hardy, her husband, John, and her sister and a son, John, 14, leaped to safety from a rear roof. Two other children of Mrs. Hardy, Anthony, 17, and Mary, 15, on the first floor, escaped before the flames gained headway.

A similar fire broke out in the home of John Riles, a Negro, at 42 Chartiers avenue. The occupants, Riles, his wife and a daughter, Viola, fled to the street in safety.

County detectives continued their investigation into the alleged political bombing which early yesterday wrecked the grocery store-home of Louis DeCicco, 103 Hiland avenue, Stowe Township, injuring two girls and hurling a score of other persons from their beds.

The sleuths late yesterday arrested Peter Valacenci, alleged adherent of Miles Bryan, McKees Rocks' political boss. Valacenci, at liberty in $2,500 bail, will be arraigned Friday before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan on a bombing charge.

NEW FIGHTING IN CHINA

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service.

MUKDEN, Nov. 3.—Japanese troops clashed with Chinese "bandit" soldiers today along the spur railroad line running westward from Chengkiatun to Tungliao.

A Japanese armored car fired on the Chinese in an effort to drive they away from sections of the branch line where repair work was being done on several bridges.

At another point along the same branch railroad, Japanese infantry, sent outf rom Chengkiatung, engaged in a skirmish with a bandit battalion, dispersed them and pursued them some distance from the tracks.

Meanwhile, the situation around Tsitsihar in Northwestern Manchuria has become more tense. Bandits have occupied Kashan station, 40 miles north of Tsitsihar, according to the latest advices received at Japanese military headquarters here.

SCHNADER CITES BARRIERS TO JOB FUNDS

State Attorney General Explains Legal Obstacles To Use of State's Money

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 3.—Attorney General William A. Schnader, in a formal opinion made public today, explained in detail the constitutional prohibitions which forbid expenditure of public funds to aid those who are out of jobs.

The opinion was given to the Governor prior to the issuance of his proclamation which set forth the manner in which, if the legislature approves, it will be possible to sidestep the Constitution.

All four of the proposals on which the Governor had sought to be informed were answered with the flat assertion that they are impossible.

FOUR CONDITIONS

The Governor had asked whether the legislature can make appropriations under any of the four following conditions:

1—Payment of money or the furnishing of food, clothing and shelter to the jobless and their families.

2—To a state agency for the same purposes.

3—To political subdivisions for the same purposes.

4—Direct payment to welfare agencies.

Quoting from past decisions of the State Supreme Court, the Attorney General showed the line which that body draws between charity and a governmental duty.

After quoting one such opinion the Attorney General wrote:

"This decision necessarily leads us to the conclusion that an appropriation enabling cash, food, clothing or shelter to be supplied to those who are unemployed because of economic depression would be treated as a charitable appropriation to 'persons' and, therefore, unconstitutional."

Appropriations for unemployment relief made to a department, commission or other agency created by law "would be just as objectionable as appropriations made directly to the beneficiaries whom the Legislature desires to aid," the Attorney General held.

EXPLAINS BARRIERS

Schnader also explained the constitutional provisions which forbid giving state funds to political subdivisions or the organizations which handle relief funds without political considerations of any kind.

Under the Governor's plan, as announced in his proclamation, political subdivisions of the state will be allowed to float loans and levy special taxes for aiding the jobless. One-half of the total expended by each will be refunded from state funds, provided a constitutional amendment to permit it, is approved by 1934.

The entire distribution of such funds will be actually invested in a commission which the Governor will name. The commission will be required to pass upon all plans of political subdivisions for unemployment relief.

LAVAL, GERMAN DISCUSS DEBTS

PARIS, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Premier Pierre Laval, of France, conferred for two hours this afternoon with Dr. Leopold Von Hoesch, German ambassador to Paris, at the Ministry of the Interior.

The debts and reparations problem was believed discussed in detail. Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Finance Minister Pierre Etienne Flandin were present at the conference.

Von Hoesch, it was learned, has returned to Paris determined to use the present opportunity for reopening the whole reparations question. Laval is even more determined that Berlin must act within the framework of the Young Plan and in accordance with the "understanding" reached with President Hoover during their conversations in Washington.

The French cabinet today gave its stamp of approval to the manner in which M. Laval carried out his mission to the United States. Laval will ask a vote of confidence from the chamber of deputies when it convenes November 12.

Liberals Triumph In Nicaragua Vote

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Liberals were overwhelmingly victorious in Sunday's municipal elections in Nicaragua, except at Granada, where the Conservatives won, incomplete returns indicated.

The voting was peaceful and orderly, Col. Charles B. Price, election observer for the United States government, returned by air from Bluefields and will remain in Nicaragua to scan the final results before leaving for Washington about the middle of November to submit a report.

Kelly Commutation Papers Due at 'Pen'

Commutation papers for Gilbert W. Kelly, convicted slayer of James H. Neal, in the Boggs & Buhl payroll holdup in 1921, were expected to reach Western Penitentiary today. The papers were sent here yesterday after Gov. Pinchot approved the State Pardon Board recommendation that Kelly's sentence be commuted. The Prison Board probably will act Friday on the parole of Kelly and if favorable he may be freed next month.

Hunt Hit-Run Driver In Marshall Crash

County detectives and state police continued their effort today to find the driver of the automobile that struck a car in the Frankstown road, Sunday night, in which Miss Mary Margaret Marshall, 17, of 201 Lytton avenue, daughter of the late Rody P. Marshall, was riding. Miss Marshall and Ruth Curley, of Ferree street, were injured, not seriously.

Name Harmon Head Of Foreign 'Y' Work

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—The post of directing head of Y. M. C. A. work in 32 foreign countries has been offered to Francis S. Harmon, newspaper publisher of Hattiesburg, Miss., it was learned today at general headquarters of the association.

GIRL'S STORIES CLOUD SLAYING

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—St. Louis County officials today cast a dubious eye on all five confessions made by Clara Fish, 19-year-old domestic, in the razor slaying of Mrs. Reba Maddux in a lonely woods near here last Thursday, and attempted to obtain still another statement from her which would clear up numerous alleged discrepancies.

Maddux, held in the same jail as a "suspect of murder," steadfastly maintained Miss Fish "is lying" in implicating him. Maddux was taken to jail late yesterday after he attended the funeral of his wife.

BRITISH HOUSE MEETS, CHEERS MACDONALD

Members in Scramble for Choice Seats; Premier Faces Hitch on Cabinet

International News Service.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The new House of Commons, with Ramsay MacDonald's National Government party controlling 554 seats out of 615, assembled at Westminster for the first time today. Edward A. Fitzroy was re-elected speaker. MacDonald received an ovation, and adjournment was then taken.

The legislative session will not begin until a week from today when Parliament is formally opened by King George with a speech from the throne.

RUSH FOR SEATS

The scramble for seats in the Commons chamber began at 8 o'clock this morning, when nearly a hundred members, some of whom had slept in their evening clothes in the parliamentary library, rushed in as the doors were opened.

Viscountess Astor, American-born peeress, was the first arrival among the 15 women members of the new house.

A hitch developed in MacDonald's efforts to form a cabinet. Some newspapers went so far as to call it a "cabinet crisis," but a compromise was expected. The battle started between Conservatives and Premier MacDonald over selection of a successor to Philip Snowden as chancellor of the exchequer, which will largely determine the nature and extent of the impedning tariffs.

The Conservatives demand Neville Chamberlain be chosen, while Premier MacDonald is holding out for a liberal, possibly Sir John Simon or Walter Runciman. Both favor a tariff.

LLOYD GEORGE SNUBBED

Rendering futile a "feeler" from David Lloyd George aiming at their leadership, the Labor party, meeting in conference today, unanimously passed a vote of confidence in Arthur Henderson, Labor leader, who was defeated at the polls in the recent election.

Simultaneously, from his home in Surrey, where he is ill, Lloyd George was reported to have addressed a letter to the Liberal party, declaring he had no intention of offering himself for Liberal leadership at the present time. It was expected Sir Herbert Samuel would be chosen for the post.

EXPERTS HAIL WHEAT RALLY

plus stock and prospects for a smaller crop next year.

PROFITS TAKEN

Wheat opened ¼ cent higher to ⅜ cent lower and rose 1 cent on the Chicago Board of Trade today, but profit-taking forced prices to about 1 cent lower than yesterday's close.

Profit-taking drove the futures down to yesterday's close at Kansas City after they had opened 1 to 1¾ cents higher.

Prices were boosted in the Northwestern States, with much of the profit going to the producers.

The Winnipeg market again experienced a decided uptrend, with May wheat near 75 cents. The Minneapolis and Duluth exchanges were in sympathy.

Wheat today was nearly 50 per cent higher than one month ago, having gone up about 20 cents a bushel in 30 days.

RISE HELD JUSTIFIED

James C. Stone, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, and George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization, were among those declaring the rise in wheat justified.

A survey by International News Service in London today revealed that the Soviet wheat crop is far below the estimates which have depressed wheat prices throughout the world for more than a year.

A revresentative of the Soviet government in Moscow denied umors that Russia was suspending wheat shipments entirely for the next year, pointing out exports are proceeding normally although the crop is under that of last year and home consumption greater than ever.

Wheat prices gained on the Liverpool exchange, but were retarted by extensive profit-taking.

Father Cox Indorses McGovern, Mansfield

The Rev. Father James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church, last night indorsed the candidacy of Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and Senator William D. Mansfield for election as members of the Board of County Commissioners. He said:

"I'm hook, line and sinker for McGovern. I am also for Mansfield."

Although he did not name former Senator C. M. Barr, McGovern's running mate, Father Cox indicated a desire for his election.

HAMMOND MISSING, HOOVER'S NAVY QUIZ HITS SNAG

CHAIRMANSHIP SHUNNED BY 2 OTHERS

Absence of Board Member Mystery as Inquiry Into League Dispute Is Delayed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—The committee named by President Hoover to investigate the truth of statements by the Navy League regarding his naval policy ran into difficulties today at the outset.

John Hays Hammond, one of the members, could not be found. Two other members let it be known that they would not accept the chairmanship.

Assistant Secretary Jahncke, of the Navy, torn between loyalty to the President and long activity in league affairs, will not have it. Undersecretary Castle, of the State Department, considers himself too close to Mr. Hoover.

TWO MEMBERS SILENT

The two other members, Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired, and Elliot Wadsworth, of Boston, had nothing to say about the committee work.

The absence of Hammond prevented the formulation of immediate plans for a meeting. His home here knew nothing of his whereabouts. His New York office also was said to be uninformed.

The group will seek a "neutral place" to hold its sessions, to avoid appearing unduly influenced by either administration or naval armament sentiment.

ONLY FACTS INVOLVED

So swiftly did the President act, after receiving a membership list of the Navy League late yesterday, that not until today could the chosen committee lay plans for placing on trial disputed statements by William H. Gardiner, president of the league.

Their inquiry, a statement from the White House said, must be "solely into the assertions of fact" made by Gardiner, and not into his "opinions or conclusions."

The league president had accused Mr. Hoover of an "abysmal ignorance of why navies are maintained."

Just about the time the President was pondering over his committee, Secretary Adams injected his views into the controversy for the first time. Earlier in the day he had conferred with Mr. Hoover.

Adams charged Gardiner with descending "from the high plane of dignified discussion to that of personal attack upon the Commander-in-Chief of the Navy, the President; a procedure which I deeply resent." He continued:

"Without going into details, I take the liberty of saying the pamphlet is full of misleading statements."

Gardiner Declines To Talk on Quiz

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—William Howard Gardiner, president of the Navy League, refused today to comment on the appointment by President Hoover of a committee of five to examine the accuracy of statements made by Gardiner about Navy needs. He declared:

"I will have nothing to say prior to the meeting of the executive committee of the Navy League in Washington next Thursday."

COAL TRUCK MISSED HIM!

DAVID SHELBY, JR., 8 MONTHS OLD, REALLY UNCONCERNED

Baby David, 2302 Braddock avenue, Swissvale, who had a narrow escape from death when a laden, runaway coal truck was brought to a stop when it overturned in the front yard of his home. David was in his cart, the truck upset just a few feet from him!

BABY SHOWERED BY COAL, SAFE

Eight-month-old David Shelby, Jr., of 2302 Braddock avenue, Swissvale, had a narrow escape from death when a runaway truck, loaded with coal, overturned in the front yard of the Shelby home late yesterday.

The baby, sitting in a go-cart, was showered with coal, but was not hurt, Mrs. Shelby said.

Ernest Good, a Negro, of 300 Second avenue, Homestead, the driver, told police the brakes failed while he was descending Cheyenne street. Good and a helper were uninjured.

MEN ADRIFT 10 DAYS RESCUED

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Two fishermen, rescued from their disabled motor boat after 10 days adrift in the Atlantic Ocean, today hovered between life and death aboard the Coast Guard cutter Cayuga.

Dr. G. L. Cristy, attached to the Coast Guard base at Clifton, Staten Island, prescribed treatment by radio for the delirious victims as the rescue cutter sped toward shore with full steam ahead.

Meanwhile, a police amphibian plane streaked toward the oncoming cutter in a plan to take off the two fishermen and hasten their trip to a hospital.

The men, David Warshauer and Irving C. Tushyner, both of Brooklyn, were picked up by the Cayuga 135 miles north of New York. They had run out of water and food.

2 WOMEN SHOT IN HUNTING ACCIDENT

Many Others Wounded as Holiday Sends Thousands In Quest of Small Game

Casualties were reported from many sections of the state as thousands of hunters flocked to the woods and fields to take advantage of the election day holiday and the reported abundance of small game.

Two women were injured in Clearfield County, three men were injured near Altoona, two men were shot near Sharon and one man was badly wounded in Westmoreland County.

Mrs. Olive Norris and Mrs. Evelyn Norris, sisters-in-law, both of Altoona, are in Clearfield Hospital with gunshot wounds in the legs. They were hurt, it was said, when a gun held by Mrs. Olive Norris was accidentally discharged as she stumbled and fell.

HELD IN SHOOTING

Thomas B. Rager, 62, of Vintondale, was taken to Bedford Hospital suffering wounds in both lungs. Levi Shaffer, 54, of Johnstown, was held by state police in connection with Rager's shooting. S. S. Mills, of Altoona, was treated at Roaring Springs Hospital for gunshot wounds in the left leg, and Calvin Goodman, of Hollidaysburg, was wounded in the right leg.

Edward Bronson, 31, of Pleasant Unity, is in a serious condition in Greensburg Hospital with gunshot wounds in face and chest sustained while hunting near his home. A companion fired while Bronson was in range.

Leroy Minner, 18, of West Middlesex, Pa., is in the Buhl Hospital, Sharon, with gunshot wounds in the left arm and side. A shotgun which he had laid down while he attempted to scare a rabbit from a stone pile, accidentally was discharged.

Alfred Adams, 22, of Franks-town road, Wilkinsburg, was admitted to the same hospital with gunshot wounds in the left hand suffered in another accident.

M'KEES ROCKS VICTIM

Frank Eliger, 45, of 186 McCoy road, McKees Rocks, was shot through the foot when a shotgun which he was carrying was discharged while he was hunting near Ingomar late yesterday. He was taken to the Valley Hospital at Sewickley.

Fatalities reported in the state included:

Charles Ross, 30, of Bethlehem, killed when his gun exploded while it was standing against a tree. Ross had stopped to light a cigaret.

Hoyt Heintzelman, 35, of Swengel, killed when his own gun was discharged.

John S. Bixler, 71, retired York merchant, succumbed to heart attack which the Coroner reported was caused by exertion and excitement of hunting.

RUBBER SECRET DISCOVERED BY PRIEST

Development of Synthetic Product Started Before Edison Began His Study

International News Service.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 3.—The new synthetic rubber announced at the American Chemical Society's convention at Akron, O., was developed as a result of experiments of the Rev. Julius Arthur Nieuwland, C. S. C., head of the chemistry department of Notre Dame University, here.

Twenty-five years ago, the priest began his researches to obtain synthetic rubber, long before Thomas A. Edison became interested in the same subject, resulting in rubber production from the goldenrod plant just a few days before the famous inventor died.

Instead of the goldenrod, the rubber of the South Bend priest is based upon acetylene, which requires for production only coal and limestone.

SEEKS NO RICHES

Because Father Nieuwland took a vow of poverty when he was ordained a priest, he has made no effort to enrich himself through his invention.

During his early experiments, Father Nieuwland passed acetylene into a solution of copper and ammonium chlorides. He noticed that a gas developed. Then for 14 years he tried to isolate the gas, and in 1920 succeeded in resolving it into an oil and a gas. The next year he determined that the oil was divinyl acetylene.

Dr. R. R. Vogt, research engineer in the Notre Dame chemistry department, then treated this oil with a vulcanizing agent two years later and obtained a highly elastic substance resembling rubber.

DUPONT INTERESTED

News of this substance reached E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. Officials of that company made arrangements with the priest to take over its development. For a time only a low grade of rubber, retaining its elasticity for brief periods, was achieved.

However, other du Pont company engineers determined that the product was movinyl acetylene, which treated with hydrochloric acid, developed a compound called cuprene. This product, upon being subjected to the proper reagents, yielded a perfected synthetic rubber.

TRUNK SLAYER OPENS FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

Mrs. Judd Due to Enter Not Guilty Plea Before Arizona Justice Court

By W. M. BISHOP
International News Service.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 3.—The first Arizona court move of Mrs. Ruth Judd, 26, to free herself from the charges of killing her friends, Agnes Leroi and Hedwig Samuelson, was to be taken today when she appears before a Justice of the Peace to plead not guilty to the crime.

Sheriff J. R. McFadden indicated he knew the identity of the owner of the automobile Mrs. Judd used just before and after the two women had been killed, one of the bodies dismembered and both shipped in trunks from Phoenix to Los Angeles.

Arizona authorities have maintained Mrs. Judd had an accomplice in the slaying, or at least immediately following the act, when strength as well as nerve was a paramount necessity in the packing of the bodies.

COURT CALL SCHEDULED

With the arrival early today of Paul W. Schenck, Los Angeles criminal attorney, County Attorney Lloyd J. Andrews said he would immediately order the confessed slayer into court to make her plea.

Mrs. Judd has steadfastly maintained the shooting of the two women was in self-defense.

Though she mutilated the body of Miss Samuelson, defense attorneys claim they can substantiate the shooting in self-defense and with the aid of medical science show a temporary insanity.

SCIENCE INVOKED

Medical science, brain specialists and specialists in women's disorders will be used to try to explain the supernatural strength Mrs. Judd acquired to have packed the bodies unaided in the trunks.

Among specialists to be called as expert defense witnesses will be Dr. Harold J. Schilling, of Phoenix. He formerly was president of the American Medical Association at Vienna, where he specialized in women's mental and physical disorders.

While the first Maricopa County legal steps were being taken to send Mrs. Judd to the gallows, investigators of both the County Attorney and the sheriff's offices began investigations of new and startling evidence.

KIDNAP WOMAN IN ELECTION BATTLE

Fayette Worker Escapes After Being Bound and Forced to Drink Iodine

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 3.—Found in her automobile at midnight, bound and partly gagged, her face and neck burned by iodine, Mrs. Thomas Herring, 38, of Puritan, told state troopers of being kidnaped by a man and woman in an election plot.

She said that she had been warned to cease her activities in a political campaign.

Mrs. Herring, suffering from shock and exposure, said that she regained consciousness in an open field. Her hands and feet were bound by sash rope, which also was wound around her body. She dragged herself to her car, nearby, she said, and drove into Uniontown.

Mrs. Herring's face and neck were burned by iodine which she said one of her abductors forced her to drink as he held a gun close to her head.

The woman told police she was stopped near the Uniontown Hospital by a man and woman in a larger car. The man, she said, forced his way into her car and drove away, while the woman followed in the other machine. He forced her to drink the iodine and then gagged her.

The pair told her that they were sure she would not take part in today's election. She said she remembered nothing more until she regained consciousness in a field more than a mile distant.

Weather Conditions.

High pressure overlies the southeastern states and the Far Northwest and low pressure covers the lake region, with its center near Hudson Bay. This distribution of pressure is producing clear skies over practically the entire country. The only precipitation during the last 24 hours occurred north of the Great Lakes. There was a rise in temperature over the Mississippi Valley states and a rather marked drop in the Far Northwest. Over the eastern states there was little change. Frost occurred in most of the states east of the Mississippi, and as far south as Mobile. There were no freezing temperatures except over the Appalachian Mountains as far south as Asheville and in the Far Northwest.

Decrease Shown In Chicago Crime

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, releasing a survey of criminal cases in the municipal courts yesterday, said that although the population of Chicago had increased 500,000 in the last 10 years, the city's crime has been steadily decreasing, especially in the last three years.

While the survey did not include unsolved crimes, the Judge said there was a similar decrease in these, too.

AKRON CARRIES 207 ON FLIGHT

LAKEHURST, N. J., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—The greatest number of persons ever to soar skyward together went aloft in the Navy's scout cruiser Akron, as part of the training and test program of the giant ship.

Two hundred and seven persons, officers, Marines and seamen, were aboard as the craft, under command of Lieut. Commander C. E. Rosenthal, lifted its nose at 9:54 a. m. on a flight without definite itinerary, which was expected to be concluded at sunset.

At 11:25 a. m. the Akron floated lazily over Atlantic City's boardwalk and moved southward along the coast against a gentle southwest wind.

The former record for passengers in any aircraft was 169, carried by the heavier-than-air DO-X, which flew for an hour over Lake Constance in 1929.

The Akron, which flew all day yesterday with 107 passengers, rose as easily today under an almost double load of human freight.

Mother Attempts Suicide to Aid Children

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mary Skrobiak, 22, drank poison in an attempt to end her life. She said a $1,000 insurance policy would feed her four children and husband since there was no food in the house and her husband was unemployed.

Hospital physicians said they believed she would live. The family came here three weeks ago from Pittsburgh.

Spanish Priest Slain, Reprisals Feared

BILBAO, Spain, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—A group of laborers fired upon two priests in a suburb of Bilbao yesterday, killing one of them and seriously wounding the other. Authorities said they feared reprisals because of strong Catholic sentiment here.

Witnesses to the shooting said it occurred after the priests had passed the group, with whom they exchanged greetings.

GANDHI MEETS MACDONALD

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Mahatma Gandhi paid his first visit to 10 Downing street today and talked with Prime Minister MacDonald about an hour on the problems of the Indian round table conference.

He told the Prime Minister he regretted his failure to effect a settlement of the Hindu-Moslem electoral problem and his conversation throughout was marked by a note of despair which Mr. MacDonald seemed unable to relieve.

A cold, bleak wind whistled through the streets and Gandhi's odd appearance in a loin cloth, homespun shawl, sandals and bare legs attracted much attention.

For the first time since he came to London he posed voluntarily for photographers. He said:

"I hate photographers, but now I am your prisoner and can't escape."

He smiled as he said it, however, while an army of picture men closed in on him at the Prime Minister's doorstep.

out if they have a right to vote. If I were a voter and thought I had a right to vote, I certainly wouldn't come into court."

Averbach declared thousands would be disfranchised because of the court's decision.

Churchill B. Mehard, attorney for the Registration Commission, declared the names were stricken off after 3,400 letters and 12,500 subpenas revealed that a large proportion of the names belonged to "phantoms."

INJUNCTION IS DENIED

Three Judges in Common Pleas Court late yesterday denied County Commissioner C. C. McGovern an injunction to restrain the Pittsburgh Printing Company from printing or distributing sample ballots similar to 240,000 admittedly printed and distributed two hours before a preliminary injunction was granted and served last week.

Supporters of the Independent candidates for Commissioner Barr and McGovern, today charged that the Regular Republican Organization has sent orders into every district in the county that McGovern, also a Republican nominee, is to be "cut" in favor of David L. Lawrence, Democratic nominee.

Every district chairman, the Independent leaders said, had been given numbers of marked sample ballots showing the Republican voters how they could vote for Lawrence on an otherwise "straight Republican" ticket.

James H. McClure, Republican campaign manager, denied the ballots had been sent from his headquarters. He said his committee was working for all the Republican candidates.

BOGUS LETTERS

The Registration Commission last night issued a warning that bogus letters, purporting to come from their offices, were mailed to Fifth Ward voters.

The letters are on stationery marked "Registration Reform Commission of Allegheny County," in an almost exact duplication of the real Commission's letterheads. They warn their recipients that any person registering on a tax receipt which they did not obtain by personal visit to the County Treasurer or Delinquent Tax Collector is subject to arrest.

John McK. Morrow, chairman of the Registration Commission, said no one would be arrested for such cause. If a name has been stricken from the voting lists, that person will be refused the right to ballot, but no other action will be taken, Morrow said.

The bogus letters were received in the same mail with sample ballots which showed Fifth Ward Republican voters how to "cut" McGovern, Earl Sams, constable nominee, and Robert H. Logan, alderman nominee.

RAILROAD JOB PARLEY ASKED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—The nation's railroad executives have before them again a proposal of labor leaders to gather around a conference table and thresh out the vexing problems of employment stabilization and wages.

This procedure was proposed yesterday by the Railway Labor Executives Association, which speaks for 1,250,000 members of 21 national labor groups.

A somewhat similar proposal was rejected last summer by the railroad operators. In St. Paul, Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railroad, said the matter would probably be considered Wednesday at a meeting of the association in Chicago.

Awaiting a reply, the labor representatives plunged today into formulation of a program for submission to Congress. Unemployment, described as the most important topic, was discussed at length. With 350,000 railway employes idle, the labor representatives felt that action should be taken immediately to relieve this condition.

Maintenance of the existing wage scale was not mentioned specifically in the resolution, but the organization warned last July that it would oppose to the utmost any attempts to reduce salaries.

Daughter Seeks Mother She Never Saw

A woman who has never seen her mother today asked the aid of the Missing Persons Bureau in an effort to locate her.

She is Mrs. Leona Galloway, 28, of Marion, O. A letter to the bureau explained that Mrs. Galloway had been adopted by a Cleveland family when a baby and had made her home with them for 23 years.

Since her marriage, she has renewed efforts to find her mother and believes that she, Mrs. Mary McDonald, 53, may be living with a son, William McDonald, last heard from in Pittsburgh.

PUPIL VANISHES, HUNT BEGINS

No explanation can be given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lombardi, 1106 Lincoln avenue, for the disappearance of Orlando Lombardi, 17, who left home yesterday morning to attend Westinghouse High School and did not return.

Master Lombardi

He is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, dark complexion, black hair, brown eyes. He was wearing a gray overcoat, gray striped trousers, a brown sweater and black shoes. His father said:

"I do not understand it. He was always a home boy. There had been no family quarrel. He never talked of running away."

CHARGE KILLING OF GIRL TO KIN

LEBANON, Ind., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Charles Tindall, attorney for Mrs. Carrie Simmons at her poison murder trial, today told the jury that her brother-in-law, Horace M. Jackson, committed the crime of which she is accused. He was making the closing argument for the defense.

Tindall said he would meet the dare made yesterday by Prosecutor Ben M. Scifres. The latter, in a closing argument for the state, said he dared the defense to say Jackson was responsible for poison placed in the sandwich which caused the death of Alice Jean Simmons, 10, daughter of Mrs. Simmons. The woman is accused of the child's murder.

Tindall, pacing before the jury this morning, shouted:

"I say Jackson did it. That's the answer to your dare."

With the courtroom in an uproar following Tindall's words, a recess was taken.

THE GUEST WHO'S KEPT AWAKE BY COFFEE

1 Guest: "No, thank you, coffee keeps me awake."
Hostess: "But this is Sanka Coffee, Walter. It's 97% caffein-free. Won't keep you awake."

2 Guest: "I've yet to taste the coffee that won't keep me awake."
Hostess: "Ask John. He couldn't drink coffee at night, either—until we began using Sanka Coffee."

3 Guest: "Well, just a tiny bit, then. Certainly smells delicious—guess I'll try one little sip. M-m-m!"
Host: "Go ahead, there's nothing to worry about."

4 Guest: "What an idiot I am—guess I'll never learn to refuse coffee at night. Now for a long, sleepless night—but that coffee was delicious!"

5 Guest: "What! Morning already? Why, I must have dropped right off to sleep! Now, what was the name of that coffee again? Oh, yes—Sanka Coffee."

DRINK IT—AND SLEEP!

MILLIONS GIVEN WIFE OF COOK

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Informed that she is the sole heir to a $3,000,000 estate, Mrs. Albert Peterson, 40, the wife of a restaurant cook, moved about in a daze today as she planned the things she wants to do with the fortune.

Mrs. Peterson was on her knees scrubbing the floor in her three-room apartment when the news was brought to her that she is the sole surviving heir of an almost forgotten uncle.

She was told that she will inherit the estate of Dr. Joseph Kellogg, wealthy New York physician.

BOY HERO SNUB NOT EXPLAINED

Officials of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission here today refused to reveal why they had refused the request of Gov. William Adams, of Colorado, that hero medals be awarded to Bryan Untiedt and Carl E. Miller, heroes in the Towner (Col.) school bus tragedy early last spring, in which five died.

Taylor Allderdice, secretary of the commission; C. B. Ebersol, his assistant, and Dr. W. J. Holland, chairman, claimed they could not divulge the reason for the commission's actions because of a rule which prohibits publicity of any of the organization's reasons for refusal of awards.

Gov. Adams was informed that his request was "not within the scope of the fund." He had informed the commission of the valor of the 13-year-old Bryan, and of Miller, the driver, who died in the rescue attempt.

Bryan's bravery won him a visit to the White House with President Hoover.

Air Travel Grows Despite Depression

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Col. Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, said yesterday that air transportation of passengers, mails and merchandise continued to increase in 1931 in spite of recessions in other lines. He said:

"About 700,000 passengers will be carried on United States air lines this year, compared with less than 400,000 in 1930. The number probably will pass 1,000,000 in 1932."

President Proposes Home-Owning Aids

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—President Hoover continued his efforts to ease the way for householders to buy their own homes when he held a lengthy conference today with the finance committee of the White House Conference on Home Ownership and Home Building.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont attended. The President submitted several proposals designed to loosen credits for home buyers.

Volunteers to Hold Sale of Vets' Work

Articles made by disabled soldiers in the Veterans' Hospital, Aspinwall, will be offered for sale, November 12, 13 and 14 in the balcony of the Joseph Horne Company's store, according to the announcement by the Gray Lady Volunteer Hospital Service, in charge of the sale. Receipts will go to the men. The articles include hooked rugs, billfolds, purses, scarfs and toys.

KOMICS THRONG SOUTH HILLS THEATER

Ventriloquist Entertains Junior Club; Girl Scouts Assist in Big Program

One of the peppiest meetings of the Warner Theaters-Junior Komic Clubs last week was the one held at the South Hills Harris Theater. There was a big crowd on hand to greet Jim Derwin, ventriloquist and magician, who entertained with feats of magic and told funny stories.

One of the most interesting features was a demonstration of first aid work by members of Troop 119, Girl Scouts of Dormont, under the directorship of Miss Mary Frances Gordon. This was followed by Scout songs and reading of the Junior Komic Club pledge.

The prizes at the South Hills meeting included an Ingersoll watch, boy's pen and pencil set, ping pong set, pencil boxes, handkerchiefs and other novelties.

SCHENLEY CHAPTER

Another jolly crowd gathered at the Schenley Theater, where a costume contest was held. The stage entertainment consisted of a banjo trio and songs and dances by members of the club. The baby doll contest announced last week brought forth hundreds of dolls of every size and description. It was just like a big party. Manager Harry Thomas announced three more of those fleece-lined coats will be given away at the meeting next Saturday morning.

BELMAR CHAPTER

The meeting at the Belmar Chapter was conducted by the officers, Alden Miller, grand jester; Peggy Nolan, Norma Belle Mellon, Esther DeVecchio, George Timblin, Robert Houseberg and Eugene Schweibenz.

Ruth Hedges and Audrey Pernell did a military toe dance; LaVerne Nesser, Peggy Nolan and Eugene Schweibenz contributed song and dance numbers. Every member whose birthday occurred during the week received a big birthday cake.

MANOR CHAPTER

Attendance at the Manor chapter continues to increase. Both boys and girls entered into the spirit of the doll contest Saturday morning. Birthday cakes were distributed and the Boy Scouts conducted their usual ceremony, closing with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Manager Joseph Blowitz received an ovation when he announced that Tampa, the magician, would appear at the meeting next Saturday morning. We shall hear more of Tampa during the week, so watch this column every day.

STANLEY SHOW

November 15, the date of the big show at the Stanley Theater, is less than two weeks off. Members of all chapters who have attended four out of five meetings will be admitted free.

Turn to the comic page of this issue. There you will find an application for membership in the Warner Theaters-Sun-Telegraph Junior Komic Club. If you have not already joined, fill it in, mail to the Sun-Telegraph office.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

Illegal Hunters Trapped by Use Of Autogyro

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—The vertical landing ability of an autogyro has been called upon to play an important part in a crusade against illegal hunting and excessive killing of game in Montgomery and Bucks counties.

Hunters without the conspicuous license tags on their backs were spotted easily by observers in the plane. Pennsylvania's small game season opened yesterday, and already more than a score of offenders have been arrested and fined.

The plane is manned by Assemblyman Clarence Ederer, of Melrose Park, and a special game warden.

DIVORCE GIVEN IRENE RICH

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Weeping and near collapse, Irene Rich, motion picture actress, obtained a divorce here yesterday from David Blankenhorn, wealthy broker on a cross-complaint in which she charged cruelty.

Blankenhorn failed to appear in court. A property settlement was approved. It was reported Miss Rich was to receive the couple's Los Angeles home and motor car and a $100,000 insurance policy.

She testified that when she was on location or on the stage Blankenhorn called her by telephone requesting her to abandon her work. These call, and his asserted statements that she was an "unsatisfactory wife" because of her work, affected her health, she told the court.

PANTAGES JURY BOX FILLED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Selection of the jury which will try Alexander Pantages for an asserted attack upon Eunice Pringle, young dancer, was expected to be completed today.

The wealthy theater magnate's second trial entered its second day this morning with two women and ten men in the jury box as prospective jurors.

The Supreme Court reversed Pantages' original conviction.

With the jury completed, Miss Pringle herself is expected to take the witness stand today and retell the story of an asserted attack in the Pantages theater building, where she said she had gone in search of employment on the vaudeville stage.

Accompanied by her mother, Miss Pringle yesterday apepared at the District Attorney's office.

GORDON DRAFTS NEW BANK LAW

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Dr. William D. Gordon, state banking secretary, announced yesterday he would submit for the consideration of the next Legislature a program of new laws to govern the operation of banks in Pennsylvania.

A study of the conditions which prevailed in banks recently closed, Dr. Gordon said, reveals that conditions existed which, with proper legislation and stricter supervision, might have been prevented or corrected."

Dr. Gordon disclosed that he has called for a report from every bank of loans made to officers and directors and "a set-up of loans to public officials who may be instrumental in placing public deposits in those institutions."

The study he now is making, the banking secretary said, will reveal whether the directors of banking institutions are serving solely as directors or whether their principal interest is that of granting loans to themselves and to their own or affiliated companies.

POLICE CHIEF IN BATTLE AT POLLS

Independents on Guard to Block 'Steal;' Woman Slugged in Malone Ward

shortly after the polls opened. They took up headquarters in the Registration Commission offices and were immediately divided into patrols.

Six auto squads of troopers, carrying from two to five men, were assigned to patrol the county. Each car carried a clerk from the Registration Commission's force with a list of all polling places in the district to which his squad was assigned.

RESERVE PATROLS

Two patrols were held in reserve at the commission's office awaiting emergency calls.

All of the roving squads were instructed not to enter the polling places unless there was a disturbance or a substantiated complaint.

Seventy deputy sheriffs augmented the state police. They were scattered through the county, stationed outside polling places of districts where trouble was anticipated or where disorder or irregularities occured in the primary.

Seventeen of the deputies headed by Chief Deputy H. D. Graves were assigned to Wilmerding. They were augmented by four of the troopers.

The borough, home of Republican Boss John Volpe, was a hotbed of trouble in September.

Independent workers there today were asking each voter to sign an index card showing what time he voted, where, whether he cast a vote in the primary and if his taxes were paid. These cards were to be filed for use in court action should a recurrence of primary election irregularities be discovered in the official count of the Wilmerding votes.

REQUEST BY BURGESS

The deputy sheriffs were assigned to Wilmerding on the request of Burgess R. W. Bishop, who told Sheriff R. S. Cain and Chief Deputy B. V. Coffey that he did not believe the borough police could "protect the citizens."

Two deputies were assigned to West Homestead on the request of Burgess Robert A. Morrow.

Independent leaders said this morning they were confident there would be less disorder today and fewer irregularities. The rapid and drastic court actions which followed the primary, they said, had put a damper on gang intimidation of voters and illegal election practices.

ARREST ORDERED

Judge Rowand ordered the arrest of Mrs. Margaret Keys, judge of election in the First District, Twelfth Ward, when it was reported she had refused to recognize the reinstatement of a voter, whose name had been stricken from the registry list.

The arrest of the judge in the Eighth District, Fourth Ward, was ordered when it was reported that assistance was being given voters without an affidavit being taken.

The Rev. W. H. Wade, Negro Baptist preacher, of 714 Manila street, reported to the state police headquarters in the Courthouse that after leaving the polling place of the Ninth District, Third Ward, he was beaten by a man he identified as one held for court for creating a disturbance at the primaries. He was referred to the court and said he would ask for a bench warrant for his assailant's arrest.

During an argument near the polling place of the Seventh District of the Fifth Ward, Milwaukee and Clarissa streets, Mrs. Catherine Walsh, a Republican organization polls worker, was slugged, she told police.

MALONE AIDE HELD

Mrs. Walsh was unable to name her assailant, but Louis Schwartz, 33, of 3382 Webster avenue, was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

Frank A. DeSimone, of 6521 Shetland avenue, was slugged last night when a mob ripped signs from a truck carrying musicians through the Twelfth Ward in behalf of the campaign of DeSimone's son, Frank A. DeSimone, Jr., for constable on the Independent ticket.

The attack occurred at Paulson avenue and Winslow street, opposite the residence of Michael DeRosa, Twelfth Ward political boss.

SIGN WRECKED

According to the elder DeSimone, one of a mob of 30 tore a sign from the truck as it was passing the corner. DeSimone, following the truck in an automobile, stopped and engaged in an argument with the men. One of them, he said struck him.

DeRosa's version of the incident differed. He said the sign fell from the truck, and that several men loitering near the corner rushed to replace it on the truck. He denied that DeSimone was struck.

The younger DeSimone is running against City Detective Gus Ellis.

DEFICIT GROWS, TAX RISE NEAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A new set of figures on the deficit today thrust the question of increasing taxes farther to the front of administration problems. Word that the Treasury ended the first four months of this fiscal year with $661,120,850 in red on its books went immediately to the White House.

The budget is in preparation, with Mr. Hoover and his advisers attempting to keep it down. Curtailed spending on the part of the government would put brakes on the deficit now threatening to go far beyond the one billion mark before July 1, but it would not raise money to meet the arrears which have already accumulated.

Proposals for increased taxation are growing as the time for the next congress approaches. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, whose views have coincided oftentimes in the past with those of Secretary Mellon, urged a sales levy.

Many other senators and House members of both parties have said, however, they favored an increase in the levies on large incomes and strengthening inheritance tax laws in preference to the sales tax ida.

Cadet Killed, Second Safe as Planes Hit

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 3.—(INS)—Cadet T. C. Byrum was killed and Cadet Ernest H. Briscoe jumped to safety in his parachute when their planes collided in mid-air south of San Antonio today.

Byrum's home was in Birmingham, Ala., and Briscoe lives in Tennessee. The two planes, in the pursuit section at Kelly Field, crashed while making a turn in formation.

ELECTION INCIDENTS

Sixty-three mechanics were stationed at the various polling places where vote machines were in use today to make emergency repairs. Minor difficulties were reported throughout the day to the Bureau of Elections.

One of two voting machines installed in the Pennsylvania School for the Blind, Bellefield and Bayard streets, polling place for the Seventh District of the Fourth Ward was out of order for a short while this morning. A mechanic was called and quickly repaired it.

The arrest of the election board in the Eighth District, Fourth Ward, was sought by Attorney David Kraat, who alleged watchers were not permitted to serve at the polls. Judge F. P. Patterson sent a deputy sheriff with the watchers, with instructions to arrest the board and accept bail if the board persisted in its refusal to allow the watchers to serve.

A vote machine, reported out of order in the early hours of the voting, in the Tenth Ward, was quickly replaced.

Frederick T. Gretton, 4517 Fillmore street, was unable to operate the lever of a vote machine in the Ninth district, Fourth Ward. Mechanics remedied the defect and the voting continued with little delay.

Four judges, sitting in Common Pleas Court today, hearing election cases, did not take the customary noon-day stroll for lunch. Instead they had lunch brought in. A waiter from a nearby restaurant appeared before the bar and passed over the menus to the judges who studied them and each ordered chicken sandwich, pie and coffee. The lunches were eaten in the judges' chambers.

The election board of the Seventh District of the Thirty-first Ward was summoned before the court on a complaint by Attorney D. S. Keast that it had not been legally elected for the general election. The precinct was annexed with Mifflin Township. The board was elected at a curbstone election for the primary. Keast declared and not named for the general election. The board explained to the court that a curbstone election had been held at 7:15 a. m. and was then ordered back by the court to man the polls.

United States Senator David A. Reed remained in Washington today deprived of a vote because of a recent change of his address. He gave up an apartment in the Schenley Hotel and now maintains a residence at 716 Amberson avenue, Seventh Ward. His colleague, Senator James J. Davis, cast his vote today in the Fourth District, Twenty-ninth Ward.

A soap box was used for a ballot box for a short time this morning in the Fifth District of the Twenty-fifth Ward, Columbus and Irwin avenues, according to reports reaching the Independent headquarters, Fourth avenue. Election board officials explained this was done due to the failure of the ballot box to arrive on time.

Film Actress Fights Ex-Mate for Son

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—(INS)—Iris Meredith, film actress, and her former husband, Ellis Taylor, an architect, today were engaged in a court battle for the custody of their 9-year-old son, Ellis Taylor, Jr.

Liberal Party Head Urges G.O.P. Support

Speaking before the Daniel Winters Republican Association of the Fourteenth Ward last night, C. V. Shoup, campaign manager of the Liberal party, urged support of the straight Republican candidates for County Commissioner, William D. Mansfield and C. C. McGovern.

INDEPENDENTS CHARGE FRAUD

Republican organization leaders are resorting to "eleventh-hour fraud and attempted intimidation" in a futile effort to stem the tide of Independent voters, H. C. Workmaster, chairman of the Independent campaign committee, declared today. He said:

"The fact that no answers have been made to our serious charges is sufficient evidence that the political profiteers and grafters have their backs against the wall.

"The ballot-box stuffer and the vote thief will have short shrift. The payrollers and their victimized subordinates will be checkmated.

"The people of Allegheny County know the issues at stake: honest elections, decent, graft-free government and financial rehabilitation of the County. The polls will tell the tale."

ASYLUM BLAZE KILLS SEVEN

PENATANG, Ontario, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Seven patients of the Ontario Hospital for the Insane near here perished and two others were injured when fire trapped them in a cottage ward yesterday.

The victims, all occupants of a ground floor room, were pinned in by flames which spread so quickly attendants could do little to aid them.

The victims were identified as Allen McKinnon, Xavier Le Fairve, John Downey, W. C. Simmons, James Robertson, Sydney Hamlin and William Bowie.

Suffering from severe burns, John Cox and Victor Hislop were removed to a hospital.

Coroner B. A. Blackwell, of Penetang, impaneled a jury for an inquest.

RAID CAPONE GANG ARSENAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(AP)—An alleged counterfeiting plant and arsenal, believed by police to have been connected with the headquarters of "Scarface Al" Capone's gang, was raided late yesterday.

Police said they found 63 pistols, many of them with the numbers filed off, fuses, detonation caps, dies for coins, silver, and a quantity of liquor. Five men were arrested.

The prisoners are Louis Scaramuzzo, the owner of the sporting goods and gun shop; Sylvia Belgivello, who said he was the gunsmith; Peter Honig, another employe; Sam Troila, brother-in-law of Scaramuzzo, and Louis Grossi.

The first three were turned over to federal authorities for questioning about the counterfeiting material. The latter two, who walked into the place while the raid was going on, were held for investigation.

Police said they believed the place was used by the Capone gang to have the numbers filed off their weapons; to keep their pistols oiled and ready for action.

Ralph Capone to Ask Rehearing on Taxes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Undaunted by the refusal of the Supreme Court to listen to the plea of Ralph Capone for a review of his income tax case, his counsel gave notice today they probably would ask for a rehearing.

Beer Drive Sweeps Nation, Woll States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(INS)—Modification of the Volstead law to permit 2.75 per cent beer is gaining tremendous support throughout the country, Matthew Woll, president of Labor's National Committee for Modification, said today. He added:

"Our organization purposes to take this issue before the coming session of Congress and, the doleful predictions of the professionals to the contrary notwithstanding, we expect to win."

STREET, BRIDGE JOBS PLANNED

Widening ordinances for two streets and a contract ordinance for rebuilding of the Plank Street Bridge over Saw Mill Run boulevard, were in Council's hands today for action At least $3,000 will be required to rebuild the Plank street span, according to Public Works Department estimates. The new bridge would be three feet higher than the present structure, and be so constructed as to prevent floods from harming it, the Public Works Department announcement said.

The department asked Council to sanction widening of Wilkins avenue, Fourteenth Ward, at Wightman street, at a cost of $1,500. The department, if councilmanic permission is granted, will widen an unnamed street in the Twenty-seventh Ward, near McClure avenue.

SPURR HEADS 5 BUS LINES HERE

A Clintin Spurr, Wheeling traction head, today assumed duties as president of five joint bus lines and established headquarters here.

The bus lines under Spurr's direction are Blue Ridge Transportation Company, White Star Lines, Ohio Valley Transit Company and Penn Bus Company, the latter operating the West Penn, Pennsylvania Railroad and Greyhound buses. Spurr will direct activities of the lines between Baltimore and Akron. He is vice president of three Wheeling district traction companies, the Panhandle Traction Company, the Wellsburg, Steubenville and Weirton Traction Company and the Wheeling Bridge Company.

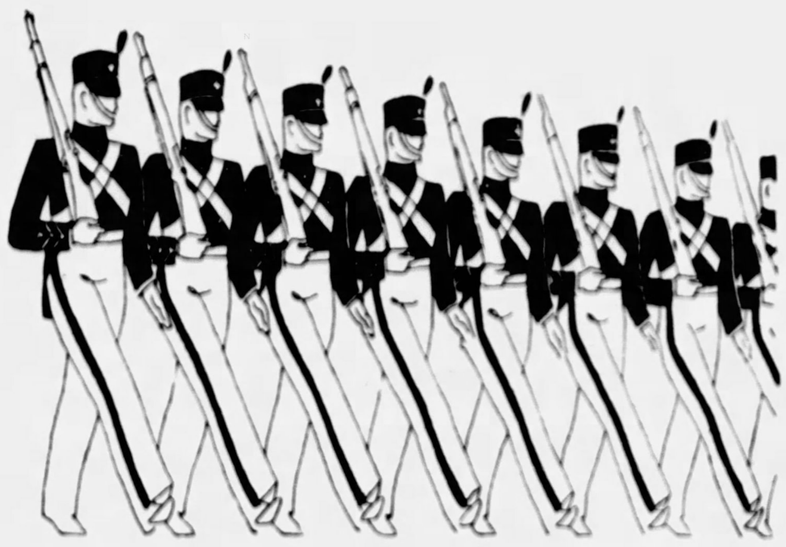
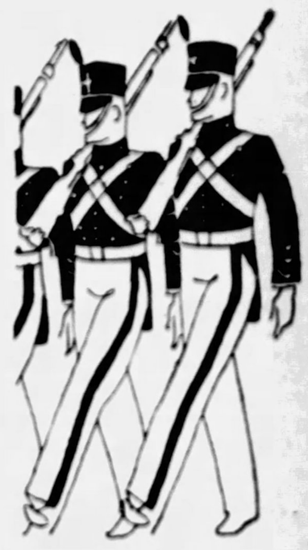
JOSEPH HORNE CO.

THE ARMY IS COMING!





From the signing of the articles for the Army-Pittsburgh game more than a year ago, we have been carefully making our plans to meet this brilliant occasion in a manner worthy of this store and the event. Our interest has been second only to Pitt's. Every possible thing needed for the game, and for the dinners, dances, theater parties, and the ball which follow, has been anticipated and provided. Begin your wardrobe preparations auspiciously here this week.

JOSEPH HORNE CO

Shadow Plaid

The shadow plaid effect of this camel-hair coat somehow intensifies its silky pile, and the black in its pattern heightens its glorious colorings—Colonial red, Yankee blue and tropical green. Raccoon collar. $69.50.

Shearling Lined*

Shearling* lamb, confined to a few smart sports wear makers, is this coat's feature. Of imported boucle cloth in tally-ho green, Colonial red, Yankee blue or mascara, $49.50; with raccoon collar, $69.50.

*Pat. Applied for

Silva Chilla

It's the brand-new, grand new fabric that looks like a glorified chinchilla with a "silver" threading, feels like camel-hair (it is camel-hair, llama and virgin wool), and will "hold the line" against anything. $35.

A Rainbow Yoke

in hand-knitted effect is the accent of this wool-knit outfit. Shading from pink to red on a black outfit, chrysanthemum shades on brown or Spanish tile, varying shades of blue on navy. $16.50.

Lime Green

gold, Persian rose and heaven blue, are the phosphorescent shades in this model of wool crepe Charlette. Adapted after Goupy, in sizes 12 to 18—one of three new models in this fabric, at $19.75.

Chanel Stripes

in a new lumber-jacket model of knitted wool. The ground is flecked mascara brown, Algerie, dark green or blue, and the stripes in striking red, orange and yellow shades. Sizes 12 to 20. Priced $19.75.

For Occasions After the Game

For the Military Ball, for private dinners, for gayer-than-ever frat dances, our sections of Evening Fashions have called out all the reserves in their vast preparations.

Gowns, Wraps and Accessories have all been chosen with the idea that unusual significance will be given to every occasion of Saturday night, with undeniable smartness demanded in clothes and correctness observed to the last detail.

Misses' Dance and Dinner Frocks of flat crepe, satin, triple-sheer crepe, velvet, lace, taffeta are observing every new noteworthy after-dark fashion. $16.50, $25, $39.50, and up.

Evening Wraps

of velvet, in the dramatically smart black with white fur or in colors, the new full-length and forty-inch models, $16.50, $25, $39.50, and up to $100.

Bunny Wraps

from short-jacket to seven-eighths length, $16.50 to $59.50.

"Varsity"

This hat will be "tackled without loss" by chilling breezes, snow or light rains; for it is made of mesh angora woolen that wouldn't turn a hair in a blizzard, and its brim snuggles right down into the coat collar. In Crimean green, Colonial red, Spanish tile, Marina blue and beige.

$2.75

Slip Into Swanettes

Before the Game

It will take more than enthusiasm to keep you warm in the Stadium on Saturday . . . so step into a pair of these luxuriously warm Swanettes—form-fitting panties that you can pull on over your sheer lingerie before the game—and be perfectly comfortable till the game is over, no matter what the temperature!

From Switzerland—knitted of fine wool and silk, in an elastic-ribbed stitch that gives them their snug fit—and makes them so small "in the hand" that you can tuck them into your handbag. (And they slip on and off as easily as a glove!)

White and peach. Small, medium, and large sizes. $3.00.

... Horne's, Second Floor ...

Wear Angora Sports Socks

"Cold feet" are just passe among young things these days—even in sharp football weather!

Wear these angora sports socks over your silk stockings—they're all wool—as warm as fur, as light as a feather. Plain colors in maize, blue, green, tan, brown, navy, and white—to harmonize with any outfit. Sizes 8½ to 10½, at $1.50.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

To Keep Your Fingers Warm

Your hands will be toasting warm till the last minute of the game—if you wear these warm, lined gloves! Three styles to choose from—all of heavy, sportsy capeskin, in black or brown. One-clasp slip-ons, fur-lined; plain slip-ons, fleece-lined; and strap-wrist gauntlet style, fleece-lined. And they're all priced moderately at $2.95.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

The Stadium Will Be Chilly...

You'll need the warmth of a smart, plaid stadium robe . . . all-wool and with gay-looking fringed edges. Various colors and weights may be chosen, priced from $3.75 to $13.50.

LUZERNE SIFTS JAILBREAK

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 3 (AP.)—While state police details scoured the Pocono Mountains, authorities of the Luzerne County prison opened a rigid investigation today to determine what outside aid was given Wilfred Flood and Raymond Schutt in their daring dash to freedom early yesterday. The escaped prisoners are still at large.

Powerful influences that are alleged to have worked in behalf of Schutt since his arrest for the murder of A. Jannetti, boxing promoter, were being traced. Schutt was acquitted of the slaying, although three alleged accomplices were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. He was awaiting trial on other charges. Flood escaped death in the electric chair two weeks ago when his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment after execution respites that extended through the administrations of two Governors.

Fleeing in a stolen automobile, Flood and Schutt filled the machine with gas and oil at Stroudsburg and sped away without paying the attendant. Their trail has been unknown since then.

PENNSY RETIRES 54-YEAR MAN

Samuel Daugherty, of Apollo, with 54 years of service with the Pennsylvania Railroad to his credit, is one of 28 employes of that road being retired this month in its central region. Daugherty is yard conductor on the Conemaugh division.

Others to be pensioned are James E. Wallace, a conductor, of Brabson street, Midway; William E. Truax, conductor, of Elizabeth; Jacob Bendler, laborer, of 1119 Success street, Pittsburgh; David Thompson, car inspector, of 27 Superior street, Pittsburgh; Constantino Guaglianone, assistant foreman, of 542 Jacks street, Greensburg; Max A. Herrman, helper, of 1412 Rush street, Pittsburgh, and Andrew Planek, car repairman, of 7536 Susquehanna street, Pittsburgh.

'Ukulele Ike' Denied New Divorce Trial

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Denial of a motion for a new trial of the divorce suit between Cliff (Ukulele Ike) Edwards, of stage and screen, and Irene L. Edwards, former chorus girl, has been entered by the Superior Court. Edwards was awarded the divorce decree but the trial court refused to void a property settlement of $100,000 on the actor's plea that Mrs. Edwards had been guilty of misconduct.

BOY SLAYER, 7, GOES FREE

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Because of his age, Peter de Santis, who shot and killed his 4-year-old sister, Gloria, in a fit of anger after she had soiled one of school books Saturday night, will escape the retribution of the law.

After studying the statute, District Attorney Charles L. de Angelis, of Oneida County, announced that the youthful killer had been freed and had been returned to his home.

Peter recited the facts of the killing, telling how he had seized a shotgun which was in the house, loaded it, pressed the barrel to Gloria's chest and pulled the trigger. All because she soiled his books.

Stolen Calf Adds To Burdens of City Police

Another burden was added to that already on the shoulders of city police when they were asked to hunt for a speckled calf stolen from Mrs. Marie Johnson, of 876 Gassit street, early today.

Does Big Washing Before Suicide Try

DENVER, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Lillian Monroe, 38, shot and wounded herself, perhaps fatally, after doing a heavy washing yesterday. She told police:

"I've been wanting to do this for a long time, but I just had to get that washing done first."

Pattern 2165
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

You'll want at least one trotteur in your winter wardrobe, meaning of course, this slim tailored looking frock with becoming revers, pleated skirt and buttons placed for double breasted effect. It may be fashioned of sheer wool, jersey or tweed. Or, if you want it for more dressy occasions, you may choose satin or canton crepe. Colors are both gay and subdued, the favorites being Spanish tiles, green, brown, black and a glorious new bright blue.

Pattern 2165 is obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch fabric. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

The University of Pittsburgh debating team will meet the 1931 English universities' team at Pitt Saturday. The English team will meet the Seton Hill College team in Greensburg next Monday.

Pimples Itched and Burned and Hurt a Lot. Cuticura Healed.

"My face had a pile of pimples and blackheads. The pimples were small and red, and in the summer they used to itch and burn and hurt a lot. Some of them festered and looked very badly, also made me very uncomfortable. The trouble lasted about six months.

"I tried a lot of different remedies but none of them did any good. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few days I could see an improvement. I continued using them and in a short time I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Sarah Smith, 327 Washington St., W. Pittston, Pa., Jan. 19, 1931.

FUR CAPELETS ENHANCE THE NEWEST WINTER GARMENTS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Fur is on the way up. For almost every new suit and coat at hand has a top of fur, with the bulky effect so handled that it is ever so smart. That is, the bodice part does seem bulky when contrasted with the plain, wrap-round line of the skirt. The fur capelets are ever so good-looking and the woman who thinks that her type is of the quaint, old-world variety has by now, no doubt, invested in a coat that features a detachable fur cape or cape effect. It should enhance not only the charm of the quaint type, but will become the piquant type of beauty that we admire so today. Try it and see. But back to our bulky bloused and bodice effects. It is remarkable how this phase of the mode has taken. One sees it used by almost every house and women welcome it because it is so radically new and different from anything that they have worn for some time. It is becoming to almost all figures and that is something. Anyway, if you are buying a coat this year and do not contemplate purchasing another next winter, I would advise you to select one of the more conservative models, as the fur top coat is certainly quite obviously 1931.

TODAY WE SHOW sketches of two garments that feature fur at the top. The first model is of black dull-surfaced broadcloth with black galyak and is a suit. The wide belt is of patent leather. Three small fur godets inserted in the peplum give a smart flare to the silhouette. The lower part of the skirt is also slightly flared. A blouse of bright green marocain is worn outside the skirt, reaching almost to the edge of the coat peplum. It is a Bernard et Cie model.

OF THE MANY beautiful coats in the Vionet collection, the model here depicted, attracted much attention because of its elegance. The material is dull-surfaced velours de laine in dark brown and the close cape is of lustrous dark mink. Like all Vionet coats, this model is fitted at the waistline and has circular skirt.

Church Donation Day To Be Held Annually

The Harvest Home donation day for needy families held Sunday by the Brookline Methodist Episcopal Church, was so successful that it will be made an annual affair, the Rev. J. W. Kelly, pastor, announced. A large quantity of groceries was contributed to be used, it is to relieve needy members of the church, the residue to go to other destitute of Brookline, and to charitable organizations.

Booksellers Protest Sidewalk Vendors

Street corner magazine vendors are violating the law and creating "unfair competition" to established book and periodical dealers, the Pittsburgh Booksellers' Association charged in a communication to City Council.

All the dealers on street corners are operating without licenses to sell magazines, it was charged. The association asked a hearing to present its accusations to Council in more detail.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Last night the smart set was all in a whirl, what with three theaters to attend, the Alvin, where "The Mikado" is appearing; the Nixon, with "Earl Carroll's Vanities," and the Irish Players at the Twentieth Century Club, in "The Playboy of the Western World." The Irish Players, of course, are to present a different play each night and on several afternoons each week.

And never were audiences more scintillating, more smart, than last evening, strolling about the Gold Velvet, and preferably black, seems to be the reigning favorite for the late fall months. White fox is still notably in the fashion to bedeck evening wraps. Metallic materials so much in vogue now were much in evidence, too.

Lady Gregory's "The Rising of the Moon" and Synge's "Playboy of the Western World" charmed, delighted and fascinated a capacity audience of the smart set at the Twentieth Century Club last night. And Lennox Robinson, the Irish playwright directing the players, made a certain speech, and it was a great night, altogether. Tonight the players will present Mr. Robinson's "Far-Off Hills Are Green."

And never were there more entertaining young ushers than last night when the debs of the season passed out programs and escorted guests to their seats.

Blonde Rita Borntraeger in a black velvet gown with the decolletage outlined in rhinestones captivated the ushers. Betty Higgins chose black satin. Ellinor Reed wore marine blue satin, and Katherine Frazer chose American beauty velvet having revers of the material forming brief sleeves and tying a sash in back.

Caroline Mitchell was stately in black velvet with one of the brief new sleeves of white velvet. Virginia Doyle looked charming in a brown crepe frock having short chartreuse green crepe sleeves and a twisted girdle of green and brown.

Lucile Todd chose a smart gown of black velvet having a peplum and a pert belt of red and gold. Margaret Mann was in green with canary yellow as an accent; Elizabeth Robinson chose sapphire blue lace and Lucretia Billings was charming in buttercup yellow lace. Petite Gretchen Bickford wore black velvet.

Charming Buds Aid

Among the boxholders was Mrs. Katherine Murdock. Mrs. Murdock's daughters, Helen and Betty, I saw in the foyer intermission. Helen wore a dark red net dress, the color of autumn leaves late in the fall, over a leaf print. Ruffles of note were used to simulate a bustle. Betty Murdock wore aquamarine blue satin.

The Lennox Robinsons had a box, of course, with Mrs. Robinson wearing flame crepe with a pleated skirt. Rebecca Doyle in brown lace arrived with her mother, Mrs. Charles L. Doyle, who chose brown lace, too. And Neil Stewart Zang in printed crepe came with her mother, Mrs. William Zang, in sapphire blue satin.

Gay Fall Hues

Mrs. A. Cameron Mann chose white chiffon. Mrs. John W. Lawrence was there, and La Salle Dorrance in black velvet, arrived in a party with her house guest, Ruth Seymour, of Nayatt, R. I.

Sitting in a box were Mrs. Preston B. Schoyer in black and Mrs. H. Allen Machesney.

Mrs. Wilmer Jacoby in white satin with a coat of mink arrived with Wilhelmina Balken, in pale blue satin and a cloth of silver wrap.

Others there were Miss Ethel Spencer wearing garnet velvet; Elizabeth Jenkins in black chiffon and lace, Mrs. T. Clifton Jenkins and Betty Dunlap in white and black satin.

Mrs. S. B. McCormick, Mrs. Robert Book, Mrs. Charles Scull, Mrs. Benjamin Dangerfield, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. Charles Dahlinger.

The Nixon had its quota of first-nighters, including the John Jackson Bissells, with Mrs. Bissell in a smart gown of deep ivory satin with a deep cape collar. Mrs. James Edward Lewis, I noticed, wearing a flowing gown of black crepe with traceries of iridescent beading.

First Nighters

The J. O. Burgwins were chatting in the foyer during the intermission, and Mrs. Burgwin was wearing wood brown crepe with a brief wrap of brown and gold lame.

Susan Potter O'Neil, stately in black velvet, was with Lydia Irish, lovely in white crepe, molded to the figure to below the hipline, and fluttering in a dozen godets to the floor, with which she wore a finger-tip jacket of crimson crepe.

Suzanne Trimble wore brown chiffon with an ermine coat, and Mrs. Jack Whitcomb chose blue satin.

Lois Tack's debut has been postponed because of her illness. The daughter of the Harry Sweetser Tacks, of Pine road, Sewickley, was to have been presented Thursday. No further plans for her debut are announced.

Bud Not To Bow

Mrs. John Jackson Bissell is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the annual Cinderella ball, to be held November 25, for the benefit of St. Margaret's Hospital, in the University Club. Mrs. Blair Childs is vice chairman; Mrs. R. F. Moreland is in charge of tickets;

Membership to Be Closed Monday At Meeting Being Held in Home of President

Another junior organization has appeared on the club map—the Young Women's Club of Duquesne, an independent group of 35 members who have organized for welfare, social and cultural purposes. Mrs. Albert Brown is president; Mrs. Edwin Montgomery, vice president; Mrs. Dennis Crowley, secretary, and Mrs. George Ramsay, treasurer.

The members are meeting twice each month at their homes and will hold their third session Monday evening, with Mrs. Brown as hostess. The membership will be closed at this meeting and will be limited to its closing number. Mrs. T. J. Tindall, of the Duquesne Women's Civic Club, is senior advisor for the new organization.

Election of officers will take place Thursday at the season's initial meeting of the Mothers' Club of Phi Delta Theta at the fraternity house, North Dithridge street. During the tea hour, Mrs. Dorsey Griffith and Mrs. J. Audley Pierce will pour.

Tonight in the home of Miss Marion Wiegel, Creighton road, the November meeting of the Junior Crafton Woman's Club will be held. Mrs. Herbert Hezlep, Jr., will have charge of the program consisting of a talk by Miss Olivia Koenig on the International Art Exhibit, music by the club choral and a report of the State Federation convention by the president, Miss Mary Florence Taylor.

Alumnae To Meet

A meeting of the National Park Seminary Alumnae Association will be held at the Pittsburgh Athletic Club next Friday, at 1 o'clock. Hostesses for the bridge luncheon will be Mrs. John Conwell, Mrs. H. G. Florin and Miss Harriet Hespenheide and the business session will be conducted by the new president, Mrs. James S. Lochhead.

Instead of holding a large benefit as last year, each member this year is to earn a certain amount so that the association will not be compelled to decrease its donations.

Wilkinsburg Woman's Club Moves Date of Meeting Up From November 16 to 9

The next meeting of the Wilkinsburg Woman's Club has been changed from November 16 to next Monday evening. It will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, with Dr. Phillips Thomas as speaker. His subject is to be "By-Products of Radio."

Reports comprised the interest for yesterday's meeting of the club, the State Federation convention, the Congress of Clubs and the Allegheny County Federation quarterly meetings being detailed by the delegates who attended them.

The club trio, consisting of Mrs. J. W. Ellenberger, Mrs. Harry A. Pharco and Mrs. E. E. Ludwig, made its first appearance before the club. Wilbur F. Maxwell spoke in behalf of the Welfare Fund drive and Mrs. Chester B. Story for the Professional Players.

Club Notes

The College Club's Friday afternoon program will include a tour through the International Exhibition at 2:45 o'clock, under the direction of Miss Margaret Lee. Afterward tea will be served at the club with Mrs. Edgar R. Cate as hostess.

College Club

'Playboy of Western World' Gives Irish Players Fine Opening

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Why the Irish should become ireful over "The Playboy of the Western World," John M. Synge's blithe comedy, is a question the large and fashionable audience at the Twentieth Century Club last night failed to solve. But then the Norwegians are wroth over "Peer Gynt," which is Ibsen's "Playboy," and nations must let off steam anyhow!

George Seibel

The Abbey Players, opening almost a full week of repertoire here, must have felt as if the entente cordiale between Pittsburgh and Dublin were perfect. No one had any difficulty in understanding their brogue, which is really the standard English of Dr. Johnson's and Oliver Goldsmith's day. Those worthies always took "tay," just as Sir Thomas Lipton did.

There is something more characteristic than the brogue—and that is the rich poetic color of the language. The love-making of Christie and Pegeen in the last act of the "Playboy" is not surpassed by the ardent ecstasies of Romeo and Juliet in old Verona.

And it may be said that Michael James in his drunken joviality would find a boon companion in Sir Toby Belch.

With high poetry and racy humor, embroidered upon a plausible plot, Synge's comedy seems to be of the stuff that will endure. It has endured 23 years.

DO THEY REALLY ACT?

But many people who saw the Abbey Players last night will ask: "Do they really act?" For there was little of obvious effort about their acting, little straining after effect, little artificiality and emphasis. Even their makeup seemed to be ingrown.

Each player has some individual quality that impresses the audience. With Eileen Crowe it is her voice, vibrant with music and sentiment. With Barry Fitzgerald it is his droll and impish manner, benevolently alcoholic. With Arthur Shields it is a romantic awkwardness, as he invents tall lies to help himself out of a quandary. With Maureen Delany it is a canny superiority complex flavored with an amorous wink. With Michael J. Dolan it is a quiet unction that reminds one of Joe Jefferson.

Yes, these players know the art of acting—which is the art of not seeming to act. And in the preliminary sketch by Lady Gregory, "The Rising of the Moon," Dolan also showed that the Irish have the gift of song.

THE PLAY'S THE THING

The performance as a whole afforded proof again that this comedy of Synge's is the real thing. It is not only effective drama, but has the values of great literature. Synge used to look, as he has told, through a chink in the floor of an old Wicklow house where he was staying, to hear what was being said by the servant girls in the kitchen. And the most extravagant poetry in his lines he got from his wild Irish, who have "a popular imagination that is fiery and magnificent and tender."

Compare that love scene with the one in "Romeo and Juliet," and ask yourself why the coast of Mayo should be less romantic than the slopes of the Appenines.

And don't we see during every murder trial how the murderer is turned into a popular hero? So we should not see anything absurd or impossible about the glorification of Christie after he has bragged about killing his father. Indeed, we feel almost resentful when the father turns up to spoil the romance of Christie and Pegeen.

These excellent players from Dublin will present one of Lennox Robinson's own plays, "The Far-Off Hills," also at the Twentieth Century Club, this evening.

Kay Francis is involved in a triangle of romance, mystery and murder in "24 Hours," film opening Friday in the Penn.

Schumann-Heink Chuckles In the Face of Age in 'Mikado' Revival

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Mme. Schumann-Heink came to the Alvin stage last night in a revival of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "The Mikado." And in this matter of fact statement is a drama that defies the confines of any stage.

"I am young tonight," she said, in that soft German accent of hers, between intermission curtains.

Sincerely and profoundly she was applauded. Her eyes twinkled. She took a grand pose.

"And I am just an old tramp—that's why I'm making this tour," she laughed. "And you laugh and be happy, too."

Then she added: "Zu lachen ist ein Liebling der Goetter zu sein." (To laugh is to be a favorite of God.")

There was a mist over those usually bright eyes of hers now. It was a mist that hid a drama of a lifetime.

BACK TO MAKE-BELIEVE

Mme. Schumann-Heink, adorable and grand lady of opera and concert, for a brief moment had allowed those in the audience, with the eyes to see, an intimate glimpse into her heart. Then the curtain dropped again. She was seen no more as Mme. Schumann-Heink. She reverted back to Katisha, the comic and elderly Japanese lady, who was in love with the son of the Mikado.

And she was an amusing Katisha. She squinted her eyes. She puckered her lips into comic contortions. She gestured with an obstinate fan. And she sang in a voice that held much of its old fervor. She sang "Hearts Do Not Break" beautifully. She sang with the same courage that must have been hers on her long-ago debut. In all, she participated in four numbers.

ELEMENT OF FRESHNESS

"The Mikado," in spite of the wear of time, has retained an element of freshness. Its Japanese settings, costumes and facial makeups were sufficient. And the cast assembled about Mme. Schumann-Heink was without fault. The voice of the men's chorus was virile. The voice of the women's chorus was satisfactory.

Marian Palmer was a cute and captivating Japanese maiden. Robert Pitkin wrung the comedy from his role of Ko-Ko, lord high executioneer. When you consider his "wisecracks" were limited to such as "can't you see I'm soliloquizing, you've interrupted an apostrophe," he deserves double praise. Yes, both vocally and otherwise, he was an amusing fellow. Applause also went to others, including Charles E. Galagher, as a one-man government, and John Dunsmure, as the Mikado.

But, after all, this revival of "The Mikado" is really Mme. Schumann-Heink. And she had an elusive grandeur about her last night that challenged word expression. Maybe, and in spite of herself, they will make a Shakespearean actress of her yet. She confided laughingly that this is what they are trying to do.

Nixon Shows 'Vanities' For Fun

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Vanities," eighth edition—not the ninth, which is showing in the Earl Carroll Theater, New York—came to the Nixon last night, and the production revealed itself as the usual type of amusement sponsored by Mr. Carroll when he sets out to stage a big revue. Which is to say that it has numerous beautiful specimens of eye-filling femininity, posed against varied backgrounds which enhance the picture, song, dancing and comedy. These things, as stated, are usual in affairs of this nature and the public has come to expect even such richness of costuming and novelty of effect, consequently, the extraordinary is commonplace.

Hence, the Earl Carroll "Vanities," in that respect, is just another revue, cut to familiar pattern and divided into as many as 66 scenes. If viewed analytically it will be deemed to run heavier on the comedy end than some other productions of the same type and to be less impressive from the musical angle.

SHOW OF LAUGHS

But, since people want to laugh these days, that does not set so badly, and the audience of the opening night found plenty to laugh at, little really enthralling in the way of songs, but dancing that merited the strong applause it received.

The comedy was taken care of by three masters of the grotesque, Herb Williams, Chaz Chase and Jack Benny, properly the stars of the production. Williams' eccentricities were scattered through various skits, and reached their highest peak of the ludicrous when he appeared as a pianist in a broadcasting station—YWCA, according to Announcer Benny.

EATS HIS SHIRT

Chase also had 'em rolling in the aisles, as the saying is, when he did an excruciatingly funny dance, and finished by appearing to eat his shirt-front, his buttonhole bouquet, cigar, cigaret and lighted matches.

The fun of the skits was of the raw variety, cleverly dramatized.

Vivian Fay gave a beautiful exhibition of dancing, and her one appearance earned her a storm of applause. The same reward was accorded to the Stroud Brothers for their acrobatic dancing specialty, and to Curtis Coly for eccentric stepping. Among the more striking scenes was a fan dance, "Heart of Daisies," with Renee Landau as the soloist. The Collette Sisters, John Hale and Harry Stockwell also pleased.

Warner House Wired So Deaf May Hear

The Manor Theater, Squirrel Hill, has been equipped so that deaf patrons can hear talkies. Seats have been wired and headphones are plugged into sockets at the side of the seat. The phone sets are supplied gratis by the manager to those who apply for them. At the first show given after the installation, 16 persons successfully used the new service, the first of its kind in Western Pennsylvania. It will be installed in other Warner theaters, John H. Harris, general manager, states.

I. K. S. Players to Open Season Tonight

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement Players will begin their season tonight with Sydney Grundy's three-act comedy, "A Pair of Spectacles," in the Theresa L. Kaufmann Theater. Louis Isaacs is the director, assisted by Alfred L. Goldenberg. I. Barry Feinstein and Henry Goldman head the technical staff. The cast is headed by Anne Phyllis Hanick, Harry Ziff and Hyman Bennett.

Lily Pons Sings Friday In Syria Mosque

Lily Pons, colaratura soprano of the Metropolitan, will open the May Beegle concerts in Syria Mosque Friday night. In addition to the program of arias and songs previously announced, she will offer "Pamina's Aria" from "The Magic Flute," by Mozart. Her opening group will be "Amarilla," by Caccini; "Plaisir d'amour," by Martini, and "Lo Hear the Gentle Lark," by Bishop.

'Great Tenor' Jannings Is Fine

By MILDRED FILLMORE

The silent films used to have one actor who could always be counted on to act—Emil Jannings. The talkies drove him home to Germany, but now he has come back in a German film at the Avenue Cinema, which is far ahead of any recent picture from Hollywood.

"Der grosse Tenor" (The Great Tenor) follows the fortunes of a Viennese operatic idol, who devotes more time to wine and women than to song. How he hides the ladies that pursue him in his dressing room when his wife comes supplies comedy at the outset; then his tour of South America, where his voice goes to pieces, supplies scenes of pathos; and his milking a cow on his Tyrolean farm when he gets home turns everything into a domestic symphony until he suddenly recovers his voice and sings "Lohengrin" as a happy ending.

'Beggar's Opera' Here November 11, 12

"The Beggar's Opera" will play a limited engagement of two evenings in Carnegie Music Hall on Wednesday and Thursday, November 11 and 12. It will be presented by a cast of players direct from London. One of the features of the opera is the men's chorus with the famous drinking song, "Fill Every Glass," written by Handel for his opera, "Renaldo."

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Old Doc Kenyon, by which title we mean to identify young Prof. Elmer Kenyon, head of the school of drama, Carnegie Tech, states that the Stratford Players, coming to the Nixon next week, are the best Shakespearean organization in this country today. He makes the bold declaration in the current bulletin of the Pittsburgh Drama League, and indicates as his reason the fact that the players interpret the plays for their own worth, and not to give some star a "fat" part by altering the text. Seats will be procurable Thursday at the box office.

Small Timer says that perhaps China and Japan would stop squabbling if we told them what the World War did to our likker.

The male chorus goes its leather-lunged way with scant feminine competition in "The Student Prince," which will return to the Alvin next Monday. Gals are the stand-bys in most musical plays, but when we have a university we have to have a university atmosphere, so, in "The Student Prince" the boys must whoop it up for dear old Heidelberg, for Gertrude Lang and for the prince. Thursday will be the first day for tickets.

Small Timer, speaking of waves, states that crime seems to have got a "permanent."

Among the plays for the very near future are the second productions of the Theater Guild and Professional Players subscription series, in the Nixon and Alvin, respectively. Like the first plays of these two groups, both will come the same week, beginning Monday, November 16. In the Alvin, Helen Hayes will be seen in "The Good Fairy," while the Nixon is offering "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," with Zita Johann and Glenn Anders.

Travel Talk by Newman Takes in London

"London Life," illustrated travel-talk by E. M. Newman, will be given in Carnegie Music Hall this evening. It shows royalty at classic race track meets and the ceremony known as the trooping of the colors. In contrast is the poverty-stricken East End and a stroll along the Embankment, where pathetic human wrecks, both men and women, take refuge. All of the well known points of interest figure in this traveltalk along with sights the average tourist misses.

Academy Stage Offers 'Frivolities of '31'

"Frivolties fo 1932" is the latest Columbia burlesque in the Academy. Charles (Bimbo) Davis, tramp comedian, and Bobby Vail, eccentrice buffoon, head the cast. Margie Bartel is featured in the feminine contingent. Billie Diamond and Nazarro Holla remain as extra features, presenting their specialties on the new glass runway.

Going Around in Washington

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.

It is characteristic of the economic liberalism and broad humanitarianism of Senator Robert F. Wagner, that he, a New York City Tammany Democrat, should be one of the leaders of the Progressive movement in Congress advocating far-reaching reforms in the industrial system.

Wagner is a staunch party man. He makes no claims to being a Progressive. Yet, his were the three major measures enacted last Congress that struck at business depressions and his is the unemployment insurance plan that is now under consideration by a special Senate committee which was created at his request.

As a national figure Wagner's economic liberalism may occasion surprise, but in New York City and New York state it is nothing new. In his long service to the state Legislature he was one of the leaders that put through the many social and labor reforms that make the state's code in these matters the most advanced and enlightened in the country.

He worked and voted for workmen's compensation, mothers' pension, protection of women and children workers, and factory supervision. As chairman of the New York State Factory Investigating Commission he directed a sweeping probe into factory conditions that resulted in drastic legislation improving sanitary and safety accommodations for the protection of workers.

His brilliant work on this committee gave him a state-wide prominence that finally led to a place on the state's Supreme Court. There after eight years of distinguished service he was called upon by his old friend and political comrade, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, to carry the party's banner in a hard fight against the re-election of the powerful Republican leader, Senator James Wadsworth. Wagner won handsomely.

As a Tammany and close friend of Gov. Smith's his conduct in the Senate was closely watched. Wagner won immediate popularity by his modesty, unfailing courtesy, and broad grasp of affairs. He works hard at his senatorial duties both in committee and on the floor. He is one of the most attentive listeners to debate. He never takes the floor until he has carefully prepared his address.

Wagner had warned against the depression in the height of the business inflation. He tried to interest Congress in the creation of a great public building reserve pool that could be tapped in slack times to keep factories in operation and workers employed. When the crash came in October, 1929, he was ready with his plan.

Two of his measures were enacted, after considerable opposition from Republican sources. The third, setting up a national employment exchange system, was vetoed by the President. This measure had the united support of organized labor and was adopted by large majorities in both branches of Congress. Wagner has announced his determination to reintroduce it at the coming session and to press it for enactment over the President's disapproval if he again rejects it.

Wagner is a widower. He was born in Germany, coming to this country as a boy. He worked his way to an education and became a lawyer. He has resided in the same old fashioned apartment in New York City for more than a quarter of a century. He is up for re-election for a second term next year.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 30 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

WRIT RESTRAINS PAINTER UNION

Judge George V. Moore yesterday granted an injunction against District Council No. 1, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, restraining them from interfering with any contract of the Employing Painters of Pittsburgh.

The plaintiffs charged the painters went on strike October 28 in violation of an agreement to submit differences to arbitration. The painters contended that all of the employers had not adhered to the wage scale.

More Orders Needed For Blind Workmen

A public appeal was made today by officials of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind workshop, 434 Boulevard of the Allies, for additional work for their blind workmen.

More orders, the statement said, are needed if the shops are to be kept on a full-time basis.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Radio monarchs allotted M. Laval considerable of their precious time. They neglected M. Laval's pretty daughter Jose until shortly before Mayor James J. Walker escorted her up the gangplank of the Ile de France.

Serious speeches were the rule exclusively. The spark of human interest was entirely absent. Only the newspapers told us that pretty daughter Jose likes cherrystone clams, thought American drinking water the equal of the better French mineral waters, was fascinated by the traffic lights and the procession of automobiles on American streets, enjoyed the smartness of New York's shops and the cosmopolitan flavor of Washington. Radio muffed an opportunity when it failed to elicit such viewpoints from the girl. . . As for pere Laval, people tuned into his talks out of curiosity. They couldn't understand him, but they wanted to know his voice. The voice they found was less nasal than that of most Frenchmen.

Musicians say they never tire of playing the "Stars and Stripes." They do tire, however, of playing the "William Tell Overture." Here are the two standbys of the brass band. First sign that the communists have taken over the land will be when they are no longer aired. . . . Vincent Lopez's piano manner always suggests a kitten on the keys. Radio studios provide little shelter for visiting English comedians. They would be welcome for a change if only to hear "What ho" and "Oh, I say" spoken with all the inflection of Piccadilly.

Colored jazz bands are now being booked for road tours by radio concert bureaus. Best of such outfits now in New York are those which keep time to the gyrations of Cab Calloway and Noble Sissie. Calloway goes in for more monkeyshines than Sissie. Sissie is the better musician. He, once you will recall, wrote a great jazz song, "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

Eddie Cantor has changed his technique on the radio, has abandoned gags and gone in for a special microphone continuity concerned with a comic campaign for the presidency. The new continuity, they say, has clicked, has sent the sales of coffee leaping. The noise of the cash register has caused Cantor to ask for and get a big increase in his radio fee, though it doesn't yet equal the figure paid Chevalier . . . Not until Cantor began to study radio technique was he considered a success on the air.

SCIENCE'S LATEST DISCOVERY
FOR PYORRHEA AND TOOTH DECAY PREVENTION

DR. WALLS, M. D. & D. D. S., Johns Hopkins, Harvard, University of Paris, Hospitals London, Edinburgh, Paris.

Experiments Prove Value of Treatments
Anti-Acid Powder, Diet, Elimination, Balanced Living Important

EDITORIAL—Dr. Walls says "I believe if mothers have proper diet, children will have good teeth."

(By E. M. Cavitt, Correspondent)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 3—A large percentage in the reduction of tooth decay and pyorrhea can be safely said to be possible by the use of a new anti-acid powder remedy. The preventive measures were established by experiments, and conducted by Dr. H. V. Walls, M. D. and D. D. S., corner Fifth Ave. and Market St., Pittsburgh, back from the Eighth International Dental Congress in London and Paris, who has used this treatment for a number of years in preventing the decay of teeth and treatment of pyorrhea.

You are welcome to consult Dr. Walls about your Teeth and Gums at his office and Dental Clinic daily, evenings or Sundays, without charge, at 5th Ave. and Market St., Pittsburgh.

MUSCULAR-RHEUMATIC PAINS

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant" because its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. It gets action and is not just a salve. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

FRESH in nature's way

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can!

WE NOW PRESENT

By Darrell V. Martin
Radio Editor

PARDON US, Sisters of the Skillet started out in life as icemen . . . so no one should dispute their knowledge of household problems . . . Dumke, born in Bloomington, Ind., greased locomotives for $9 a week before getting the Red Grange complex . . . his partner, Edward East, born in that Indiana town famous for its football teams, dug holes for gas mains at 20 cents an hour . . . Pennsylvania is supposed to have 1,444,704 radio sets and 5,778,816 listeners . . . second to New York with 1,886,208 sets and 7,544,832 listeners . . . Illinois comes third and California fourth . . . There are more listeners in the South Hills than the state of Nevada (27,452) . . . New Mexico and Wyoming look very pale also . . . In New York they're betting dollars to doughnuts that the Diction Medal is to be received by either John S. Young or Alois Havrilla of NBC or David Ross or Kenneth Roberts of CBS . . . and NBC feels confident. Mr. Aylesworth having ordered his red network to broadcast the whole proceeding Thursday afternoon, November 12, at 12:15 p. m.

Darrell V. Martin

Walter Winchell has what listeners like and is becoming more and more popular as a radio m. c. . . . Besides playing the CBS-WJAS circuit at 8:45 tonight, Walter alley-oops for Wayne King's Orchestra on WCAE at 10 o'clock . . . and anent this cigaret situation we have a report that Weber and Fields as extra talent are to receive their walking papers on Saturday, November 21.

Question a Day:

Who is that fellow with the funny laugh in the "Three Bakers" program?—Mrs. G. C., Turtle Creek.

Answer—Robert Effros, cornet player in the orchestra. He was the only one who could qualify for the role properly.

Studio Lights

The most outstanding thing about KDKA's birthday anniversary was the excellent half-hour program furnished the network by Zoel Parenteau and his orchestra . . . NBC executives were highly elated with Parenteau's work and sent a telegram of congratulation . . .

Shock! The mystery singer of "hot" tunes with Sam Lanin's Orchestra is Robert Simmons, operatic tenor . . . when the audition was held to pick a singer for this program, Simmons competed against half a dozen singers who specialize in "hot" music exclusively . . .

If you had a dollar for every mile of wire used in that resplendent NBC-CBS hookup Sunday night you could live handsomely the rest of your life on the income . . . it took 100,000 miles of cable to link 200 stations . . .

You may hear John Philip Sousa and his band, the Revelers too, at 8:30 tonight over WEAF, WTIC, WGY, KYW, WRVA, WHAS . . .

Most announcers would make good firemen . . . they play checkers better than anything else . . .

Last night CBS gave Leopold Stokowski a medal . . . which was infinitely better than making him a vice president . . . but what's this we read about NBC snatching him away for a program tomorrow night . . . this competition is terrible. . . .

Olga Elkouri is the girl who typewrites rhythm on that NBC-KDKA orchestra feature every Tuesday night at 10 . . . something really catchy. . . .

Unless Myrt and Marge perk up on that 7 o'clock feature for CBS, Amos 'n' Andy needn't worry . . . it is too early to say much. . . .

Roslyn Silber (Rosie in the Goldbergs) narrowly escaped pneumonia in that recent illness . . . her absence rather upset the balance of this sketch.

Three of Notre Dame's "Four Horsemen" are to be heard on KDKA tomorrow night at 10:15 . . . Elmer Layden, fourth member of the quartet and coach at Duquesne University, has found it impossible to make the trip to New York in time for the program, which is to be announced by Grantland Rice . . . Chick Meehan, coach of New York U., is billed to speak.

Today's Tid Bit:

Have you noticed a similarity in the wit of Eddie Cantor and Ray Perkins? The latest from NBC's "Old Topper" —

"The best 10 years of a woman's life is from 29 to 30."

BOY SCOUT GETS HERO AWARD

Woodrow W. Miller, 19, of 1313 McNeilly avenue, Dormont, has been awarded a certificate of heroism by Daniel Beard, National Boy Scout Commissioner, for rescuing a lad in the Dormont swimming pool three years ago.

Miller, then a student in Dormont High School, and a member of the Dormont Presbyterian church Scout Troop, rescued Henry Di Matteo, aged 10, of 2723 Philadelphia avenue, Dormont, unconscious at the bottom of the pool and aided in resuscitating him. Miller is now employed by the Mellon National Bank.

Author, Lawyer Will Address 'Y' Meetings

Attorney Dan T. R. Dickson, of the American Legion, and Kirby Page, author of "National Defense" and editor of The World Tomorrow, will be the principal speakers Friday and Saturday at the world education institute on the University of Pittsburgh campus.

Sponsored by the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, the institute will consist of three meetings the first day and one on Saturday, the latter scheduled at the Chamber of Commerce. The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will be guests at the closing session.

Missing Farmer Being Sought Here

Police today were asked to search for Giles G. Smith, of Pomeroy, O., who left there for Pittsburgh with a truckload of farm produce on October 22. His driver returned to the farm the next day, saying Smith intended to remain another day in Pittsburgh. He has not been heard from since.

Relatives said he had $1,000 in cash when he left his driver.

GRILL SUSPECT IN HOLDUP SHOOTING

Gasoline Station Attendant Shot, Accuses Prisoner From Bed in Hospital

Homicide detectives today continued efforts to build a case around Harry Littell, 38, of 6101 Broad street, whose arrest in connection with the shooting of Edward Kirkland, filling station attendant, was announced last night.

The prisoner was identified by both Kirkland and the latter's wife, Mrs. Olive Kirkland, yesterday, according to Dective-Sergt. Samuel Wheeler. Kirkland made the identification from his bed in the Pittsburgh Hospital, where he is confined with several bullet wounds.

Kirkland was shot last Thursday, in the presence of his wife, by a bandit during a holdup of the station, Hamilton avenue and Putnam street. It was the third holdup of the station, police say.

Littell was arrested by Frank Morgan, veteran detective, and his partner, John C. Riley. The officers' investigation netted them a man who was able to point out Littell. With this man in custody the detectives searched the East End district for two days in an effort to find Littell. Littell was finally pointed out, and the arrest was made Saturday while he was at work in Callowhill street.

Littell denies the crime. He will be questioned further today.

JURORS VISIT WABASH TUBE

Planning to hold an open hearing Wednesday on the purchase of the Wabash Bridge and tunnel by Allegheny County for $3,000,000, six members of the October grand jury under Foreman A. T. Morris, yesterday inspected the property.

The hearing was ordered by Common Pleas Court Judge James H. Gray, acting upon a petition filed in Quarter Sessions Court by Attorney Louis Caplan.

The grand jury is to submit a final report to Judge Gray Saturday. The petitioners, Newton P. and Emma L. Hopkins, contended that the grand jury had approved the sale without having studied the specifications involved in the transaction.

Civic Club Praises City Economy Plan

A letter referring to the recent communication from the Civic Club expressing approval of the determination of Mayor Charles H. Kline and City Council to reduce the city budget and tax levy has been addressed to Council by the club, Warren I. Bickford, chairman of the committee on parks and recreation of the club, announced.

The letter states the opinion of the club that such reduction can be made through economical and efficient management and without seriously curtailing social and civic interests being rendered by the city.

Injured Nesbit Girl Still Unconscious

Physicians attending Nancy Elizabeth Nesbit at Casualty Hospital, Washington, today stated that she was still unconscious. They said she rested well during the night. Miss Nesbit was injured and her father, Harrison Nesbit, retired Pittsburgh banker, was killed when their automobile hit a parked truck near Washington two weeks ago.

Cash Register Music Greets Returning Laval

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

We won't know what happened on Laval's visit until we count our knives, forks and spoons.

Pierre is a hero in France. And that's a nation that classes the ringing of the cash register bell with grand opera.

France has been crying with a big loaf of bread under its arm for the last 10 years.

Paris is so happy over his visit here that we realize Pierre put something over on us. And we suspect it is a blanket of lilies.

The foreign newspapers acclaim Pierre as a combination David and Daniel. Dave is the boy who crossed Goliath and Dannie is the lad who led the walkout of the animal trainers.

We'll get Daniel when he comes back for his hat.

And if Washington continues to hold back the news we will have to try Baltimore.

COMICS MARK PARADE OF MUMMERS

East North Side Fete Attracts 2,000 Entrants; Valuable Prizes Awarded

Nearly 2,000 mummers participated in a gala Halloween festival last night on the North Side, under auspices of the Business Men's Association of the East North Side.

A feature of the celebration was a comic parade on East Ohio street from Montgomery street to Middle street, with Maggies, Jiggses, Popeyes, Skippies and other characters familiar through the comic weekly of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph. The parade, led by a police escort, was headed by brass bands and officers of the association.

Three-year-old Rodger McHugh, of 410 Sedgwick street, won the first prize of $10 for the best boy's makeup. The first prize for girls went to Miss Rose Spoaler, of 2930 Thirtieth street, for men to Mrs. Jessie Kocar, of 1807 Eberhardt street, and for women to Mr. W. A. Scholm, of 2046 Lowrie street.

Mrs. Frank Sippach, of 1211 Island avenue, won the prize for the prettiest and Clyde Mawhinney, of 131 Lafayette street, won the prize for the ugliest makeup.

The first group prize was awarded to Norman Dunbar, of 1301 Porterfield street; James Durler, of 1202 Sherman avenue; Sidney Shaw, of 830 Pennsylvania avenue; Eugene Koser, of 316 West North avenue; Martin Krons, of 1317 Palo Alto street, and James and Joseph McHale, of 1217 Filson street.

George A. Schumacher was general chairman. Judges included P. A. Freyvogel, Congressman Edmund F. Erk, Maj. H. D. Fowler, Charles Sturm, William G. Ziegler, William E. Braunlich, Henry A. Kleeb, Senator Morris Einstein, Robert Remey, James Brown, James C. Bingham, J. J. Kassouf, P. J. Garvey, David V. Murdock and City Councilmen Harry A. Little and Clifford B. Connelley.

5 EXECUTIVES TO AID HOOVER COMMITTEE

Group Seeks to Decrease Idleness By Installing 'Stagger' Work System

Steps toward increasing the number of workers in the smaller industrial plants of Western Pennsylvania were taken today with the appointment of a special committee of business executives to co-operate with President Hoover's employment program.

F. F. Schauer, vice president and general manager of the Equitable Gas Company, was named chairman of the committee composed of five members. The members are A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company; C. W. Bennett, vice president of American Sheet and Tin Plate Company; F. J. Chesterman, vice president and general manager of Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, and W. B. Spellmire, manager of General Electric Company of Pittsburgh.

The committee's work will coordinate with the programs of the American Engineering Council, according to K. F. Tresgo, secretary of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania, committee secretary. Local committees are serving throughout the country.

The smaller industrial plants will be assisted in establishing systems whereby more men can be added to payrolls through extension of the "stagger" systems. A series of meetings, with outstanding national industrial leaders as speakers, will be held during the winter to assist in the interchange of ideas.

UNITE FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Plans are underway to co-ordinate efforts to have State Road No. 8 improved between Wildwood and Butler. Sponsors of the plan point out that the highway, known as the Pittsburgh-Butler plank road, would, if in good condition, offer a short route between the two cities and give Pittsburgh another and more direct route to Lake Erie.

Butler citizens have agreed to co-operate with Pittsburgh interests in the project.

Gov. Pinchot and Secretary of Highways, Samuel S. Lewis are to be asked to take the matter under consideration in the near future.

Man Shot to Death During Argument

Wardell Jordan, Negro, 36, of 1834 Diaz way, died early today in Passavant Hospital shortly after he was shot during an argument in his home. Police are holding John Thomas, Negro, of the same address, in connection with the shooting. According to police, Thomas admitted the shooting, declaring that he fired in self-defense. He charged, according to police, that Jordan was intoxicated, and attacked him with a knife.

Burnt Cork Suspect Accused in Looting

His face blackened, Thomas Armstrong, 47, of 520 Arch street, was arrested in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards at Pennsylvania and Irwin avenues early today, after police say, he ransacked workmen's lockers there.

Armstrong was lodged in Woods Run Police Station on a charge of being a suspicious person. When taken into custody Armstrong had his face blackened with burnt cork.

Mt. Troy Road Boy Hit By Auto, Dies

Jack R. Hannon, 5, of 2323 Mt. Troy road, died in Allegheny General Hospital early today of a fractured skull incurred late yesterday when he was struck by an automobile. Police said the car was driven by Louis Michaels, of 1718 Lowrie street.

Council to Help Hoover Bank Stabilizing Plan

Acting in line with the President's plan to stabilize banks, City Council is scheduled to pass a resolution this week authorizing acceptance of gold notes of the National Credit Corporation as security for public funds.

The request was made by Controller James P. Kerr and Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, following passage of a resolution by the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association for such action.

Under present plans outlined by President Hoover and Treasury Department officials, the gold notes would be accepted at 90 per cent of their face value as security for the city's funds here. Such action would permit the release of other bona fide securities held by the city and would permit acceptance of the notes in lieu of any other obligations now provided as acceptable as security.

Other cities are scheduled to take similar action, it is said.

Craft Avenue Group Asks Playground

Council today had under consideration a petition from Craft avenue residents for the furnishing of a playground in that section. It was charged that traffi creates a menace to the children now forced to play in the streets without supervised recreational facilities.

Auto, Taxi, Collide, One Driver Arrested

William Dayne, 33, of 3953 Brighton road, was under arrest today on a charge of violating the automobile laws, after his car collided with a Green cab at Camrone street and Brighton road early today, according to police. Three passengers in the cab escaped uninjured.

INSTITUTE FIRE CHECKUP SHOWS 153 SPECIMENS LOST

MUSEUM HEADS WILL INSTALL SAFEGUARDS

Steel Doors Planned to Encase Wires; Many of Burned Skins Duplicated

A checkup of the fire in the Mammalian Laboratory of Carnegie Institute Saturday evening has disclosed that 153 specimens of the Pulitzer Angola Expedition were destroyed. Most of these were skins of mammals collected in Africa and the northern regions of America.

The chief loss was among the small mammals from Africa. One hundred and ten rodent and monkey specimens were destroyed: rats, mice, squirrels hares, rabbits and mongoose. Forty-three specimens of bears and representatives of the seal family were also destroyed.

This list consists of six black Pennsylvania bears, three Alaskan grizzlies, four Siberian polar bears, nine harbor seals, four bearded seals and six Atlantic walrus from the Arctic regions; one Stellers' sea lion from Alaska, two California sea lions from the Pacific Coast, one manatee from Florida and seven pangolins from Africa.

STARTS IN STOREROOM

The fire originated in the mammalian laboratory storage room on the third floor rear, from crossed wires in a switchboard, officials say. Sparks ignited the mahogany panel of the switchboard, according to Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute. He said:

"We are arranging to have steel doors put on all casings containing wires. They are found only in laboratories and are being encased in metal immediately. All the galleries and exhibit halls are of course fireproof."

The bulk of the collection, numbering about 7,000 specimens, was unharmed, according to Dr. Audrey Avinoff, director of Carnegie Institute. He said:

"Only two of the 42 cases in the laboratory were damaged. Fortunately we had 17 representative duplicates on exhibition. Of the large Arctic mammals destroyed, we have several important animals on exhibition. The giant sable antelope was preserved, and more than 150 of the larger mammals. The valuable bird, insect, reptile, fossil and plant collection are intact."

COSTLY EXPEDITION

The Pulitzer Angola Expedition, 1930-1931, estimated to have cost $45,000, was organized and financed by Ralph Pulitzer, of New York City, to collect specimens and materials for a habitat group of the rare giant sable antelope found only in a restricted area in Angola, Portuguese West Africa. The expedition was also equipped to make a general collection in all fields of natural history.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pulitzer, Seward Pulitzer and Mr. Rudyard Boulton, assistant curator of Carnegie Institute, and his wife left United States late in July, 1930, and returned in the spring of 1931.

In addition to the two specimens of the giant sable antelope, they brought back 125 large mammals, 150 small mammals, 1,300 birds, 800 reptiles and amphibians, 10,000 insects, as well as plants, fossil invertebrates, molluscs, fresh water fish and ethnological materials illustrating the customs of the Mbundu natives of Africa.

STAGE BEAUTIES ADMIRING MINIATURE OF FAMED ACTRESSES FROM YEARS 1962 TO 1930

65 Years of Fads 'Paraded' by Figures

By PENELOPE REDD

The older generation will be particularly interested in an exhibition of 25 miniature figures representing actresses famed from 1865 to 1930. They are on view on the third floor of McCreery's through this week.

Penelope Redd

Glamour is added to polonaises, basques, and other momentary whims of fashion because they adorn figures labeled Modjeska, Bernhardt, Lily Langtry or Lillian Russell as the styles mince along from Civil War days to 1883.

The romantic moods down to 1900 show Julia Marlowe wistful in black lace, Maxine Elliott in mutton leg sleeves, Maude Adams daintily attired, their professional charm was carried over into their ordinary gowns.

The three decades of the present century are represented by Blanch Bates, Margaret Anglin, Mary Mannering, Ethel Barrymore, Francis Starr, Elsie Janis, Elsie Ferguson, Jane Cowl, Leonore Ulric, Ina Claire, Marilyn Miller, Eva Le Gallienne, and Katherine Cornell.

The miniatures were unveiled by three young women from the cast of "The Mikado." Marian Palmer who plays "Yum Yum," Berta Donn the "Pitti Sing" and Rosamond Anthony the "Pee Bo" of the cast.

Child, 5, Drinks Moonshine, Dies

SOMERSET, Ky., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Opal Hancock, 5, died yesterday, 24 hours after drinking half a pint of moonshine whisky.

Charles Hancock, the father, told authorities the child emptied the half-filled bottle he had left on the kitchen table Sunday morning, at their home near Cedar Grove.

EAST END HELD BEST IN BUYING HABITS

Sun-Telegraph Acquires Survey of Markets Made By Polk; City Estimates

Better buying habits prevail in the East End district in comparison with other neighborhood sections, it was revealed today to members of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce at their weekly luncheon in the McCann dining room.

Medium and higher priced goods find a larger market, J. Victor Richardson, of the consumers' research division of R. L. Polk & Co., declared in announcing the findings of the recent market survey made in Pittsburgh. Mr. Richardson explained the survey had been purchased by the Sun-Telegraph for exclusive distribution to merchants of Pittsburgh. Analysis of the findings are available without any charge from the Sun-Telegraph to any merchant seeking to improve sales.

COMPARISONS MADE

Comparison of East End district figures with the city as a whole were made by the speaker. Family buying power groups were divided into three classes. The 6,700 families of the best class represent 7.63 per cent of the East End population as against 5.15 per cent of the city. The middle class of 42,020 families represent 47.85 per cent as against only 45.67 per cent. A lower percentage of poorer class buyers was revealed at 44.52 per cent in comparison with the city average of 49.18 per cent.

While the average rent paid in the city equals $39.72, the East End district average is $47.73. Analysis of buying power revealed 8.84 per cent pay high prices for merchandise. The city average is 6.67 per cent. Medium prices appeal to 40.77 per cent, while the city average for this class is 39.89 per cent. Less appeal for the low prices is seen in the comparison of 50.39 per cent, as against 53.64 per cent.

NEIGHBORHOOD BUYING

The percentage of buying in the neighborhood shops was cited as better than in the city as a whole. While 68.33 per cent of the city does not purchase on installment offers, the East End district percentage is higher at 69.35 per cent.

Districts represented in the East End were Morningside, East Liberty, Homewood, Schenley Farms, Squirrel Hill, Homestead, West Homestead, Munhall, Whitaker, Swissvale, Edgewood, East Pittsburgh, Turtle Creek, North Braddock, Braddock, Rankin, Wilkinsburg, Oakmont and Verona.

In only 8 hours have smoother, clearer skin with corrective cream advised by nurses

BEDTIME—close your eyes on a rough, scaly or blemished complexion. Next morning—open them wide on a softer, smoother, clearer complexion!

Over 8,000,000 women have had this thrilling experience. Now it is your turn. Get a small jar of that famous beauty cream which nurses so highly recommend—Noxzema Cream. Smooth it on at night. And 8 hours later, see what new loveliness just see application has brought your skin.

Noxzema beautifies in 3 different ways. Its bland oils soften rough, dry skin. Its gentle astringents reduce enlarged pores. Its mild medication heals blackheads, pimples—all other blemishes.

If your complexion is marred by any of these common faults—or if it simply needs general toning up—try Noxzema Cream. Use it at night as a corrective cream—during the day as a smooth, non-drying powder base. And watch your complexion grow younger—more appealing—every day!

Don't delay. Endyourcomplexion worries this quick, easy way. Get a small jar of Noxzema Cream today.

Your DENTIST knows why!

WHY is it that Squibb Dental Cream cleans teeth so thoroughly and safely? Why is it so pleasant-tasting—so soothing and refreshing to jaded mouths?

Your dentist knows why. He knows also that Squibb's is made with more than 50% Squibb Milk of Magnesia—wonderfully smooth, pure and palatable. And the chances are that he, himself, like many other modern dentists, uses and recommends Milk of Magnesia in the care of the teeth.

There is danger in using a dentifrice that promises too much. Harsh abrasives and powerful bleaches may work havoc with tooth-enamel or the delicate tissues of your gums. Squibb's is safe. It contains no grit, no irritant, nothing that can possibly be harmful.

Brush your teeth with Squibb Dental Cream twice every day, and give them the same kind of modern, effective care your dentist does. You can buy a tube at any good drug store. Start today to keep your teeth sound and healthy with Squibb's.

GIRL ACCUSES MAN AFTER AUTO LEAP

Robbed of Cash and Ring During Ride, Woman Says; Wilkinsburg Driver Held

Dimming his lights and speeding away after his woman companion leaped from his automobile early today, Finley Wilson, 30, of 422 Kelly way, Wilkinsburg, was arrested in his home by Squirrel Hill police on a charge of being a suspicious person.

His companion, Mrs. Rachel Martin, 25, said to be a domestic employed in the fashionable Fox Chapel Country Club, told police that she jumped from Wilson's machine after the latter had taken $32 from her pocketbook and tore a $45 ring from her finger. Wilson admitting that the woman had been his companion, denied the charge.

Mrs. Martin was treated at the Pittsburgh Hospital for lacerations of the leg. She was injured when she jumped from the machine, she said.

Findley's mother, who visited the girl this morning, was unshaken in her faith in her son. She said:

"Finley's always been a good boy. He never took anything in his life. I've sent him to the bank with money since he was nine years old. He never kept a cent.

Mrs. Martin said she jumped because Wilson told her he was going to take her for the longest ride she ever had, she said.

POLLS OFFICER VACANCIES FILLED

Court Names Additional Officials After Indicted Boards Are Supplanted

Last minute appointments of election officers to fill vacancies at the polls today were made by Judge James H. Gray up to adjournment time of Quarter Sessions Court yesterday. Earlier in the day the Judge had removed three indicted boards and named new officials. Others appointed were:

Judge, Nineteenth District, Twentieth Ward—C. E. Burns, vice Michael J. Howard, ineligible because a county employe.

Judge, Thirteenth District, Twenty-seventh Ward, John F. Miller, vice Ralph Geyer, moved.

Inspector, First District, Fourteenth Ward, J. Franklin Rodgers, vice J. H. Mooney, resigned.

Judge, First Ward, Dormont, G. H. Dickerson, vice Frank Belton, resigned.

Judge, Fourteenth District, Nineteenth Ward, C. J. Rose, vice Harry Lennix, resigned.

Judge, Sixth District, Sixth Ward, F. M. Cook, vice J. T. Higgins, resigned.

Minority Inspector, Sixth District, Sixth Ward, Edward Schwab, vice John J. Dixon, moved.

Army and Navy Merger Urged to Save Millions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—The government could save $25,000,000 a year by consolidating the Army and Navy into one Department of National Defense, Representative Williamson (Rep.), of South Dakota, chairman of the Committee on Expenditures, estimated today.

He announced he would reintroduce and push his bill to unify the two service branches. He would create a secretary of defense with undersecretaries for the Army, Navy and Aviation. He said:

"Studies made by my office indicate that very substantial savings could be effected. I think the amount would reach $25,000,000 a year."

NEW CITY LIGHT CONTRACT UP

The city's electric lighting contract for streets, boulevards, parks and bridges will cost an estimated $850,000 for 1932, according to a contract ordinance presented Council yesterday by the Bureau of Light.

The contract would be made, according to custom, for five years, and an appropriation will be considered next week when Council is scheduled to begin its budget sessions. The Duquesne Light Company is holder of the present contract, which expires January 1.

BUTLER ROUTE COMPLETION SOUGHT

Meeting Set to Ask Lewis, Pinchot to Finish Road As Benefit to Trade Here

A meeting of the committee on highways and bridges of the Chamber of Commerce will be held tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of urging on Gov. Pinchot and Secretary of Highways Samuel S. Lewis the completion of the Allegheny County end of the Pittsburgh and Butler primary route No. 8.

Large business interests of Allegheny County are recommending completion of the route to reclaim a large section of trade lost to Pittsburgh because of the alleged hazardous condition of the road from Wildwood to Bakerstown, and because it will give employment to many who are now out of work.

The fact that it would reduce the running time for motor vehicles half an hour between Pittsburgh and Butler, it is argued, would improve the mail service and open up to Pittsburgh merchants a trading area in which there are 50,000 people.

As originally designed, the road is to lead from Pittsburgh to Erie, a direct route to the lakes, but since the completion of Perry Highway, which skirts Butler, much traffic which might flow between Pittsburgh and Butler is diverted.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Does Smoking Rob Ladies of Character and Charm?

Were ladies born to be "a moral uplift to the race"?

Should they pick themselves a nice shiny pedestal and stay there regardless of personal temptations?

"Zig" has been told so. Consequently, whenever he sees one running around acting like just a regular human, he gets all of a fret. He is upset for days. It's not according to program—as said program was learned by him.

So now he is busting into this column to tell us about it—with plenty of indignation. And there are about 60,874,928 other people running around with similar fits of the jitters when they see gals acting like people.

Albert Rutter was one of them. And when his little woman learned to like her cigs he felt she had fallen from woman's high estate . . . and he should have a divorce. Zig is right with him. Here's his squawk.

SAYS WILL VANISHES

"Dear Sally:

"I am coming to you, not for any particular advice but because some of the things I've been taught to believe about girls don't agree with their actions. I am told that girls are the moral uplifters of their race and for that and their other duties I should respect them. But I find that their actions and this teaching do not agree.

"What is the matter with girls? Are they trying to ape men's morals as they try to ape his clothes. Don't they value those morals that women have set for themselves for age?

"I think that man who believed he should have a divorce because his wife started smoking after he married her is right. A man gives his life to working to make a home for the 'girl of his dreams.' Is it a fair exchange for a woman to refuse to give up one harmful habit after all that? Shouldn't a one-sided marriage be broken by the person getting the small end? I think it should.

"A woman doesn't start smoking after she is married to please her husband. She does it to make herself look wild and wooly to some other man. And after she has smoked for four or five months she can't quit. Her will vanishes. She is a weakling.

ON PAR WITH MEN

"You see I have a bad misunderstanding somewhere and I wish you would straighten it out. I can't get the actions and the teachings to fit, so one or the other must be wrong. If these female smoke-stacks are our moral uplifters, I think we've got pretty far down in the gutter.

"I am sorry this is so long but, when I started, all the harbored feelings of three years came out and I couldn't stop. ZIG.

Are women born to be 'Moral Uplifters'?

No son they're not. They are born to be regular humans like the rest of the race. It is well for all of us to Set a Good Example but females were not elected for that job any more than males. Women are simply people like yourself. Just as decent, just as cussed. Just as strong—just as spineless. You can't count on a woman's behavior any more than you can on a man's, and you've no right to try.

You must take 'em as they come.

And generally speakin' and the average is pretty fine in either sex.

That's the dope on women. And now here's a little dope on yourself. I'm no seer or fortune-teller but I can foresee your future young man. And it's going to be a daggoned dark and lonely one if you don't get over some of your pop-eyed notions.

One of them being that a woman's a cheat and a hussy if she smokes.

DOESN'T HURT CHARACTER

In the first place what have smokes to do with morals? Why should they damage the human soul any more — f'instance — than eating tripe or garlic or pickled pig's feet? And if cigs are Soul Blighters how come that some of our greatest male saints and heroes rolled their own?

As a matter of fact smoking is simply a physical habit. Like all physical habits—like drinking tea or coffee or eating doughnuts—it's dangerous if carried to extremes. But all the nicotine in America isn't as dangerous to fine human standards as one ignorant, silly, intolerant yawp such as Albert Rutter contributed to this column.

As for ladies smoking "just because they want to be wild"—piffle! A woman smokes for exactly the same reason that a man smokes—because she likes to smoke. Some women who smoke are silly and vulgar—so are some men. Some are loyal and sweet and fine. Fags have nothing to do with character.

And a husband who would divorce a wife because she smoked—

I'd take to cigars 'n' plug-cut if necessary, to get rid of him.

Flash Spenders Usually Squander Money—or Borrow It, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

It is sad to see how easily some girls are led astray by a flash spender.

They never seem to suspect a fellow who squanders his money, but are always suspicious of the "tightwad" who saves his.

Yet many a girl who has married a flash spender finds that he is not nearly so generous or enthusiastic when it comes to furnishing a home as he was when showing off in a night club.

Many a rich admirer who thinks nothing of giving a girl an expensive trinket can't be pried loose from a few dollars that help in a more substantial direction.

Flash spenders are usually wasters. They love to squander and hate to save. They are usually throwing money away—or borrowing it.

Heart of a Wife -:-

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Again the Chinese Menace Looms

I looked around me helplessly as the sound of the exploding tire told me that my trip to Southampton was at an end. Even if there had been anyone at hand to change the tire I did not dare attempt it myself the task could not be accomplished in time for me to reach Southampton and telephone Martha Halkett in New York before she should have sent on the letter to Jack Bickett.

I had intended to go to Southampton because I wished to keep my errand as secret as possible. Now my one thought was to get to some telephone—any telephone that was not in my own home.

The farmhouses are not close together in our section of Long Island and I saw that I was midway between the Ticer farmhouse and that of a family of alien birth whom I did not know. I must get to the Ticer home, and that quickly.

The motor was still running and I steered the car into the grass at the side of the road, and running up the window and slipping the catches on the doors, I put the key into the last door to lock it. But for some reason the key would not turn, and I took it out and slipped it in my purse without any particular misgivings, for our part of the country is not much troubled by motor thieves, or, indeed, any marauders.

Then I started to walk back to the Ticer farmhouse, but I had taken only a few steps before there came over me the eerie feeling that I was being watched.

My first impulse was to halt and look around, my second to run. But my common sense enabled me to do neither, and I walked steadily on without changing my pace, but watching—without appearing to do so—the only side of the road where anyone could be hidden.

A long hedge of thorny trees planted a century before for a windbreak and never rooted out effectually screened the Ticer property and the corner woodlot adjacent to it from the roadway. And I knew that inside those bordering trees there was a regular rabbit warren of bushes and vines which easy going Sam Ticer and his equally easy going neighbor had never troubled to dig out. The corner woodlot, also was but the beginning of a long stretch of woodland belonging to the absentee owner of an estate, therefore uncared for and growing thickly to the very border of the road. It was an easy thing for anyone to enter that woodland without being seen from any of the surrounding farmhouses.

I walked on steadily, not increasing my pace at all, and presently had left the thicket behind me, for Mrs. Ticer had "stood over Ticer with a blacksnake whip," as she often laughingly explained, until he had cleared the fence for several yards each side of the farmhouse. There were vines upon the fence and flowering shrubs inside it, screening the lawn from the road, but no hiding place such as the thicket afforded.

Mrs. Ticer answered my knock, and grasped my arm immediately afterward with concern upon her kindly face.

"Why! Mis' Graham, what's the matter?" she asked. "You're as white as a sheet. And where's the car? You surely haven't been walking down! Here! come in and lie down before you say anything."

I was glad of her support, for a feeling of dizziness was sweeping over me, and I docilely obeyed her guiding hand as she led me into her cheerful sitting room, put me down upon the couch, arranging the pillows around me, and brought me a glass of water.

"Thank you so much," I smiled up at her gratefully. "I am all right now. I knew I would be if I could get to you."

"What's happened?" she asked breathlessly.

"Nothing alarming, only a blowout. The car's just around the corner."

She went into action promptly.

"Say, ain't it lucky Ticer's working here this morning instead of on the road. I'll have him go around, change the tire and bring the car over here. It ain't safe to leave it on the road Say!" as if a sudden thought had struck her. "Did you see a Chink on the road this morning? Was that what scared you?"

The next instant she had clapped her hand over her mouth.

"Now why did I say that?" she demanded of the opposite wall.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

If any of the mature passengers riding on the beauty wagon have factory braids hidden away in trunks and secret places, it's time for them to lug 'em out, dust them off and get them ready for action. Cute little pigtails encircle the female head, and the grandmas think back to those dear dead days when the sisterhood took to commercial tresses, no matter how thick and luxuriant were those to which they were naturally attached. The old coronet is returning. Not fat as of yore. No! Considerably emaciated, sometimes only the width of two fingers.

If a girl has laughing wrinkles she can grin and bear them or she can follow a simple ritual every night that will whisk them away. The skin must be bathed and while the flesh is warm she should apply a heavy skin food. Place the first finger on the eyelid close to the nose, sweep outward over the temple, come back to starting point. This movement irons the crinkles crosswise, smooths them, invites them to betake themselves away. Plenty of cold water or ice will tone the tissues, get their fibers busy in the matter of making themselves stronger.

How to Keep Well -:-

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Air Baths for Good Health This Winter

Sun bathing is popular all over the world. From the most famous beaches to the ordinary back yard, this practice has received the indorsement of young and old.

Dr. Copeland

The value of sunlight as a means of combating disease is appreciated by all. Certain foods are now manufactured which have been exposed to the sun. For this reason they are believed to be more valuable.

A good sun tan improves the appearance. It gives its possessor a healthy and rugged appearance, and a feeling of well being.

Lately, great emphasis has been placed on the importance of air baths. I hope the popularity of air baths will come to equal that of sun baths. This is particularly important in the winter, when it is often not convenient to obtain the beneficial rays of the sun.

Air baths are of great advantage in that they tone up the texture of the skin. The skin is one of the most important parts of the body, yet its importance is often disregarded. By means of the skin the temperature of the body is maintained. In addition the skin, like the kidney and the bowel, serves as an organ to carry away waste.

When the skin comes in contact with the air, beneficial changes occur. The skin is given a chance to function as Nature intended.

As a result of modern civilization and our modern clothing, we close and seal the skin. This danger is particularly great in winter, when most individuals are afraid of cold. Those who live out-of-doors and in the open air are less susceptible to colds and infections than those who are confined indoors.

By means of the air bath, the whole body is given an opportunity to come in contact with the air. It permits ventilation of the pores of the skin.

Air baths should be taken in the morning, beginning with short time exposure. Please remember that cold air is like cold water: it is not beneficial when the exposure is sudden and prolonged.

Air baths are usually given indoors, although they are of greatest benefit when done in the open. The baths should be taken in a moderately cool, well ventilated room. It is best that this room be adjacent to a warm dressing room. The first air bath should be taken with only half the body exposed. As the body becomes accustomed to the cool air, more clothing can be removed.

The bathing process begins gradually, the exposure being short at first and gradually lengthened. This bath should never be given to feeble or elderly individuals, nor to a child who has never been accustomed to cold air.

The air bath may be taken immediately after a cool tub bath. If this is done, it is wise to see that the body has been thoroughly dried. Make sure that there are no drafts or undue exposure to cold.

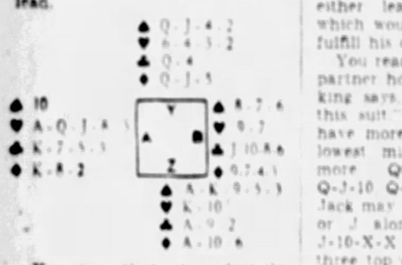
Contract Bridge -:-

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Leads Against Trump Makers

The following hand shows how A defeated a game bid at spades by his choice of opening lead.



Knowing that it ordinarily costs a trick to lead from a suit headed by a tenace or by a king unaccompanied by either ace or queen, A's opening lead was his singleton spade. After pulling trumps Z led the queen of diamonds, which A captured and led back that suit. When Z led a small club towards his queen A won the trick with his king, then he led back clubs ultimately obliging the declarer to lead hearts, that gave A two more tricks, defeating the contract by a single trick. Had A made an opening heart lead he would have given Z the one added trick needed for game. An opening of clubs would have given Z two tricks in that suit and game. If A had made an opening lead of diamonds the trick would have been won by Z's 10, he would have pulled trumps, laid down his top diamond and then thrown A in with his last diamond, thus obliging A to either lead clubs or hearts, which would have enabled Z to fulfill his contract.

You read from his leads what partner holds. Ace followed by king says, "I have no more of this suit." King, then ace, "I have more." Ace and then the lowest missing card show no more. Queen may be from Q-J-10, Q-J-9, Q-J, or Q alone. Jack may be from J-10-X, J-10, or J alone. If Q-J-X-X or J-10-X-X are held when the three top cards are not Q-J-10, Q-J-9 or J-10-9 the fourth best lead is substituted for the lead of the top honor.

The 10 or 9 lead denies holding a higher card, excepting when led as the middle card from Q or J and two smaller cards. The top of an intermediate sequence lead, as 9 from Q-9-8-X, J-9-8-X is used by some players, but close card readers prefer the four best lead as being more informative.

Of course the declarer, as well as the leader's partner, obtains information from each lead made, but usually the information is of more importance to partner than declarer, the latter knows the entire 26 cards of his side, your partner knows only his own 13 and what you tell him.

Household Hints

Orange juice will polish patent leather.

Melted paraffin poured over the cut end of ham will keep it indefinitely without danger of mold.

If you are trying to make the first show at the movies and the dishes just must be stacked, try to find time to wash the silver. If any water happens to be on it, it is liable to rust and cause more work than if not washed.

If a tablespoonful of common salt is put in the water when washing colored clothes, the color will remain fast. When ironing, take care that the iron is not over hot, as too great heat fades colors quickly.

Here's Quick Way To Break Up a Cold

Makes You Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

THE thing to do with a cold is to break it up in a hurry—with something you know does the job; not to trifle with a lot of trick ideas and remedies. Colds are too dangerous to experiment with.

Get a box of Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon that miserable, aching feeling begins to go. The cold breaks up. The poisons are moved from your system. The world looks like an altogether different place.

Those results come because Hills goes back to first principles by going to the seat of the trouble. It's not a newfangled fancy idea but a tried and proved way that's made to do ONE THING WELL, to knock a cold in a jiffy.

Hill's costs only a few cents. Use it for quick relief after everything else you've tried has failed.

HILL'S Cascara Quinine Compound

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Correct Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please tell me the correct way for a man to ask a lady to go to the theater with him? Would it be correct to say: "How would you like to go to a show with me?" or "Would you like to go to a show with me?"

Also, how should he ask her to go to church or a dance?

WILLIAM.

Perhaps it would be best to make the invitation more direct and definite, by adding the time and the name of the play. For instance: "Would you like to go with me to see 'Hamlet' next Tuesday evening?" It is playing at the Shakespeare Theater." Or, "There is a dance at Happiness Hall on next Saturday evening. Would you enjoy going?" Or, "Would you care to go to church with me next Sunday morning? The United Church, if you wish, or any other that you prefer?"

And I am sure that the lady would be very happy to accompany you on any of these occasions.

Flower Girl

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is a child 12 years of age too old to be flower girl at her sister's wedding? MISS B.

No.

Wedding Guests

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine is to be married and only a few intimate friends are to be invited. Is it necessary to invite the same people that were invited to the shower to the wedding?

M. B.

This all depends on convenience principally on how many friends can be invited, and if the friends who were at the shower are sufficiently close to be included in the list of those who can be accommodated. In other words, the fact that the friends attended the shower doesn't mean that they necessarily must be invited to the wedding.

Eating Watermelon

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Kindly advise me whether it is correct to use both a knife and fork when eating watermelon?

M. K.

This is considered the very best form. The small knife and fork, the so-called tea or buffet knife and fork or the fruit knife and fork are especially convenient, but the medium size knife and fork may also, of course be used.

Lost Ugly Fat

Her Husband Says She Looks Five Years Younger!

There is a certain weight at which every woman looks her loveliest—not skinny underweight nor pendulous overweight, but normal weight. "My husband says I look five years younger," writes this lady of 29 who—thanks to her daily dose of Kruschen Salts—has unburdened her body of 15 pounds of ugly fat. Read her letter:

"Having heard from a friend of mine that she had lost considerable weight since taking Kruschen Salts, I started using them in July last, when I weighed 133 lbs. I have lost weight steadily since then, and am now 118 lbs.—my normal weight. Moreover, I feel brighter and more energetic in every way. I have required of my dressmaker my measurements, which in August last were:—Bust 36, Hips 48½, Waist 33½ inches. I get work they were:—Bust 36, Hips 40, Waist 27 inches, which is normal for my height, which is 5 ft. 4 in. My age is 29. My husband is a very severe critic. He says I look five years younger. There is no other reason for my loss of weight except Kruschen, as I do not take any particular diet."

SHREDDED WHEAT

WITH ALL THE BRAN OF THE WHOLE WHEAT

ALL IN A DAY By Mark Hellinger

In Which the Customers Do the Work

"DEAR Mark:" writes Al Klein, "I want to register a squawk against all this depression talk and the gags that have been built around it. What is going to happen to this country if the jokesters write about nothing but tough times?

"The situation is becoming intolerable. You can't pick up a newspaper without reading some alleged witticism about conditions. And, still worse, there's nowhere a man can go to get away from people who think they're funny and insist on cracking depression gags.

"I stood on a corner the other morning, for instance, and I heard one fellow say to another:

"'How are things with you?'

"And the other fellow thought he was pretty smart when he replied:

"'I'm so far in the red right now that I haven't even money enough to buy any more red ink.'

"See anything funny about that, Mark? I'm darned if I do. No matter where I am, I hear the same gags 50 times a day. Somebody is bound to slap me on the shoulder and say:

"'Did you hear the latest, Al? Things are so bad that the Follies girls are now forced to ride around in Cadillacs.'

"Is that right, Mark? As man to columnist, I ask you. Is it fair to have people march around and make fun of this great country in such a fashion as that? Is it honorable or decent?

"As a matter of fact, there is no depression. The entire fault lies with the people who go around talking about it and holding on to their money.

"This country is just as rich as it ever was. There is plenty of everything for everyone in this glorious nation. All this stuff about unemployment is strictly the bunk.

"Don't you think my squawk is justified, Mark? Don't you think people should stop talking about a depression that doesn't exist? I do. And I don't mind telling the world about it.

"Prosperity is not coming. It's here!

"Sincerely yours . . .

"P. S.—I'm sorry to have made you pay the postage on this letter, Mark, but I regret to say that I haven't the price of a stamp . . ."

"SOME TIME back," writes G. C., of Detroit, Mich., "I read a letter in your column in which a kid asked advice about going on the stage. My story may interest both him and you.

"Eight years ago I won the world's record for marathon Charleston dancing in the Coliseum in St. Petersburg, Fla. The following week I received a letter from the manager of a musical stock company, telling me he had seen my picture in the Pathe news and offering me a week's engagement.

"Six months later I was his leading juvenile. I remained with him about a year and then decided I belonged on Broadway. My ambition, naturally, was to become a star.

"After four uneventful years—the same old story of the usual type—I was booked into one of those units produced every week in Los Angeles and then sent on tour from coast to coast. In the company was the most charming and to me—the loveliest girl in the world. We were married, and I am now more in love than ever. Two reasons being two healthy sons, the youngest of which is three months old today.

"A little less than a year ago we stopped in this city. Traveling became unhealthy for my 'partner,' and since Chicago was the nearest theatrical center, I went there. I joined a vaudeville act, played several break-in dates and then drove to New York. One 'showing date'—and the brokers couldn't say no quickly enough.

"I don't have to tell you much more. My last $15 went to a bus company to get me back to Detroit. After a few days I found a position selling insurance. I took it—and the same afternoon a wire arrived from an agent who offered me six weeks of vaudeville, with the certainty of playing the Palace. The Palace! At last, my dream came true! I left for New York immediately.

"The inclosed clippings, Mr. Hellinger, will show you what happened. In an act that starred the greatest toe dancer of our day several critics singled me out for special mention. You can see for yourself how good they were to me.

"It took me eight years to get write-ups like that. It took me eight years to get into an act with the greatest female dancer on the stage. It took me eight years to play the Palace Theater.

"And now I am back in Detroit selling insurance—just eight years late in getting started." . . .

"IF YOU haven't heard it," writes Gregory Ratoff, the star of "Wonder Boy," the story may appeal to you. It concerns a pants manufacturer who was extremely proud of the manner in which his young son played the violin. The boy was but 10 years of age, and his father thought that little Sammy was already better than Mischa Elman.

"So convinced was he, in fact, that he decided to do something about it. He went to the expense of hiring Carnegie Hall for a concert that his son would give. And he arranged for a large party in a nearby restaurant so that the friends and relatives could celebrate after the successful concert was over.

"Well, the big night finally rolled around. At least half of the pants industry—and five or six third-string music critics—were on hand to listen to little Sammy. The proud papa sat back happily and surveyed the scene. It was costing him a young fortune, and the party later was going to be just as expensive. But wasn't it worth it?

"Sammy trotted out and began to play. He was terrible. The critics began to move about restlessly, and when the second number began, even the relatives followed suit. When the third piece had been struggled through, the proud parent was convinced that little Sammy was, as they say in the best circles, ultra-lousy.

"He jumped from his chair and rushed to a telephone. He called the restaurant and asked them to cancel his party. The manager told him that would be impossible, as some of the guests were already eating. Papa grew excited, hung up the phone, hopped into a cab and was driven rapidly to the restaurant in question.

"The manager had told him the truth. When he entered the private room, there sat four of his wife's relatives eating and drinking to their heart's content. He clenched his fists.

"'How can you do this to me?' he cried. 'What kind of people are you?'

"Cousin Abe looked up for a moment.

"'What are you talking about?' he asked.

"The pants manufacturer waved his arms wildly.

"'I was only going to give this party if my little Sammy was a success,' he wailed. 'How can you sit here eating when everybody says he was terrible?'

"Cousin Abe dipped a cracker into the can of caviar and smiled contentedly.

"'We liked him,' he murmured."

TARTANS PREP FOR PITT

Sport Comment

By JAMES J. LONG

Panthers' Plaid Records. Soccer Offer Accepted.
Big Trade Called Off. Attempt to Buy Giants.
White Sox Make Money. Pro and College Games.

FEW LOSE TO SKIBOS EVEN AS FROSH

OF THE SEVEN probable starters on the Pitt line in Saturday's eighteenth football tussle with Carnegie Tech, only one ever played on a Panther eleven that lost to any team representing the Schenley Park school. He is Mike Milligan, the veteran guard. Milligan was at center on the Pitt freshman team of 1927 that lost to the Tartan Plebes, 13 to 0. The six other present forwards were either regulars or subs on the 1928 Frosh outfit that won over the Skibo yearlings that season, 12 to 0.

Mike Milligan

In the Pitt backfield, Warren Heller, Paul Reider and Johnny Luch are all even as far as Carnegie games are concerned. When freshmen, they bowed to the Plaid Plebes in 1929 at Connellsville, 7 to 6, but last year as varsity regulars they helped the Panthers to win by the same score. Bobby Hogan, at quarterback, played in the scoreless tie as a freshman last year. Milligan missed playing on a losing varsity in 1928, the last time Carnegie won the varsity tilt, because he was out of school during that season.

A PITT LINEMAN who is expected by his mates to shine against Carnegie is Jess Quatse, husky left tackle. The other Panther players are still talking about the brilliant work of Quatse in the recent game with Notre Dame at South Bend, and pronounce him one of the heroes of that contest, though he went unsung at the time. He more than made up for his poor game against the Irish in 1930.

Other Pitt men recall that in an early play at South Bend Quatse suffered a severely cut mouth while attempting to block a Notre Dame punt, and played thereafter with a red mask hiding his face. But teammates say it was by far the best game ever played by the Greensburg youth, and that he gave so much he collapsed in the dressing room after the finish. They look for him to be a line standout again on Saturday.

Force of habit is a strange thing. Hobart College of Geneva, N. Y., coached by Jakie Bohren, former Pitt player and St. Vincent mentor, is so accustomed to losing football games that when opponents are unable to score the points necessary for victory Hobart obligingly turns in and does it for them.

Alfred couldn't make any points itself Saturday and a tie game would have interrupted Hobart's long losing streak if Bohren's team hadn't made a safety which gave the game to the enemy, 2 to 0. That was about the only way remaining in which Hobart had not lost a contest during a long streak in which it has suffered 25 defeats in succession. It has not won a game since it beat Buffalo 38 to 0 on November 17, 1928.

THE PROPOSED SIX-CORNERED baseball trade in which the Cubs were to have given Hack Wilson, Pat Malone and Gabby Hartnett to Brooklyn for Dazzy Vance, Alfonso Lopez and Frank O'Doul or Babe Herman, is off, according to President Frank B. York, of the Flatbush club. "Positively nothing doing," he said. "O'Doul was worth three Wilsons last summer, and we are not going to trade an up-and-coming catcher like Lopez for Hartnett, who seems to have slowed up. We're not going to give ourselves the worst of it by making a deal like that."

J. Louis Comiskey

J. LOUIS COMISKEY who as the new owner of the Chicago White Sox will keep alive in baseball one of the most famous names the diamond sport ever knew, says he will spare no expense to produce the winning club which his father had vainly sought since the wreck of 1919.

Comiskey promises that the new manager, Lew Fonseca, will be given a free rein in the handling of the Sox and that all the money in the club treasury will be at his disposal for the purpose of purchasing material with which to bolster the team wherever necessary.

IT WAS A surprise to many baseball followers to learn of the condition of the Sox treasury. Near-tailenders as a rule lose money, or at least they fail to make any, yet after the team had finished in the second division 11 straight years and the late Charles A. Comiskey had spent half a million dollars for players, the club owned the fine plant on the South Side of Chicago, didn't owe a cent, and had $300,000 in the treasury.

The healthy financial condition of the club after years of losing ball attests stronely the popularity and integrity of the Old Roman, whose long career had carried him from a job as player at $15 a week to the position of being one of the wealthiest owners in the game.

THE OFFER OF Morry Goldman to let his soccer team meet any selected eleven in a night game for charity brings the following reply from Harry H. Fairfield, president of the Western Pennsylvania Football Association: "Morry Goldman's suggestion of a charity soccer game at Forbes Field registers with me 100 per cent. If Morry thinks he can persuade Barney Dreyfuss to lend us Forbes Field and John Holohan to lend us his lights, I'll undertake to persuade the West Penn Football Association to put a team in the field again. Goldman's, one not only capable of giving his outfit a licking, but also capable of drawing the maximum patronage for the event. If I promise that Buff Donnelli will lend our line, perhaps Holohan also will lend a hand. Yours for soccer and charity."

THE REPORT THAT Norman Perry, owner of the Indianapolis American Association club, was in the East to try to buy the New York Giants, was not empty chatter. Of course, he may not succeed, probably will not, but at least he has made the attempt.

Perry is said to have offered Charles A. Stoneham $2,500,000 for control of the New York Nationals. Stoneham declined, but Perry appears to believe he will weaken later, as he is going back for another conference within two weeks. If he can't get the Giants he may try to buy the Reds. He wants a big league club at any cost.

IT HAS BEEN said that professional football is an easier game to play than the college brand; that there is not so much practice, and that the going in the main is by no means as strenuous.

Furthermore, it has been held that players of long experience are inclined to save themselves, and that in games where all the gridders are veterans who know how to do everything correctly a participant runs less risk of being injured.

Bronko Nagurski

BUT IF THE pro game ever was the easier of the two, times and conditions have changed, according to Bronko Nagurski. The latter declares that he finds pro football much harder than the kind he played in college. "So far as practicing goes, I do not believe that we work much harder," said the former Minnesota fullback now with the Chicago Bears, "but as for games, the going is much stiffer. The belief that because we are paid for our performances we get out on the gridiron and take it easy is false in the extreme. Pro football is a business, and there are plenty of able-bodied young ex-collegians who are out of work and ready to step into a spot left open by one of us who lets up. It's a matter of business competition and the fellow who doesn't hustle will find himself out of a job."

SYRACUSE STAR DICKERS WITH COACH REID

By CARL W. SHATTO

Bill Holmes, big center of the Syracuse Stars, the best playmaker in the International Hockey League, is likely to wear Yellow Jacket livery this season, Charley Reid, coach of the Jackets, announced today.

Holmes, a goal-getter as well as a play-maker, finished second in the circuit's individual scoring race last season. Yesterday he purchased his release from Syracuse and promptly entered into negotiations with Reid regarding the signing of a Pittsburgh contract. The local coach, who signed three new players last night after putting five holdover Jackets on the block earlier in the day, is working diligently in his efforts to rebuild the Jackets into a championship aggregation, and he hopes to have Holmes' signature on the dotted line before the locals meet the Chicago Hawks, of the National League, in the first of a two-game series at Duquesne Garden Saturday night.

THREE NEW JACKETS

The three new skaters added to the Jacket squad yesterday all are players of exceptional promise, and one, Frank Ingram, big right winger, is an established star. Ingram was obtained from the Chicago Hawks, with which club he starred for several seasons, and with him came Norman Locking and Lewis Holmes, Chicagoans of more recent vintage.

Lewis Holmes, 21, is a center from Owen Sound who performed for the Hawks last season. Locking is a 160-pound left winger who was obtained by Chicago after he led Edmonton to an Allan Cup triumph last season. At present Locking is in Montefiore Hospital recovering from a severe cold, but he expects to be back in harness within a few days.

Ingram, although only 25, was the ace of the Chicago front line a few seasons ago when the Hawks were just another club in the National League, and not the title contenders that they are today. Like Bill Holmes, he is an exceptionally good goal-getter and playmaker, and if Reid is able to land the former ace of the Syracuse club his attacking forces will be second to none in the circuit.

MAY SHIFT FIELDS

In the event that Bill Holmes is obtained, Whitey Fields, who can perform either at center or defense, probably will be stationed in the backfield permanently. The Jackets then will be well balanced, and will be set for any and all comers.

Ty Arbour, left winger who first gained prominence in Pittsburgh and who was purchased from Chicago last week, reported to Coach Reid today, along with all other members of the 1930-31 Jacket squad who were issued invitations to return to the fold. Equipment was distributed this afternoon, and the first big practice session will be staged at the Garden tomorrow.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE CIRCUS MAN WHO NEVER SAW A CIRCUS—Charles R. Hutchinson, now treasurer of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum-Bailey Combined Shows, has spent the last 35 years traveling under the big top, but he never has seen the entire show. He explains that, being an official of the organization, he never is free even to take an afternoon off, and the most he has seen of the circus is an occasional act as he passed through the tent. The circus now is at the winter headquarters, Sarasota, Fla. A FIRE THAT DID NOT MELT ICE—When the ice house at Big Lake, Minn., burned recently, a strange sight was revealed. After the flames had died out and the wooden walls of the building had disappeared, the thousands of ice blocks were found to be standing in frozen columns, only slightly rounded off at the corners. The reason the ice did not melt is because the heat, although terrific, was only momentary, and it takes considerable time for it to penetrate the sawdust insulation.

DUKES WORK FOR HOLY CROSS TILT

By JESS CARVER

How'd you like to be in the shoes of our local football coaches this week? Take Jock Sutherland, for example, with Tech to be met Saturday. And Bobby Waddell, with Pitt on the slate, and Elmer Layden, a pretty sick man, too, up at Duquesne, with the prospect of meeting Holy Cross in the offing.

It looks like Layden and Waddell are the boys who are on the old spot. Both are priming teams to enter games on the short side; very much the short side. Holy Cross walked all over Brown last week, and Pitt beat Penn State so very badly, with only the second and third clubs, too, that the Tartan forces apparently have only the most meager hopes to go on. The Dukes didn't look any too good in the game with Catholic U. last Friday night, and certainly Tech, aside from its usual fight, didn't have a chance against the Irish.

SKIBOS TAKE REST

The Skibos were not called out for a practice yesterday, and Pitt's drill was not heavy. The Dukes, laying off Saturday and Sunday, were put through a more or less strenuous session. Jock Sutherland gave his charges a workout against Tech's passing game. Jock professes to be afraid of Stu Dueger's passing. He isn't going to start his second team against the Tartans, that is sure, and I'll bet dollars to doughnuts, or what have you, that he'll have his fullbacks, Clark and Luch, taking correspondence courses in busting up forward passes this week.

Tech is to have a short and light drill today. The boys were completely played out after Saturday's session with Notre Dame. Heinzer and Kebe, the injured guards, are able to hobble about, but whether they'll be fit for duty against Pitt or not will not be known until tomorrow or Thursday. The workout today, if there is one, likely will consist of a signal drill and some polishing up of pass plays for the Panthers.

It looks like a very, very busy week-end for Pitt. The "B" team is to play the Navy "B" eleven at Annapolis. Dr. Skipper Gougler's freshmen engage Kiski at Saltsburg on Friday. The Pitt and Tech freshmen and varsity cross-country runners duel Saturday morning over the Schenley Park course and then comes the varsity grid tussle in the afternoon.

DUKES FACE TEST

If the Dukes are to make a good showing against Holy Cross, and they hardly figure to do much else, the Red and Blue line will have to improve. It was Sil Zaninelli's kicking that saved the bacon against Western Maryland; Georgetown's weakened backfield that kept the Dukers from losing to the Hoyas and last week, the cleverly drilled backs of Catholic U. ran through the Duquesne forward wall with appalling success.

Holy Cross is a tough ball club, there can be no mistake about

COCHRAN, HOPPE TOP LOCALS

The 18.1 balkline billiard champion, Welker Cochran, and his most formidable challenger, Willie Hoppe, who are slated to meet here next week in titular competition, won exhibition matches against local opponents last night.

Cochran came through to upset Heimert, 300 to 66, at Ueberle's parlors, Oakland, the titlest playing at 18.1, while his foe competed at 18.2. The cue king's high run was 87, while the best Heimert could do was 17.

Hoppe swamped James Barnes, 200 to 19, in the William Penn parlors. Willie's high run was 97 and Barnes' six.

Hoppe is scheduled to oppose E. J. Mitchell tonight.

Pinchot to Attend Walton Dinner Here

Gov. Gifford Pinchot, who is to attend the Pitt-Army football game here Saturday of next week, will be the guest of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Izaak Walton League at its dinner that night. Gov. Pinchot will address the sportsmen at the dinner, to be held at the Hotel Schenley at 6:30 p. m. Sportsmen desiring to attend can obtain reservations from C. W. Ward, president of the Pittsburgh Chapter, by calling Montrose 7200, or writing 5626 Penn avenue.

ADELAIDE, Australia, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—South Africa won its first cricket match in Australia today, defeating South Australia 7 to 192 runs.

Colleges Break Relations After Grid Injury

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—As a result of the injury of Stephen J. Fuller, end on St. Joseph College's football team, in the game here Saturday with Albright College of Reading, Pa., Enid A. Thomas, St. Joseph's coach, has announced that athletic relations with Albright had been broken off.

St. Joseph charges the Albright team played an unnecessarily rough game.

St. Joseph lost 21 to 0. Fuller was injured in the first period. He is recovering in a hospital from concussion of the brain, severe sprain of the neck muscles and bruises. He is from Lansford, Pa.

FELDMAN BOWS TO CHOCOLATE

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Kid Chocolate, Cuban Negro lightweight, easily outpointed Lew Feldman, of New York, last night in a 10-round tuneup bout for his title match with Tony Canzoneri later this month.

A crowd of 4,000, although booing the decision, saw the Negro battler batter Feldman almost at will through the last five rounds, after settling in his stride and getting back his judgment of distance, sadly lacking in the early rounds.

Chocolate scaled 130½ pounds, Feldman 132.

DON GEORGE COPS

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Ed (Don) George defeated Al Baffert, of Canada, two out of three falls, in a wrestling match here last night.

PIRATE PILOT UNDECIDED

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

His health improved, Barney Dreyfuss, Pirate owner, was back at his desk today after a vacation absence of more than two weeks.

The question of a new Buccaneer manager was one of the first things to be brought before the Pittsburgh magnate as soon as he returned, but Dreyfuss was not loquacious on the managerial point.

"We have quite a few candidates for the berth and the matter of going over their various qualifications will take lots of time," said the Pittsburgh mogul.

"I can truthfully state," he continued, "that we have not decided on the identity of the new pilot. There are so many things to be considered that it would be unwise to make any hurried decision. And there is no reason for rushing the thing. I cannot tell when a decision will be made, but the matter may not be decided until the annual winter meetings next month."

MEET IN CHICAGO

Dreyfuss disclosed that the big gathering of the baseball clans will take place in Chicago. The major fellows will hold concurrent meetings in Tony Cermak's big village, these to be followed by the joint meeting.

There is a tendency to merge the winter pow-wows of this year. On December 2, 3 and 4 the minors will get together at West Baden, Ind. The big time boys will be well represented at the minor conference and then the whole show will move on to Chicago. The major meetings are slated for December 7, 8 and 9, the joint affair being set for December 10.

Giants Gridders To Coach Sing Sing Eleven

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Warden Lawes, of Sing Sing, whose plans for an intra-mural program of football games at Sing Sing have progressed to the point where he has obtained suits for the players, sent out a call for coaches.

The New York Giants, of the National Professional Football League, immediately responded. They announced that six players, Ray Flaherty, Clem Campbell, Bull Owens, Butch Gibson, Dale Burnett and Ted Bucklin, would be "incarcerated" long enough to give the Sing Sing boys a few pointers.

Chillysauce

Jewel Ens and his family will spend a part of the winter in Pittsburgh. It is likely Jewel will attend the December sessions in Chicago. Jewel has a couple of propositions which interest him quite keenly, but he is not likely to come to any agreement before the winter meetings are held.

Skipper Bill McKechnie of the Boston Braves has deserted his beloved Wilkinsburg, the turf of the cotton-tail being the cause of his disappearance. Skipper Bill, accompanied by his close friends, Wrax and Henry Zell, took to the woods yesterday. They are supposed to be somewhere near the Maryland border and when they left they expected to return tomorrow night with a load of game.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold (Pie) Traynor are spending a part of the off-season in Upper Wisconsin. Traynor loves the wild country of that section.

Dr. Charles E. (Jorgy) Jorgensen, Pirate trainer, has returned to his Columbus home after witnessing the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech battle.

D. & E. PRACTICES

ELKINS, W. Va., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Facing the prospect of four away-from-home games in the next two weeks, Coach Cam Henderson, of the Scarlet Hurricane football squad of Davis and Elkins College, put his undefeated, uncored upon and the country's highest scoring team through a short workout yesterday. The squad was minus the services of Watring, star lineman and Vest, the back, both suffering injuries in the game at Scranton, Pa., will be the opponent Saturday.

CADDIE FETE IS CARDED

Shannopin Country Club will be host to its caddies at a banquet in the Ben Avon Heights clubhouse Thursday night, George A. Erb has announced. Between 200 and 300 bag-toters are expected to attend. The "doings" are slated to begin at 6:30.

Among the honored guests will be Edward E. McCoy, chairman of the caddie welfare committee of the W. P. G. A.; Chester H. Lehman, of Westmoreland, former W. P. G. A. president, and L. A. Hubach, president of Shannopin.

Jim Bunting is chairman in charge of the event. Dinner will be marked with entertainment.

PIRRONE STOPS DILLON

CLEVELAND, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Paul Pirrone, Cleveland light-heavyweight, last night knocked out Harry Dillon, of Canada, in about the time it took him to walk from his corner to the center of the ring in the first round. Dillon was counted out 14 seconds after the fight began.

HUNTS MEET TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—The United Hunts Racing Association will hold its annual fall meet at Belmont Park this afternoon with the $10,000 Temple Gwathmey Memorial Steeplechase the main attraction. Of the eight starters nominated, Beacon Hill carries top weight of 167 pounds.

A. A. PARLEY NOV. 17

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—The American Association will hold its annual meeting at the Congress Hotel, Chicago, November 17, President Thomas J. Hickey announced today.

JACKETS LOSE STAR BACK

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 3.—Although their slate was kept clean of defeat in their triumph over Westminster Saturday, the victory of the Waynesburg College football club will prove an extremely costly one as result of an injury suffered by Rab Currie, which will keep the Monessen flash definitely out of play the remainder of the season and possibly may incapacitate him for basketball during the first part of that season.

During a scrimmage late in the game the sophomore back had the cartilage in his left shoulder torn loose, an X-ray examination of the injury showed. The team physician stated that the injury would prove equally as serious as a fractured bone.

Dartmouth Loses Veteran Fullback

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Dartmouth drilled today for its game against the Harvard eleven on Saturday without Bob Wilkin, veteran fullback. Wilkin, who fractured a bone in his left leg in the Yale game, will not play again this season. Wilkin is a senior, his injury therefore meaning his college football career is ended.

CONACHER IS HOLDOUT

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Dave Trottier has come to terms with the Montreal Maroons, of the National Hockey League, but Nes Stewart and Lionel Conacher have yet to sign contracts. Conacher has thrown in his lot with the wrestlers this season and probably will not attempt also to play hockey, but Stewart is expected to fall in line shortly.

AL SINGER SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(INS.)—Al Singer, former lightweight champion, was under suspension in this state today for failing to fulfill a contract with the Olympic Boxing Club in Los Angeles.

CLASS AA SCHOOL CONFERENCE IS FORMED

East Liverpool Set to Tackle Dan Burns Machine Tomorrow Night

ELEVEN GIVEN HIGH RATING AT MEETING

By JULIUS LEVIN

First steps to organize a Class AA Conference within the ranks of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League were taken at a meeting of the coaches and athletic authorities of the schools operating under that classification in the Fort Pitt Hotel late yesterday.

Eleven schools were given the Class AA rating at the meeting. They were Greensburg, Washington, Clairton, Charleroi, New Kensington, Turtle Creek Union, Jeannette, Monessen, New Castle, Wilkinsburg and Norwin.

PLAN IS CARRIED

A motion was made and carried that all teams playing under this rating must schedule at least four teams in the group to figure in the championship award.

J. G. Hulton, superintendent of Latrobe schools, was in charge of the meeting. Among those who attended were Earl Loucks, Greensburg; Elmer Carroll, Wilkinsburg; Steve Stepanian and D. W. Copeland, Charleroi; D. E. Ditty and W. H. Blackburn, Monessen; R. E. Boyles, Washington; Art Dahl and John Maclay, Jeannette; Phil Bridenbaugh and Ralph Gardner, New Castle; Carl Glock, New Kensington; W. M. Bryson and George Woodman, Clairton; Foxy Miller, Turtle Creek Union; W. C. Evans, Scott High; J. C. Dunn, McDonald, and J. Foster Gehrett, secretary of the W. P. I. A. L.

It was decided that a meeting would be held each year on the first Monday in November to decide programs for the year following.

Coaches and scholastic officials gathered at the Fort Pitt Hotel for the purpose of organizing a Class AA conference. J. G. Hulton was chairman. Eleven schools were admitted: Greensburg, Washington, Clairton, Charleroi, New Kensington, Turtle Creek Union, Jeannette, Monessen, New Castle, Wilkinsburg and Norwin. All teams, it was agreed, must play at least four conference members. The new loop will work within the confines of the W. P. I. A. L.

SILAS SHINES IN GARDEN GO

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

A Jewish orphan boy who drifted in here from New York a few weeks ago looking for work at his trade as a boxer was the hit of the weekly mitt show at Motor Square Garden last night, taking the fans by storm and establishing himself in a single showing as a popular favorite.

The kid is Sid Silas, who was reared in an orphan asylum and became an amateur and then a professional boxer and early earned the praise of such an astute judge of fistic greatness as Jimmy De Forest, the veteran trainer.

They tossed young Sid in with Eddie Brannon, rugged Negro lightweight, of the Hill, in the eight-round preliminary. Brannon is one of the toughest men in his class around here, a good puncher and a game receiver, and it looked as if he would annihilate Silas in the first round. Brannon's first right hand punch put a mouse on the youngster's left eye, and throughout the session he chased Sid from pillar to post, pummeling him at will and continuing the bombardment after the bell.

MAKES POOR START

It didn't seem that Silas could take that lacing and come back, but he did. Starting the second round, he went to work on Brannon's body and slowed him down to a walk and from then on it was rout for Eddie. He didn't win a round after the opener and was close to a knockout in several of the frames, particularly the seventh, in which a right to the jaw floored him for a count of two and he got up groggy and had to hold and cover until the bell. He also was groggy and holding in the third and fifth rounds.

Silas, a personable youngster, sold himself in no uncertain manner to the fans, who applauded at the finish until he left the ring, the ovation probably being a record breaker for a boxer appearing in a preliminary bout here, and it is a cinch he will be fighting windups locally in his next few starts. He seemingly has everything. He can box and fight and punch and take it and is cool under fire. He weighed 138¾ pounds against Brannon's 137½ at 3 p. m. This was his first bout in almost two months, but he never was ring-shy after that tempestuous opening round. Jackie Lightning, former local flyweight boxer, is managing him.

WINDUP A FIASCO

The remainder of the five-bout card was far below the caliber of this event. The last-minute "windup," between Sammy Dorfman, of New York, and Ray Collins, of Erie, was a fiasco, as it promised to be. Collins being scared to death of his opponent's reputation and never having a chance. He spent most of his time on the run or covering and welcomed the action of Referee Red Robinson in heeding the pleas of the fans to stop the uneven thing at the end of the fifth round. Robinson acted because Collins' mouth was badly cut by that time and he was outclassed and knew it and had no enthusiasm for his work. Dorfman weighed 134 pounds and Collins 137½.

The surprise of the night developed in the easy manner in which Frankie Wallace, of Cleveland, won every round of the other 10-rounder, originally billed as the main bout, from Mose Butch, local southpaw bantamweight. Wallace was too smooth a worker and made Butch look bad as the latter missed blow after blow on the outside and found himself tied up and cuffed around on the inside.

WALLACE BEATS BUTCH

Because of Mose's ineffectiveness and the machinelike maneuvering of the collected Wallace, the bout was a rather drab affair. It was Wallace's third victory over Butch in four starts, the first three bouts having been fought when they were amateurs. Mose weighed 122½ pounds, and Wallace peeled down to 123½ after first tipping the beam at 124½.

Jack Thompson, of the North Side, 137, had an old cut reopened over his left eye in the second round of his bout with Charley Blozevich, of St. Michaels, Pa., 134, and the referee stopped the scrap at the close of that session. It was a tough break for Thompson, who was winning handily so far as the bout went.

Jimmy Gilligan, of Lawrenceville, 118¾, defeated Petey Johns, of the North Side, 119½, in the four-round opener.

Red Robinson and Al Grayber alternated as referees; Frank Brown and L. K. Meininger were the judges, A. C. Couch and Norman Borland, the timers, and Bill Schuster acted as the announcer. Buck McTiernan and Ben Jeby were announced as the finalists for next week.

SID SILAS

Silas, a young Jewish boxer, of New York, making his local bow in an eight-round preliminary bout at Motor Square Garden last night, stole the play away from the feature performers by rallying from a stormy first round to hand the window at the Cambria A. C., Philadelphia, Friday night, with Dan Bassett and Dan Kingsley in the eight-round semi-final.

Joe Ghnouly boxes Fee Wee Kaiser at St. Louis tomorrow night. Howard Scott and Lou Terry are in another 10-rounder.

Battling Gizzy will be one of the mainbouters at Wheeling one week from next Monday night.

Willie Hoppe, the veteran billiard star, was a ringside spectator at last night's bouts at the Garden, as was also Jewel Ens, former manager of the Pirates.

The card has been completed for Thursday night's boxing show in McKeesport with the signing of Jimmy Loizes, of McKeesport, and Claire Repole, of Pittsburgh, for the first bout, and Joey Bazonie, of McKeesport, and Bob McCormick, of Lawrenceville, for the second event. Young Rudy boxes Marty McHale and Lou Saunders meets Johnny Chiodo in the two 10-rounders.

EDDIE BRANNON

Eddie Brannon, local Negro lightweight, a bad trimming. Photo shows a knockdown registered by him in the seventh round, when Brannon had to hang on to escape a knockout. Silas received a big hand after the bout.

Between Rounds

Hymie Wiseman boxes Solly Schuman in a six-round bout in conjunction with the Jack Dempsey-Sesi Harris four-rounder at Des Moines, Ia., next Monday night.

Billy Sanders boxes Alf Taylor in a six-round bout at Elyria, O., Friday night. Jimmy Vaughn and Mickey Barron meet in a six-round bout in Cleveland the same night. Frankie Wallace boxes Harry Pinti and John Moke battles Sam Berko in preliminaries.

Fritzie Zivic is just getting over an attack of grippe and has resumed training for a bout at the Motor Square Garden next week.

ROSENBLOOM COPS

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, light-heavyweight champion, won a 12-round decision here last night in a listless, non-title fight with Battling Bozo, Birmingham, Ala. Not damaging blows were struck in the entire contest. Bozo weighed 172 pounds, two over the limit. Rosenbloom 174¼.

Madiola Destroyed After 'Chase Fall

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Madiola, 4-year-old chestnut filly by Mad Hatter-Gadiola, owned by Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, of New York, was destroyed at Pimlico last night after suffering a broken pelvis in the $10,000 Manly Memorial Steeplechase yesterday.

The horse fell at the water jump in front of the grandstand, the second time around in the two and one-half mile event. It was running in fourth place in a field of nine at the time.

Northwestern Not Invited to Coast

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—K. L. (Tug) Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern University, today denied that Northwestern had been invited to play in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's Day. It was rumored that Northwestern would receive the invitation if the Wildcats succeeded in winning the Big Ten title.

GAINS SCORES KAYO

LEICESTER, Eng., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Larry Gains, Canadian Negro, who holds the British Empire heavyweight championship, knocked out Soren Peterson, of Denmark, in the fifth round here last night.

that. It held Dartmouth to a 14-7 score; tied Fordham and walloped Brown unmercifully. Against the Cardinals Friday night the Duquesne line was ragged. Joe Bach probably had his hands full filling in as head coach during the enforced absence of the ailing Layden, but it is a sure bet that his line had an off night.

The big game in the tri-state district this week is the Geneva-Waynesburg tussle. If the Jackets win, they'll give any other Class B eleven a real argument for the district-title. If Geneva cops, the title will hinge on the outcome of the Covenanters' annual meeting with Allegheny.

JACKETS FORMIDABLE

Waynesburg has a good club, there is no doubt of that. Chaps like Currie and Billy Paul have come through in great fashion, to say nothing of Ross, Rollanson, Lufrano and one or two others. The team hasn't been beaten. It took Penn State, tied powerful New River and, last week, met an aroused Westminster eleven and nosed it out, 7-6.

Frank Wolf has done wonders with what looked to be just fair material. He has combined the choice of his veterans with up and coming freshmen, and has done a swellish job.

Fight Results

At Motor Square Garden—Sammy Dorfman won by technical knockout over Ray Collins (bout stopped at end of fifth round). Frankie Wallace defeated Mose Butch, 10 rounds; Sid Silas defeated Eddie Brannon, 8 rounds; Charley Roseveigh won by technical knockout over Jack Thompson (bout stopped at end of second round); Jimmy Gilligan defeated Petey Johns, 4 rounds.

At Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Tommy Grogan defeated Slick Jessick, 10 rounds.

At Sullivan, Ind.—Pat Murphy knocked out Glenn Nidy, 1 round; Andy Kellett knocked out George Welch, 1 round; Harry Ferra knocked out Charley Keefe, 2 rounds.

At Jersey City—Harry Carlton and Tony Herrera drew, 10 rounds.

At Miami, Fla.—Chico Cisneros defeated Sidney Campbell, 10 rounds.

At Louisville, Ky.—Billy Rondeyer knocked out Billy Britton, 2 rounds; Big Tim Charnes and Marian Youngblatter drew, 8 rounds.

At Newark, N. J.—Jay Macedon knocked out Ruby Goldstein, 7 rounds.

At Bluefield, W. Va.—Bob Allison knocked out Bobby La Mar, 4 rounds.

At Kansas City—Maxie Rosenbloom defeated Battling Bozo, 12 rounds; Patsy Thomas defeated Freddie Haverlan, 10 rounds; Larkin Comer won by technical knockout over Lonnie Reeves, 1 round; Harold Murphy knocked out Chick Jarvis, 3 rounds; Sammy Robinson knocked out Bonny Boy McGuire, 2 rounds.

At Trenton, N. J.—Johnny Cook and Billy Smith drew, 8 rounds.

Dartmouth's Luck Given Boost by Rabbits' Feet

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—What may be a reason for Dartmouth's unexpected football surge against Yale became known today. Every member of the starting eleven carried a rabbit's foot into the game, and Capt. Stan Yudickey massaged one on the bench. These lucky tokens were supplied by George Gitsis, one of the Indians' hometown admirers. Yale and Dartmouth played a 33-33 tie.

W. VA. BREAKS WITH MARSHALL

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Commenting on reports from Huntington, W. Va., that petitions were in circulation at Marshall College asking that athletic relations with West Virginia University be broken off, Harry A. Stansbury, director of athletics at the university, said:

"I informed Director Roy Hawley by letter two weeks ago that under a new order in effect governing athletic relations, we would engage in no contests with any institution not employing the first year rule where the student body was over 500 persons.

"I do not consider that we have any relations with Marshall College at this time.

"To remain on our schedule all institutions with an enrollment of over 500 must abide by the first year rule."

Stansbury added that he "has no retraction to make" concerning any statement he made in connection with the proposed post-season charity football game between the university and Marshall.

STUDENTS AROUSED

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Petitions requesting the student council at Marshall College to recommend cutting off of all athletic relations with West Virginia University, were circulated on the Marshall College campus yesterday by individual groups of students. The schools now meet in baseball and basketball, but not in football contests.

The petitions referred generally to statements made by Harry A. Stansbury, director of athletics at West Virginia University in opposing a proposed post-season charity football game between the university and Marshall, and proposed that athletic relations should be severed, but resumed if a retraction was made by Stansbury.

Buckley Signs German Heavy

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—The importation of Adolph Heuser, light-heavyweight champion of Germany, has been announced by Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, Ernie Schaaf and many others of lesser ability.

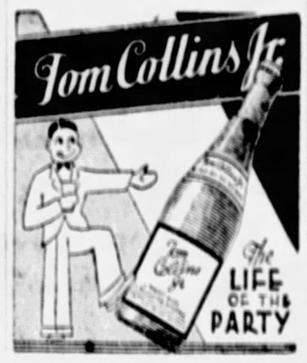
Buckley said he had signed the German, who arrived in this country Friday, to a five-year contract, and had arranged to have him start his American campaign soon in a Boston ring.

PENN STATE DRILLS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—A long drill on fundamentals and rubbing signals was substituted for scrimmage yesterday when Penn State's grid team took the practice field. Capt. Lowell Dietzel, Fitz game, Saturday, was back at his post, but two new men were placed in the backfield, Snyder went in at quarterback and Wilt replaced Monroyes at half.

GOLDSTEIN STOPPED

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Jay Macedon, Newark welterweight, knocked out Ruby Goldstein, of New York, once a leading contender for the lightweight championship, in the seventh round here last night.



ROONEYS PLAY WEST VIEW SUNDAY

By TOM BIRKS

Fans following the West Penn Independent Football Conference should see one of the best games of the season tomorrow night at Parnassus High School field when East Liverpool and Dan Burns clash at 8:15 o'clock.

The defeat of the McKeesport Olympics, and the surprising victory of the East Liverpool pottery aggregation has given the fans something over which to ponder.

The lines developed by Art Rooney and Bull Boyer should outshine anything either backfield can do, for, in the games at Bridgeville and Olympia Park, neither scored a touchdown through out-and-out ball toting.

The Rooneys have three games to play and the question is, "Who can stop the Big Green machine?" Art Rooney shows a gambling spirit in these games; with a touchdown lead recently he sent in substitutes, appearing confident his team could hold its own.

West View clashes with the Rooneys Sunday at Bridgeville. Muzzio appeared very bitter after Sunday's game and, after a hunt for new material, returned with plenty. Eight new players will be in the lineup at the Speedway.

Manager Purl Daily, at East Liverpool, appears to have made a ten-strike in his new material, and the Potters expect to make it two in a row tomorrow evening at Parnassus. Burns is playing the best football in the conference and upriver fans are betting their favorites, led by Stan Berkman, will take the Rooneys.

The scheduled nocturnal game between Linwood and Tylerdale Firemen last night, at Sanders Field, was canceled due to injuries on the Tylerdale team.

The Sonny Boys meet Allison Park in a Lightweight Conference game tonight at Sanders Field.

Coast Loop Fails To Elect President

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Deadlocked in the election of a president after a heated debate, directors of the Pacific Coast League adjourned temporarily with Harry A. Williams, league head for the last eight years, still in the chair.

It was decided to play the first four weeks of the 1932 season in seven game series, but the schedule maker was instructed to submit a plan whereby later series would be split into four and three-day stands.

VON PORAT TO RETURN

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, has notified his manager, Ed Stevenson, that he will sail from Oslo, Norway, for these shores, November 17, to renew his quest for honors in the division.

MAIN RECOVERY NEED SEEN AS CONFIDENCE

More Optimistic Frame Of Mind Held Important Factor in Trade Pickup

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Numerous scientific economists believe that the depression has reached a stage where the chief need for recovery is confidence. Recently there has been a marked improvement in sentiment.

Yet confidence has not yet been fully restored, and if the diagnosis of the economists is correct rewards will be reaped by those who are willing to assume the risk of holding sound equities and second grade bonds until such time as confidence becomes more universal.

Mr. Rukeyser

In the present state of the credit supply a more optimistic frame of mind could be an important factor, for credit is already outstanding in abundant supply. But it is not being fully utilized. Currency has been hoarded, and bank deposits have been turning over at a subnormal rate. Use of such credit at something like a more normal rate of efficiency would have a price raising effect on commodities and might well generate impulses toward recovery. When and if commodity prices rise the psychology of executives changes. Instead of continuing to hold up they then become disposed to stock normal inventories if not to discount the future somewhat.

LEADERS AROUSED

Leaders everywhere, after prolonged inertia and hibernation, are at length becoming aroused to the need of conscious organization and planning for recovery. A spokesman for the Investment Bankers Association of America, which will hold its annual convention at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the forepart of next week, informs this column that this year's convention will concentrate on an organized effort to find a way out of the depression. There will be a "reunion of the old guard," which includes all former governors of the association who are active in the investment banking business.

It is expected that the veterans, heads of important houses and banks, will be present. The investment bankers of the country should have much to discuss.

Russia Causes Sharp Turn In Wheat Market

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE WHEAT MARKET has taken a sudden turn in favor of the bulls. Russia, one of the major influences in the decline of the past year, has been responsible. If the advance continues, the Federal Farm Board will enjoy the first stroke of good luck in its brief but costly existence.

Last spring Russia added to the demoralization of the wheat market by making large sales to consuming countries on future contracts. Recently it became known that Russia's crop has not come up to expectations and that contracts cannot be carried out with Soviet grown wheat.

While Russia has sold more wheat than it can deliver, there is little surplus available in Europe. Much of the wheat on the Continent is of poor quality so that buyers will be compelled to look to supplies from Canada and the United States during the next two months.

The realization of this situation was responsible for sharp advances in wheat prices in all the world markets Saturday. This upward tendency continued yesterday and resulted in the establishing of new high levels for the present season.

Exports May Be Large

THE SUDDEN CHANGE in conditions will again place North American wheat in demand in world markets. For nearly two years the artificially controlled prices in the United States and Canada acted as a barrier to exports. In recent months, however, the futility of maintaining prices at levels out of line with world markets has become apparent to the Canadian wheat pool and to the Federal Farm Board. Falling prices have been the result.

Wheat consuming countries will be compelled to make up for the shortage in the Russian crop by importing from the United States and Canada. This shortage has been responsible for the most encouraging advances in prices in the two years during which price controlling operations have been under way in this country.

World Position Summarized

THE FACTS CONFRONTING the world wheat market have been tersely summarized by the Wall Street Journal as follows:

"Australia has only 10,424,000 bushels remaining out of a season's exportable surplus of 165,000,000. The Argentine has 48,581,000 bushels remaining out of 180,000,000 for export, but most of this is of low grades and must be mixed with the new crop. Neither of these nations will be able to place sizeable exports on the world markets until 1932. Danubian and Hungarian offerings have virtually dried up.

"On the other hand, importing countries, having previously contracted with Russia to fill a large portion of their needs, need wheat urgently. Greece, for example, will shortly be forced to enter the export market and purchase 18,000,000 bushels because it has found that the Russian grain it has already imported is of too poor quality to use. Germany is understood to be negotiating with the Farm Board for the purchase of at least another 7,500,000 bushels of wheat, with the possibility of importing even larger quantities. France, despite denials of Farm Board sales, must import nearly 50,000,000 bushels more of wheat this crop year. Moreover, owing to the trade pact with Russia and other contracts with Danubian Basin nations, France has previously contracted to take considerable wheat from these sources, which it will now be unable to secure. This will force purchase of North American grades."

Loss Still Large

THE REVERSAL IN CONDITIONS in the wheat market has materially improved the position of the Federal Farm Board but the advance in price must go much farther before the vast experiment at farm relief can be brought down to a reasonable cost. The Farm Board still has large holdings of wheat which cost more than $1 a bushel to which must be added storage costs amounting to nearly one cent a bushel per month.

GRAINS TUMBLE AFTER RALLY

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Grains rose afresh early today after an irregular start with trading on a big scale. Liverpool reported lack of wheat offerings either from Russia or other countries. New advances were in the face of reiterated official denials of assertions that Russia had withdrawn from the world market as an exporter. Opening at ⅜c off to ½ up, wheat rose quickly 1c a bushel. Corn started ⅛-¼c higher and afterward held near the initial limits.

Outdoing once more the season's previous top quotations, wheat soon climbed to 20 cents above where the rise started on October 5. For at least the time being, official denials that Russia would no longer be an exporter counted for little as against advices that the Liverpool market was excited because actually wheat offerings from Russia continued to be suspended and also because North America and Argentina as well had made no new tenders of supplies. A further incentive to speculative buying was widespread notice of reports that a nationally known trader was actively promoting the upward swings of the market.

Extremely heavy selling of wheat, however, developed on the new advances and a violent reaction ensued to about a cent under yesterday's close, off more than 2 cents from today's early top. Accompanying the price setbacks were indications that little or no wheat export business from North America had been put through overnight. Besides late quotations from Liverpool were also less bullish. Corn and oats kept within relatively narrow limits, but fluctuated with wheat.

Provisions rose and fell with grains.

Sheet and Tube Back Dividends Delayed

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Back dividends of $5.25 a share cannot be paid on much of the dissenting common stock of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company until a lien against the dividends, obtained by a committee of dissenters formed in Cleveland, is released, it was announced today by J. C. Argetsinger, general counsel of the company, who said:

"Most of the dissenting shareholders joined a committee organized in Cleveland. This committee claims to have had some expenses, and entered a lien against the dividends."

RESERVE SEEKS WIDER POWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(INS)—The Federal Reserve Board will assume the initiative in the proposed liberalization of the reserve system's rediscount privileges by making definite recommendations to Congress, it was reported on high authority today.

Experts of the Reserve Board are said to have been studying the financial systems of the world for several weeks with a view to providing a more elastic system of national finance to bolster banks and speed industry's recovery.

"AS GOOD AS GOLD"

Picture yourself carrying your travel funds in gold. Of course your gold would be acceptable anywhere, and, locked up in a heavy steel safe, it probably would be safe enough. But such a method of carrying funds would hardly be practicable. The absurdity of the idea serves to emphasize the great convenience of travelers cheques. A book of Mellon Travelers Cheques occupying only a tiny fraction of space can be carried with perfect safety in your pocket or handbag. Yet Mellon Travelers Cheques are "As Good as Gold" in any country. You can use them to pay hotel bills, restaurant checks, railroad, bus and steamship fares, and for any of the hundreds of occasions you may have to use money . . . Mellon Travelers Cheques are issued in convenient denominations from $10 to $200, and cost only 25 cents premium per $100.

Banks Can Win Back Deposits by Advertising

—By B. C. FORBES—

B. C. Forbes

BANKERS, now that they learned to co-operate, should consider the advisability of advertising co-operatively, in the very near future, to win back hoarded money.

Such advertising to be most effective, should not be launched until the National Credit Corporation committee in each section of the country has had opportunity to find out exactly what's what in regard to every doubtful bank.

It would be unfortunate for the bankers of a city to publish joint advertisements urging restoration of complete confidence in banks and the redepositing of all withdrawn funds, only to have an announcement follow that a local institution had closed.

However, while this country, even in prosperous times, is never entirely free of bank failures, all weak institutions should shortly be known and action taken. Therefore, the whole atmosphere will soon be cleared.

CONFIDENCE IS lost quicker than it can be regained. Proper study should be devoted by bankers to taking measures to restore confidence among bank depositors who have withdrawn their funds. The right kind of co-operative advertising, in local newspapers, would appear to be the best way to accomplish the objective.

The speedy return of three-quarters of a billion dollars of bank deposits would not only benefit the banks of the country very materially, but would do much to hasten the revival of trade and industrial activity, and thus raise commodity and security prices nearer normal levels.

This suggestion is commended to state bank superintendents, to clearing house directors, to banking leaders and to prominent patriotic citizens anxious to do something for their communities.

IT WILL INTEREST many to learn that the Chicagoan who has made more money in the grain market than perhaps any other individual now alive is a rampant bull on wheat.

He is confiding to friends that he is confident that the advance already registered, although it may appear substantial to others, strikes him as only the beginning. He is backing up his judgment with his dollars.

HIGH FINANCE believes that France is now in more amenable mood. She is beginning to feel effects of the world-wide depression. She has learned that she can't browbeat the United States. She realizes that the new British Parliament will have a new, keen-edged fighting weapon—tariff.

She has discovered that the more idle gold she piles up in the Bank of France, the lower the institution's shares and profits sink.

So, the hope is rising that at coming conferences France will be more willing to co-operate and less cocky about her ability to coerce.

THE OCTOBER dividend record reflects shrinking earnings and it is doubtful if the final two months will show improvement. My prophecy is that 1931 will for years to come stand out as the worst dividend year. The coming year can hardly fail to do somewhat better, and it is entirely reasonable to assume that substantial enlargement of dividend payments will be witnessed thereafter.

Last month industrial, public utility and railway corporations announced only 41 improved dividend disbursements, whereas there were no fewer than 164 unfavorable announcements.

Insurance Company To Lower Capital

National Fire Insurance Company has called a special meeting of stockholders for December 30 to vote on a proposal, approved by directors, for a reduction in the authorized capital stock from $10,000,000, of which $5,500,000 is outstanding, to $2,750,000, and a change in the par value of the stock from $100 to $50 per share.

Daily Average Oil Production Higher

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 3.—(AP.)—Increases in Oklahoma and East Texas fields overcame slight decreases in other parts of the United States and brought the daily average oil production up 42,244 barrels to 2,422,418 barrels last week, the Oil and Gas Journal says.

THE LOVE TRAP -:- Story of a Girl's Struggle For Love and Happiness -:- By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

CHAPTER XI.

When Mary arrived, Landers was waiting in his apartment; all through the place was the acrid scent of cigar smoke and, vaguely, the Bohemianism of his sport world. He was alone, but the rooms were haunted with the air of quick and ready money changing hands, of swift, venturesome deals consummated by chance and shrewdness. In a small silver frame was a photograph of Man o' War. The great race horse, it was said, had earned Buck Landers more than $100,000 in bets. He had put a stake on the animal in its first race as a colt; his keen mind had immediately discerned the worth of the thoroughbred. The photograph in the silver frame always stirred him with sentimental pleasure because it was a reminder of his own astuteness; admiration between horse and self was equally divided.

He looked at Mary, his eyes haggard and hard; she was more beautiful than he had realized. A fresh loveliness, born of her love for Steve, suffused her face; her blue eyes were deeper, the golden head was held higher with unconscious joyousness that indicated an inner reason of pride. She was less the illusive, indefinite girl; she was more the gracious, understanding woman.

"I'm glad to see you are not completely foolish," Landers said, eyeing her with vexation. "You were wise to come back. Let's get at the bottom of this. You don't want to see Steve get hurt, do you?"

"I'm not going to let him get hurt," she replied steadily.

"Don't kid yourself. You haven't a chance in the world to protect him."

WERE FOLLOWED

His voice held determination and bitterness, but Mary met him with confidence and courage.

"You frighten me a little—but not as much as you did before," she told him frankly. "I'm not the foolish one, Mr. Landers. You are, because you won't listen to reason. As a matter of fact, you would have a lot of trouble in reaching Steve, even if you really were that cruel." She thought of Steve safely hidden away uptown, and there was a gleam of satisfaction in her eyes. "Why, you couldn't find him if you wanted to!"

Contempt curled on Landers' lips. He raised his voice, called to some unexpected person in the other room.

"Come in here, Bat!"

He came into the room, this strange, slit-eyed creature, burly of shoulder and blurred of features. Mary sat motionless and looked at him.

"You can tell the young lady what you saw, and did, Bat," Landers said crisply.

The man avoided Mary's gaze. His voice was thick and without imagination.

"I done just what you told me, Mr. Landers. I kept me eye on 'em here in the hotel and when they blowed out, I was right in a taxicab behind 'em. I followed 'em to this address uptown, and watched 'em go in. He had his grip, with him, and it looked like he was going to park himself in the house right along. So I phoned you, and come back here."

Landers nodded. "I just wanted her to hear all this, Bat. And in case the young man comes out of the house while you're down here—tell her what happens then."

STEVE ENDANGERED

"I didn't leave till a couple of the boys came to take my place. If he comes out they'll trail him, or do anything else you say, boss. If you want us to give him the works—"

Landers held up a hand sharply. "Nix. That's all now, Bat. You can go."

Still without looking at Mary, the man went across the room with a jerky, lop-sided stride. He said nothing more; merely he went out and closed the door behind him. Landers lit a casual cigar.

"That looks like business, doesn't it?" he remarked.

She sat with her fingers stiffened, tensed, held rigid. Her reason had to believe the truth—Steve was actually and immediately in deadly peril. A man like Bat could slug or shoot him to death and escape back into the rat-hole of the underworld. Her hands, her heart, her feet, were ice. It couldn't be true—yet it was.

"Some day you'll believe that when I tell you a thing, I mean it," Landers told her levelly. "I had Bat wait up here so you could hear with your own ears just how things stood. If you care as much for Steve right now as you think you do, you'd probably pay attention to what I'm telling you."

"You wouldn't dare do a thing like that!" she said in a voice of horror.

"I'm willing to fight treachery with treachery, and better able to do it than most men," came his words steadily, like drops of acid. "It happens that I've made up my mind not to let you two make a rummy of me. You both double-crossed me, you know."

"But we can't stop loving each other!" she cried wildly. "Just what is it you want us to do?"

BUCK IS DETERMINED

"I want you to forget all about Steve—and I want him to get out of this town," Landers returned firmly. "You're pledged to marry me—in front of my friends, too—and you're going to do it. Do you think I got my reputation by setting my mind and heart on something and then being cheated out of it? No, Mary—you're going to be my wife, whether you like it or not. The funny part is you'll be better off and happier with me than you'd be with Steve. You're just fascinated with him now—that's all."

She was nearly sobbing. "But can't you understand—we love each other . . ."

He stiffened, as with jealousy. "You don't seem to regard it so highly important that I love you myself. Why, he can't even support you—it would be years before he could provide you even a half-way living. And where would you be with him when this fascination wears off? You'd have a bunch of squalling kids hanging to you, and you'd be eating macaroni for supper. Yes, and chances are Steve would be playing with other women—the girls like him, you know."

"But I don't love you," she argued desperately. "And you do not love me, either. If you did you couldn't say such terrible things, and threaten Steve's life."

A fury began to rise in his expression, but, with an effort, he held it in check. His lips were perfectly bloodless.

"You have become necessary to my happiness," he said sharply. "I've placed my bet on you, and you got to come through. If there is anybody standing between us I'll remove that person. That statement is not quite as wild as it sounds. I've been hoping to appeal to your intelligence, to show you that you are far better off with me than you could be with him. Think of your future—you'll live and dress like a queen—you'll be the center of everybody's admiration. You'll enjoy being done forever with all shabby poverty. All you have to do is marry the man you're engaged to, and, by God, you will!"

BECOMES INFURIATED

He sprang to his feet, a stone pallor on his harsh face. His eyes were as fierce as an eagle's. In fright, Mary rose and he gripped her shoulder with his hands—they were like hooks . . .

Mary wrenched herself free from the grasp of Buck Landers. She was not afraid now—a tide of bitterness came out in a short laugh.

"Don't you know, even if you killed Steve a thousand times over—you could never have me?" she demanded. "The more you storm and threaten, the further I am away from you. I'd rather work as a scrub woman than be your wife. Is that plain enough?"

His face was contorted with rage and humiliation. It was a face of evil, the expression of a mind grooved with self-will and twisted thinking. Suddenly he burst out:

"I don't give a damn whether you love me or not—I'm going to win this game! Don't kid yourself that I won't go the limit, and in the end you'll be in my arms—and you'll like it!"

The thin edge of fear began to cut into her heart. "If anything happens to Steve, I'll go straight to the police and tell them all about you," she said, but her words seemed weak and futile. "I——"

"A fat chance you'd have with the coppers!" he jeered. "But I'm not going to waste any more time talking to you now. Go on back to your sweetie. And wait. That's all you got to do, just wait."

She walked out of the room. In the elevator her face was set and white. Further delays would be dangerous—she had to get Steve away from New York immediately. Buck Landers had worked himself into a state of mental hydrophobia—he was as dangerous as a mad dog.

It did not seem possible, in the taxicab going uptown, that the night was still young. She had been through so much—a lifetime of joy and fear and suspense—and it was not yet midnight. The city, swarming with electric lights, was a bedlam of confusion in her sight. It was a distorted vision viewed in a trance.

HOUSE IS WATCHED

Across the street from her rooming house, a closed car was parked. Its sinister bulk sheltered two dim figures; she could see their cigarets glowing inside, like imprisoned fire flies. Thugs in the pay of Landers . . . watching . . .

She hurried into the house and crept upstairs as quietly as possible to Steve's door. Her hand fell on the knob and she turned it and pushed; carelessly he had not turned the key. In pajamas and bathrobe he sat by an open window smoking cigarets, concentrating mentally on his situation, for sleep seemed an impossibility. In the dusky-dark of the room his face was oddly pale.

"You've been out—you didn't go to bed when you left me!" he whispered in surprise.

This was no time for concealment. With her heart pounding she told him of her trip to see Landers, voiced her aching distress at the other man's deadly vindictiveness.

"Oh, you poor kid!" he murmured, his heart in his voice. "I can't let him abuse you like this any longer. And I can't let him drive me out of town—I simply can't let him do that, Mary. There is a way to fight back at him, but I haven't thought it out yet. I'm not used to this sort of thing, but I'll find the answer."

MARY COMFORTED

She clung to him, trembling a little, but warmed in her heart by his staunchness.

"But what can we do, Steve?"

"There's only one answer—the right answer, Mary. I'm squeezing my brain to find it—just the same way I used to squeeze my brain to get a passing grade in my math examinations. You face a problem that looks impossible of a solution and you stick to it—presently, bingo, you got it. We'll find a way to check Mr. Landers."

He patted her on the back, and she could see the faint print of an encouraging smile on his lips—her heart filled with admiration for him.

"I think," he said suddenly, "that it's a mistake for me to hang around on the defensive. Why, yes—it's beginning to get clear to me now, Mary. I let Landers take the play away from me. I sort of slunk off like a dog with its tail between its legs. I think I'll—" He stopped short; lifted her face between his hands and kissed her.

"Steve, dear, you won't do anything foolish—"

"I'm afraid you'll have to leave it to me, Mary, and not ask a lot of questions. I've got an idea in the old bean," he told her. "Now you run along to bed. I'll see you tomorrow. Will you be a good girl—sleep tight? Promise—"

When he talked like that to her, love expanded almost into worship.

"I'll do anything you say—now and forever," she whispered, as their lips pressed together in a final kiss.

TO FACE LANDERS

The threats of violence that Landers had made filled him with anger, rather than fear. It was strange, too, that Buck should have disclosed such a vicious nature. Heretofore his treatment of Steve had been generous, almost fatherly. The truth must be, he reflected, that Landers had a dual personality—a sleeping devil within the man had been aroused by jealousy and thwarted desires.

There was only one thing to do—face him out. Things like this—matters of right and wrong—couldn't be settled with guns and thugs. In the end, the stronger man would win, the one with the fewest weaknesses and the steadiest morale.

When he was dressed, before he started down stairs, Steve paused at the head of the flight and drew a deep breath, charging himself for conflict.

His first gesture was one of arrogant daring. Mary had told him of the parked car outside with its lurking watchers. He walked straight across the street to the machine. One of the men was at the wheel and the other sat in the back seat.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS

"I'm going to make the job for you fellows a little easier," he said to the driver. "You know who I am and I know who you are. You're watching that house for Buck Landers. That's right, isn't it?"

The driver looked at him with a queer expression of amazement. "That's right, buddy."

"Sure that's right," echoed his companion, from the back seat. "What about it?"

"Only this—if your job is to keep track of me, you can do it a lot better if I'm with you. I'm on my way downtown to call on Buck Landers, and it strikes me it's a good idea for you fellows to drive me down to him. That ought to put you both in right with him—bringing me up to the front door so to speak. How about it?"

Both men laughed. "That's great!" chuckled one.

"Ain't he the time saver, Maxie?" the other snickered.

"As a matter of fact," said the first one with a leer, "you're making it fine and dandy for us. It just couldn't be sweeter. He comes right out and gets in the car with us! Just a nice sociable boy. Am I right?"

"All three of us are all right," came from the back seat. "Just step right in here with me, buddy. Right here on the back seat alongside your old pal."

Their jeers brought a moment of uneasiness to Steve, but he dismissed it. After all, they were but the hirelings. He stepped into the back seat and, as he did, a crashing blow from a round heavy object descended upon his gray felt hat. Sickening blackness welled up through his brain, and he was swallowed into an insensate chasm of oblivion.

"A nice boy," said Maxie. "No trouble at all—he comes asking for it. And only fifteen minutes ago Landers asked us to deliver him. That's service, ain't it?"

"You can tell the young lady what you saw and did, Bat," Landers said crisply.

"All you have to do is marry the man you're engaged to, and you will!" he said.

What Has Gone Before

Mary Kennedy, pretty secretary, engaged to Buck Landers, wealthy, middle-aged sports promoter, realizes love is greater than riches when she meets young and handsome Steve Moore, Landers' ward. Buck surprises Steve and Mary as they confess their love for one another. When Steve refuses to give up Mary, Landers threatens him. Landers warns Mary Steve's fate depends upon her. He insists that she visit him to talk things over. Fearing for Steve's safety, Mary has him move to her boarding house. Then she goes to keep her appointment with Landers.

Be Sure to Vote Today

The Polls Will Be Open Until 7 O'Clock This Evening.

Do not fail to vote today.

Many important matters directly affecting your welfare depend on the outcome of the election.

The candidates chosen will determine the amount of taxes you will pay and will have charge of the spending of the money thus raised. Hence it behooves you to vote for those who in your judgment will be most considerate of your necessities and most businesslike and honest in the administration of the public's affairs.

Another important issue—really the most important of all—is the question of clean elections. Vote for the men who you think will be most likely to protect the citizens from the fraud and intimidation that have been so much in evidence under the rule of the corrupt political machines.

Bear in mind that while three county commissioners are to be elected, you are permitted to vote for only two, and that if you vote for three your vote will not be counted.

If you think the best men are not all on the same ticket, do not hesitate to split your ticket.

The polls will be open until 7 o'clock this evening.

How to Start a Boom

Generous But Judicious Spending Will Help to Bring Good Times.

John Maynard Keynes, noted British economist, denies in the book "Unemployment as a World Problem," published today by the University of Chicago Press, that the best thing to do with savings is to put them in the bank.

There are times, he says, when money put in the bank lies idle, and therefore does not help industry. Mr. Keynes adds:

"A slump is generated when saving exceeds investment, and a boom is generated when investment exceeds saving."

There is a suggestion in this as to how good times may be restored. They cannot be restored by hoarding of money. There must be spending—generous, albeit judicious, spending.

For investment is spending—spending on projects that will bring a return, though not necessarily on stocks and bonds.

The Welfare and Emergency Fund campaign and the approaching Christmas holidays offer Pittsburghers an opportunity to spend generously and judiciously, an opportunity to invest money in commodities and services that will promote commerce and industry and bring rich return in goodwill and the satisfaction that comes from kind deeds, as well as in a more material way.

The Welfare drive officially begins next week, and, including today and excluding Thanksgiving, there are but 44 shopping days before Christmas. Let Pittsburghers adhere to the American standard of giving, and before the New Year comes there will be a cheerful feeling in the air. And, who knows, but that a boom will be under way?

Improve Butler Road

It Is Important for Pittsburgh, As Well As for Butler, That There Should Be a Good Highway.

The Perry Highway, straight and wide, has diverted traffic from Butler.

The old Butler Plank Road is too narrow in many places, and twists, rises and falls to an extent not relished by motorists.

The abandonment of the street car line between Butler and Pittsburgh has aggravated the situation.

It is disagreeable to Butler not to have better communication with Pittsburgh. And it is as important to Pittsburgh as to Butler that there should be a good highway connecting the two cities. In Buder and its suburbs are 50,000 people, potential customers for Pittsburgh shops, theaters and industries.

Improvement can be effected by straightening and widening the stretch between Wildwood and Bakerstown.

Pittsburgh's business men and civic associations should co-operate with those of Butler County in urging the State to do this work.

Hunting Season Opens

An Army of Pennsylvanians Are Getting Wholesome Recreation in the Woods and Fields.

The woods and fields of Pennsylvania are rarely more attractive than they are now, and the air has a tang that makes it a delight to trudge for miles over the countryside with dog and gun.

Thirty-five thousand residents of Allegheny County have taken out hunting licenses, and most of them, it is presumed, were in the field yesterday when the season opened.

They are getting wholesome recreation.

The more tangible reward that they receive for their activities, in the form of the game bagged, is not to be disdained, either. The rabbits shot by unemployed men, no doubt, will be a substantial addition to the larder of many poor families. It is a fortunate thing that Pennsylvania should be so well supplied with game.

Within a few hours after the season opened a number of shooting accidents had been reported. Take care!

Air Travel Rate Cut

Aviation at Last Is Outside of the Luxury Classification.

Air travel is at last within the means of all who travel.

Reductions in the rates between Pittsburgh and Cleveland, Washington and Akron are announced.

The fare for an air trip to these cities is now down to approximately the level of the railroad rate plus the cost of Pullman accommodations.

This means that aviation is at last out of the luxury classification and is prepared to compete with the railroads.

Of course, the railroads still have the better of it because many persons are still afraid to fly.

On the other hand the airplanes have the advantage of superior speed.

It is now possible to foresee a time when airplane travel will cost less than a railroad ride.

SUN-TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

1—A better, cleaner, more beautiful city.
2—Rapid Transit
3—Repeal or modification of "blue law."
4—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
5—Town Hall, seating at least 15,000
6—Voting machines to insure honest elections.
7—Development of river transportation.
8—Development of air transportation.
9—Electrification of railroads.

William Tell Up To Date -:- By Nelson Harding

STABLE U.S. DOLLAR
I'LL JUST HIT YOUR DOLLAR, SAM, NOT YOUR HEART. I WANT TO APPEAL TO THAT, LATER.
ATTACK ON DOLLAR EUROPE
THE SPOT
Nelson Harding

This William Tell about to shoot
At Uncle Sam's gold dollar
Is aiming just above his head
And not below his collar.

To hit the dollar, not the heart,
Of Uncle Sam he's trying;
So he'll still have Sam's sympathy
When next he bursts out crying!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The theatrical district is suddenly overrun with an army of celebrity seekers and autograph hunters who descend like a plague of locusts around stage doors and movie theaters featuring "personal appearances." The circle has taken on the enthusiasm of a guild.

It is composed of the same faces and moves from theater to theater. There are boys and girls, middle aged men and women and a sprinkling of the aged. Most of them carry albums, but there are a number who just stand dumbly to gawk.

Members appear at 5 p. m. to group at the matinee exits and 10 o'clock for the evening performances. There is a sort of social aristocracy among them, expressed in first row places for the elect. They know one another by names and otherwise express a camaraderie.

Producers believe the usual group of curious collecting at stage doors has been augmented to such unusual proportions as the result of the unemployment situation coupled with the slim rewards gained by the sale of books filled with autographs.

The most conspicuous posts at the moment are the stage doors of the Ziegfeld and Earl Carroll theaters. Police are there daily to keep them in line and prevent traffic congestion. Opening nights are especial targets for the signature snatchers.

Many bring sandwiches and a few elderly camp stools. I watched them at a theater on Sixth avenue last evening. They suggest a silent and drooping band of marchers bivouacking on a roadway. There is not the light persiflage of the usual street crowd.

But when an audience begins to step to the street, they galvanize into action. Their faces light up and they extend pencils and albums. If a celebrity signs his name, the rest of the hunters mill about beseeching the same recognition. And often booing if denied it.

I am ever curious about influences leading people to become certain types of performers—such as hand balancers, adagio dancers or leap-for-life marvels. As a general thing those in such hazardous callings come from show stock. Their parents were gymnasts. But recently I met a rough and tumble acrobat whose career was inspired differently. A weakling, he went to a gymnasium to build up his body. He was at the time finishing a high school education preparatory to reading law. As he grew robust, he began to test his body in falls and twists, toughening it all the while. In the end his health became so improved he decided to be a healthy second-rate acrobat rather than a high-grade sickly lawyer.

Ralph Barton, two years before his tragic and dramatic finish, told me he had gone four days and nights without a wink of sleep. And felt no great discomfort save a burning sensation around the eyeballs. Just before he finally fell asleep he turned out what he considered his very best caricature and then slept 12 hours at his drawing board.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

After Youth—What?

"The best 10 years of a woman's life," according to Walter Winchell, "are between 29 and 30."

And the worst 10 years of her life are between 39 and 40.

The Foolish Forties were a lot easier to face when a woman could settle down and be her AGE, and enjoy youth's afterglow. But now she has to decide whether to climb onto the band-wagon with the "live ones," or to sit back in the grandstand and watch the parade go by.

Just as she might be relaxing comfortably into the feather-bed existence of placid middle-age, she has to face the tormenting question of whether to "join the flappers and see the world"—or to stick to her own generation and keep the home biscuits burning.

Whether to go with her daughter to the "gym" and run the chance of misplacing her vertebrae and straining her heart with swimming and handball—or to sit on the sidelines with the rocking chair brigade and run the risk of MISSING something.

* * *

Whether to wear shorts and "novelty" bathing suits and show the world that she still has a figure—or to slip quietly into modest black taffeta and glide unobtrusively into the water when nobody is looking.

Whether to keep up with her husband's stenographer, and flash in and out of the office in all her war-paint and her briefest creations, just to show them that she's still on the job and NOT on the shelf. Or to close her eyes comfortably and "let John have his little fling," while she devotes herself to the children, cards, clubs or the classics.

Whether to dance around with a boy half her age and run the risk of making a fool of herself—or to sit home and hang onto her dignity, while she wonders if her husband is out sowing his last handful of wild oats.

Whether to learn the new steps, try to smoke a cigaret with nonchalance, submit to the new impertinences of a "fresh" generation and be called a "good old sport." Or to heed the doctors, listen to her pre-war conscience, and go to bed at a sensible hour, while OTHER women make wrecks of themselves!

Ah yes, the thrilling thirties may be the Golden Age—but the Flaming Forties are the Dark Age of Woman!

LISTEN, WORLD

-:- By Elsie Robinson

If a miracle could happen, and I could have any talent I wished, I'd ask to be made gay. For I've come to think that gaiety is perhaps the wisest and finest and most useful habit that a human being can possess.

I have never been gay. And that isn't simply because I have had a hard life. Often those with the very hardest lives are the gayest. Ther was Stevenson, dying of tuberculosis, cut off from that lovely, laughing world which he held so dear . . . yet, propped on pillows, writing gay nursery jingles, gorgeous pirate tales . . . writing even jolly friendly prayers to God.

Brave—so brave! But more than that. He had the knack of seeing life with wisely merry eyes, of touching its problems with a light and buoyant heart. He had the talent of gaiety. I wish I might have had it. But I've taken life very seriously. Worse yet—I've prided myself on taking it seriously and have been actually snooty to gay people, simply because they refused to drag their ears when I was dragging mine! But what a silly thing to pride oneself upon! As if the serious things in life weren't hard enough to bear, without our being serious while bearing them!

What good have I ever done by being serious?

Not a particle, as far as I can see.

The troubled people I have wanted to help . . . they already knew they were in trouble . . . they didn't need my long face to inform them of the fact. And they were standing enough already without my adding my Suffering Soul to the general gloom. What they needed was something light and lively . . . somebody sassy enough to thumb her nose at Fate and dare the old meanie to do her darndest. Gaiety—that was what they needed, to put fire again in their chilly blood and spunk in their hurt hearts.

ONE GOOD SNICKER, TO ANY TROUBLED PERSON, IS WORTH A TON OF NOBLE THINKING.

Wonder where we got the notion that it was a virtue to go around thinking and acting like a mustard poultice? From those old blights, the Puritans, I suppose . . . who fitted men for heaven by making a hell of life. Yet all the while, the very earth they trod upon, gave them the ha-ha!

God could have made that earth all gray and drab and soggy with Serious Purpose. But He didn't. He supplied plenty of Serious Purpose, to be sure, but He masked it in a carnival of color and light and song.

Swell way to get a big job done! I wish I could have done my job that way. How much happier I could have made my home when we were poor. How much sweeter I could have made life for my gallant, suffering lad. IF I HAD ONLY LAUGHED A LITTLE MORE . . . JUST KIDDED LIFE . . .

Strange, how seldom mothers think of the duty of laughter. They'll tackle every other duty . . . suffer agonies . . . make the most heroic sacrifices . . . yet forget the greatest duty of all—FORGET TO LAUGH. Yet there's nothing on earth that a home needs as much as a laugh.

If I could do it all over again—I'd swap all the much advertised virtues of courage and patience and resignation and unselfishness for THE TALENT OF GAIETY. Yes, bigolly, I'd even swap the prayers. And I bet, at that, I'd get better results with my snickers than with a million sermons—

For you can't tell me that God hasn't more use for a gallant giggle than for a prim prayer . . . else why did He make the bobolinks and butterflies?

Text for Today Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.—Isaiah, lv:7.

Relief Must Begin At Home

By Claude G. Bowers

The report and recommendations of the President's Unemployment Relief Committee is not encouraging or intelligently constructive, as we think, in solving the problem of the six to seven million breadwinners out of work. It is commonly observed that one of the reasons that men with jobs are not spending normally is that they are in the shadow of a great fear that their jobs or present wages are insecure. The proposal of the President's committee that men now having jobs shall be given only part-time work to make way for others who are on the streets can only intensify that fear and persuade them all the more to economize in their expenditures against the possible day when their earnings will be cut in two. The fact that this plan for depriving men in jobs of half their time and half their wages comes from the committee of the President of the United States will seem to them all the more alarming.

This plan does not contemplate the addition of one cent in wages to the workers of America; and, therefore, does not increase the purchasing power of the people by one penny. Thus it promises nothing for the merchants.

The threat implied of reducing the earnings of men now having jobs by half is certain to give them a sense of insecurity and to cause them to curtail their expenditures as much as possible.

Industry Must Find a Way

The other plan to transfer the jobless from the breadlines of the cities to the farms to work for bed and board is unworkable, and, in principle, unthinkable. Who are the people on whom the President's committee would billet these workers, dispossessed of jobs? They are the farmers who are bankrupt! Organized society, acting through government, has ruined the farmers by special privilege legislation operating against them; and now it is proposed that the jobless workers, reduced to beggary by the stupid, uneconomic and selfish policies of government, shall be cared for—by their fellow-victims.

The Administration has said that the trouble with the former is over-production; that he should produce less that he may get more; and now it is proposed that he shall increase his production by increasing the man power on his farm.

It certainly is not suggested that the farmers take over the housing and feeding of the industrial workers out of jobs as a matter of charity. There are enough agricultural laborers out of jobs without shoving the industrial workers on the farmer. If we are not to come ultimately to a dole, industry must find a way, through unemployment insurance, to take care of the unemployed industrial workers; or government will have to do it.

President Can Cut The Red Tape

The President's committee complains that much public work has been authorized and appropriations made to meet it, but that red tape and legalities are holding it up. The cutting of the red tape can be done by the President, and if it is not cut, his is the responsibility. If Congressional action is required, that is another reason the President should have called Congress in extra session to the end that all this work appropriated for could be under way now that winter has come. But for the petty partisan opposition of this and the preceding administration to the Wagner planning bill, held up by administration opposition for more than two years, we would be past the red tape now.

But all the work authorized now by the federal government is absurdly insufficient. If the administration thinks it reasonable to take over billions of dollars in the debts of other nations, it should find nothing unreasonable in using a few billions of American money on public works to furnish work and wages for Americans.

The Hoover-Laval Conversations

But the multiplying evidence leaves no further doubt as to the plans made in the Hoover-Laval conversations. The statement issued on just what was planned and done was not entirely frank. On top of the article by Mr. Lamont, we now have stories, inspired by the administration circles, which tell the tale. We are informed that the administration will not take the "initiative" in the matter of the scaling down or cancellation of the foreign debts; that if other nations make the proposition the President will pass it on to Congress.

This probably means that Germany will ask relief or reparations; that the nations to which she pays will reply that they cannot act without relief on the debts from the United States; and then these nations will take the "initiative" in proposing that we take over the burden of all the world.

In preparation for this move, we have inspired stories from Washington to show that it will not cost the people of this country so much. And the answer is that if it is not unreasonable or burdensome for us to assume the debts of 14 nations, now can it be impossible for the 14 nations to pay their debts to us over a period of 60 years?

A New Columbus Needed in Washington

And, in view of the conditions in France and the United States, how astonishing! We have an admiration for the French; they look after themselves. We salute the statesmanship of Laval and France; it serves France.

But France has few unemployed; we six to seven million.

But French agriculture is prosperous; ours is prostrate.

But France's budget has been balanced; we are running at the rate of a billion and more behind.

But France is contemplating no heavier taxes on her people; we are planning heavier taxes for our own.

Therefore we can afford to take over a portion, or all the debt of France and 13 other nations, and put it on the backs of our own people! Weird and strange. We need a new Columbus in Washington to rediscover America.

How We Can Serve Both Europe and America

But we can serve both Europe and America by admitting the amazing stupidity of the administration in forcing the Grundy tariff act through Congress under the presidential whip. It has wrought ruin to foreign trade and injured every nation, our own not least. Just as we started the tariff wars that are destructive, we can start the march back to economic sanity and sense.

But that means vindicating the Democratic party which opposed the Grundy scheme for the liquidation of campaign contributions obligations; and it means the repudiation of the administration on the tariff.

So Long as Children Are Hungry—

Meanwhile, within the last few days, we are hearing much about a great upward trend in business; but we are not hearing, as a result, that there are less than from six to seven million breadwinners still unable to earn their daily bread. There can be no humane and decent jubilation until these millions and their dependents are back at work and on a purchasing basis. The present need just now is—bread for the hungry, shelter for the evicted, something for the women and children insufficiently clad. There must be no concerted ballyhoo about prosperity that will divert people's call for funds to meet the distress this nation has ever known.

So long as children are hungry it is mockery to mention prosperity.

ISN'T IT SO?

Many a sheik motorist has put the girls back on their feet.

After a girl gets into a bathing suit she's mostly out of it.

The hungry man gets little nourishment from swallowing his pride.

The tiresome man just bores his way through life.

It's their crooked ways that enable some men to make ends meet.

Every woman longs for romance, but often has to be satisfied with a husband.
